Death Is Tenor of Letters and Telephone Calls to Ruef's Counsel.

Change of Venue Asked on the Ground That Lives Are in Danger.

Public Mind So Influenced, Say Affidavits, That Fair Trial Is Impossible.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—With Judge Lawlor's courtroom thronged by policemen, special detectives, deputy sheriffs and other peace officers, while the streets about the building were guarded by mounted police and many patrolmen, the trial of Abraham Ruef was resumed today after its interruption on Friday, when Heney was shot down in the courtroom by Morris Haas.

As was expected, the defense asked the court immediately for a change of venue, declaring that Ruef could not obtain the fair and impartial trial which was his right under the law in this city, and supporting the declaration with affidavits signed by Ruef and his attorneys, to which were attached clippings from the newspapers describing the mass meetings and other gatherings, and utterances that followed the attack upon Heney.

FAIR TRIAL IMPOSSIBLE.

These, the defense alleged, were sufficient evidence of the public feeling that would prevent the impartial trial of the defendant.

When the defense had completed its statement, the prosecution asked for a continuance, in order that it might have time to prepare counter affidavits. This Judge Lawlor granted, ordering court to reconvene at 10 o'clock today.

As the hour for the opening of court approached, squads of police began to arrive at the hall and the mounted officers appeared on the streets. Every passer-by was subjected to the closest scrutiny and no one was allowed to enter the courtroom without proving his right to do so.

Beyond the line maintained by the officers a jam of curious people packed the street so closely that when the prison van in which Ruef was driven to the court from the County Jail arrived, the police escort was forced to part the crowd to make way for the wagon.

OFFICERS EVERYWHERE.

Everywhere throughout the courtroom were officers armed and ready for any emergency.

Behind the tables of counsel and directly in front of the press tables sat four detectives with their backs to the court and jury, their eyes constantly watching every movement in the courtroom while on the sides were half a dozen of Burns's men, Capt. Henry Gleeson and Lieut. Wright were personally in command of the police in and around the building.

Abraham Ruef was the first of those directly interested in the trial to arrive. With five policemen and five deputy sheriffs riding inside with him and escorted by five mounted policemen Ruef reached the court from the County Jail at Ingleside at 9:30.

RUEF IS PALE.

Ruef's pallor was marked and although he was calm and composed in his manner the effects of the events of the past few days were plainly visible on his face. Not the slightest demonstration marked his arrival. A few minutes later Asst. Dist.-Atty. Joan O'Gara, who has been Heney's assistant in Ruef's trial, came in and took the place where Heney sat when he was shot Friday.

Joseph J. Dwyer, one of three attorneys who have volunteered to take up the prosecution of Ruef where it was so tragically halted, was the next to enter the courtroom and was followed by Matthew I. Sullivan and Hiram Johnson, the other two lawyers who will assist the District Attorney's office.

Up to 9:30 o'clock not more than 100 people had been admitted to the courtroom, but fifteen minutes later all the seats were filled. No one was allowed to stand up. The moment some one of the standing person and order him to sit down.

NEW FACES PRESENT.

Very few of the old familiar faces of the persons who have followed the Ruef trial and other bribery graft cases, and were in attendance daily, were to be seen in the courtroom. The spectators were of a different class and character.

There were some prominent business men, numerous ministers of the gospel from various churches, many members of the organization known as the Citizens' League of Justice and a few women.

The balconies above the main floor on both sides of the hall were empty, no one being admitted upstairs.

At 9:50 o'clock the Bailiff rapped for order and Judge Lawlor mounted the bench. Promptly at 10 o'clock Henry Ach and Thomas B. Dozier, Ruef's counsel, entered the courtroom, each one accompanied by a plain clothes man, and took their customary seats. Three minutes later the jury came in through their private entrance in the rear of the building.

AFFIDAVIT PRESENTED.

After disposing of several cases on his calendar, Judge Lawlor called Ruef's case. Asst. Dist. Atty. O'Gara announced that Messrs. Sullivan, Johnson and Dwyer would assist the prose-

LIVES ARE IN DANGER.

Mail and Telephone Bring Threats to Ruef's Lawyers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Attorneys Ach and Dozier, counsel for Ruef, filed affidavits today declaring that they had received threats of death by mail and telephone because of their connection with the case.

The anonymous letter writers, not content with the threats against the lives of those actively concerned in the defense of Ruef, include also the members of the attorneys' families in their threats.

Ruef made affidavit that his life was in danger on the way to and from the courtroom, and that his lawyers, because of the danger that surrounds them, cannot give his case their best services.

Judge Lawlor gave the prosecution until tomorrow to file affidavits in the endeavor to prove that the defendant can have a fair trial in San Francisco.

HOPES FULFILLED.

CHAULNES SON BORN.

Widowed Duchess Is a Mother.

Birth of Male Means Ducal Title and Estate Will Not Pass Over.

All Immediate Members of Shonts Family Present to Greet Stork.

Paris, for Reasons of Sentiment, Will Be Baby's Permanent Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Duchess de Chaulnes, formerly Miss Theodora Shonts, is the mother of a strong, healthy boy, born to her in Paris, Sunday night.

News of the arrival of a posthumous heir was received with great rejoicing in a private cable to Mrs. S. E. Drake of this city, who is an aunt of the Duchess.

Particularly gratifying was the brief announcement that the young mother was doing well and that the prompt recovery of her strength seemed assured.

The Duchess is attended by all the members of her immediate family, her father, mother and sister being with her. Mrs. Shonts has been the constant companion of her daughter since the sudden death of the Duke de Chaulnes last April, while they were still in the flush of their honeymoon.

Mr. Shonts and Miss Marguerite Shonts steamed for Paris a month ago. They have been staying with the Duchess in her beautiful apart-of the Duke, were being put in order for the home of the couple. The furnishings were completed after the manner that had been planned originally and it is supposed that the Duchess, for sentimental reasons, will choose to live in Paris and rear her son there. Her hopes had been centered on the birth of a son rather than a daughter. The family rejoicing is the more cordial on that account.

The birth of a male heir to the Duchess de Chaulnes means that the ducal title and the estate of the Chaulnes family will descend to that son. Had the child been a daughter, the title and estates would have gone to the family of Duc De Luyens.

RETAINS HIGH POSITION.

DUCHESS AS A MOTHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The news that the Duchess de Chaulnes, who was Miss Theodora Shonts of New York, gave birth to a son, a posthumous child, in Paris today, came to the Duchess's friends here in a cablegram from her father, Theodore Shonts, president of the Interboro Metropolitan Railroad Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Shonts have been abroad some weeks; her mother naturally wished to be with the Duchess when the happy event occurred.

The posthumous boy is heir to his father's ancient title. He inherits the Chateau Dampierre, and, in the natural course, will inherit the fortune his mother will receive from her parents.

The Duchess is the mother of a duke, and so is as closely related as before to half the aristocratic families in France. Had the baby been a girl, the De Chaulnes title would have passed to the family of the Duke de Luynes. Being a proud and beautiful American, the Duchess desired to retain her position in the society of the Faubourg St. Germain; to move there as she desires, equal among equals. Besides giving her the unspeakable happiness of motherhood, the boy who blesses her preserves her social position.

After an ardent courtship, during which he overcome her father's first objections to the match, the Duke of Chaulnes and Miss Shonts were married at her father's house, No. 123 East Thirty-fifth street. The young couple went abroad. In Paris, they resided at the Hotel Langham. There the Duke died suddenly, April 23, not six weeks after the wedding.

Returning from a visit to his grief-stricken daughter, Mr. Shonts described his son-in-law's death thus:

"The Duke died on his knees, at prayer. They always said their prayers together. The Duke was kneeling with one arm around my daughter's shoulders. Of a sudden he fell, slipped to the floor. The Duke was a big man. My daughter is a slight girl, but, screaming for help, she raised him to the bed. As she lifted him a gurgling noise sounded in his throat—the Duke was dead. The cause of his sudden death was rupture of the heart. The walls of his heart were very thin."

IN FEAR OF REVOLUTION.

FOREIGN LEGATIONS ARE UNDER GUARD.

New Regent of China Takes Precautions to Prevent Uprisings of Revolutionists Who May Make Deaths of Rulers Pretext for Violence.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PEKING, Nov. 16.—China is beginning to realize that the Emperor and the Dowager Empress are dead.

Prince Chun, regent of the empire, in fear of the increasing excitement and revolutionary movements, has taken a firm grip on affairs and has adopted stringent measures that will result in the maintenance of peace for a time at least.

At noon 6000 gendarmes guarded the streets and other military forces were held in readiness for any eventuality. Every precaution was taken to prevent a recurrence of the revolutionary tactics of last April and May, which were marked by widespread incendiarism. The foreign legations are under guard, special detachments of Chinese troops keeping watch at the approaches.

The statement was made at the legations that there was no fear that the Chinese government would be unable to afford ample protection, but those within the legations were more alert than usual and seemingly anxious to have set at rest the doubts arising from the swift movements of events in the last few days.

FALSE REPORTS SPREAD.

There were many occurrences today to lead to the sinister aspect of affairs. Rumors were current for a time that the new Dowager, Ye Hon Ala, and Yuan Shi Kai, the Grand Councillor, and one of the most powerful men in the empire, had committed suicide. Though there was no truth in these reports, they went far toward disturbing the Chinese and foreigners alike.

Serious runs on banks occurred yesterday and today, and fourteen native banks closed. The crowds were wild with excitement and toward the close of the day the police intervened and drove them back.

One foreign concern, the Yokohama Specie Bank, suffered a big run on its Tientsin notes, but the British, German and Russian institutions were not affected.

It is probable a number of other na-

CONFESSES FORGERY.

Nearly Million Got by Fraud.

Turned Many Shrewd Tricks in the Last Score of Years.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Peter Van Vlissingen, a real estate dealer, for years classed among the first of Chicago's prosperous and reputable business men, confessed today of having obtained through forged deeds and notes more than $700,000, and a few hours after his arrest, on his own urgent appeal to be punished, was sentenced to the penitentiary.

The arrest, the indictment, the confession and the sentence, occupied less than four hours.

Taken in the midst of business from his office desk at No. 172 Washington street, shortly after the noon hour, Van Vlissingen, a venerable looking man, appeared before the court and in tears confessed that for eighteen or twenty years he had been obtaining money through the sale of forged documents and that, though he had bought many of these spurious documents without detection, at least twenty-five persons would lose an aggregate of more than $700,000 through the paper which he has not yet redeemed.

In forging notes, he declared, he had perfected a unique device. This consisted of a plate glass desk top so ar-

[illegible] appeal and because the prisoner made no effort to defend himself, but only requested that his punishment be speedy.

ASKS SPEEDY SENTENCE.

Asked if he had anything to say before the sentence was imposed, Van Vlissingen bowed his head and replied: "Only that I be given my punishment at once."

His term in the penitentiary was fixed as indeterminate, from one to fourteen years.

Van Vlissingen, who is about 45 years old, was married August 4, 1897, to Miss Jessie Roosevelt Bland, who was described at the time as a distant relative of President Roosevelt. The bride was a daughter of Wilton C. Roosevelt. She had been divorced from a dentist named Bland.

He had been a bachelor, and lived at the Calumet Club. He was known as being of philanthropic disposition, giving especial attention to the welfare of boys.

Some years ago he took under his protection Julius Wiltrax, 10 years old, whose father had been accused of murder. The boy at first had been a witness against his father, who was sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary for the alleged murder of Paul Paskowski, 12 years old. Later the boy repudiated his first testimony and the father was released. This led Van Vlissingen to take interest in the lad and publicly announced he would try to make of him a reputable citizen.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

The special charge which led to the spectacular arrest of Van Vlissingen today was made by two men who had bought forged mortgage notes. They are T. J. Lefens and William O. Seipp, who have offices in the same building as that occupied by Van Vlissingen. To the notes for $4500 held by them were signed the names of Joseph and Bertha Grossman.

As was customary, Van Vlissingen copied the forged papers from originals which he disposed of to other buyers. Lefens and Seipp said they first became suspicious of the notes last Saturday, but took no action until today.

Consulting with Assistant States' Attorney Barbour they decided to delay no longer.

RAPID JUSTICE.

The rapidity with which the case was handled after the consultation with Mr. Barbour is shown by this:

Van Vlissingen confronted in his office by a detective and asked to go to the office in the Criminal Court building at 1:30 o'clock p.m.

He arrived at States Attorney's office and after being told of the charges, confessed at 2 o'clock.

Grand jury, which had been presented with the evidence, returns indictment at 3:15 o'clock p.m.

Prisoner brought before Judge Windes and hearing begun at 4:15 o'clock p.m.

Sentence pronounced at 5 o'clock p.m. and at 5:15 o'clock p.m., Van Vlissingen was locked up in County Jail, preparatory to being taken to Joliet, probably tomorrow.

ADMITS GUILT.

When confronted in his office by the detective, Van Vlissingen made no effort to conceal the truth.

"Why am I wanted at the States Attorney's office?" he asked.

"Because of some charges of forgery," replied the detective.

"Very well," replied the real estate

JOHN D. TICKLED.

ROCKEFELLER MAKES DOLLAR AND A HALF.

Richest Man in the World Smiles Warmly When Tendered Cash Fee by United States Marshall as Witness in Trust Busting Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John D. Rockefeller and his lieutenants, John D. Archbold and James Moffatt of the Standard Oil Company, were today subpoenaed by United States Marshal Henkel to appear before special Referee Franklin Ferris in the "trust busting" proceedings which have been begun by the government.

The proceedings are being held in the Custom-house building. The defense is now submitting its evidence. It has not been settled just on what day Mr. Rockefeller will appear, but he will probably testify before the end of the week.

Mr. Rockefeller and his aides received $1.50 apiece when they accepted the subpoenaes. The tendering of the $1.50, which is a fee for witnesses provided by the government, seemed to please Mr. Rockefeller immensely. He appeared to be rather annoyed when Mr. Henkel first walked into his office on the fourth floor of No. 26 Broadway and handed him the court paper.

GRABBED THE COIN.

But when Mr. Henkel drew from his pocket a $1 bill and a 50-cent piece and handed the sum to the richest man in the world, Mr. Rockefeller seized it with alacrity and smiled.

"This is indeed an honor," said Mr. Rockefeller, and then as he pocketed the money he added: "Thanks very much. Lovely weather we are having, isn't it?"

Mr. Henkel first went to Mr. Moffatt's office where he received a cordial reception. Next he went to Mr. Archbold's office. Mr. Archbold was attending to his private correspondence, but he stopped long enough to smile benignly upon the marshal as he accepted the subpoena and the $1.50.

The door of Mr. Rockefeller's private office was wide open when the marshal approached. Mr. Rockefeller was alone. As the marshal paused at the doorway, Mr. Rockefeller turned and said:

"Good morning, come in."

"I have a subpoena for you, Mr. Rockefeller," said Henkel, handing him the writ.

"All right," replied Mr. Rockefeller as he took it and laid it on his desk.

MONEY ALSO.

"I also have $1.50 for you," added Mr. Henkel. It was then that John D. smiled. The idea of receiving $1.50 from the United States government seemed to tickle him immensely.

As a witness for the defense in the proceedings, Rockefeller will give Frank B. Kellogg, the government's prosecutor, the chance he has been looking for—to examine Mr. Rockefeller to his heart's desire.

REASON RETURNS TO CAPT. PETER HAINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., is awakening from the stupor in which he has been since the day he killed William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club.

Until today all efforts of Capt. Hains's counsel to draw an intelligible word from him have failed. To questions he has always given incoherent answers.

When Joseph A. Shay, associate counsel in the defense, passed the captain's cell at the County Jail in Long Island City this morning, Hains looked out and said cheerfully:

"Hello, Mr. Shay."

The lawyer stopped and asked Capt. Hains how he felt.

"I'm feeling quite well," was the reply. "I'm all right."

Mr. Shay remained talking to the captain for five minutes.

"Do you know why you're here?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes, my brother has told me about it," replied the prisoner.

"Do you remember how it happened?" continued Mr. Shay.

"I don't remember how it happened," was the reply, "all I know is what Thornton told me."

Capt. Hains spoke rationally, asked after the health of John F. McIntyre, his senior counsel, and told Mr. Shay to take a message to Maj. Hains, the captain's brother.

Shay did not ask the captain to try to remember the incidents of the shooting. He refrained from mentioning the name of Annis, nor did he speak to the captain of his wife, Mrs. Claudia Hains.

Mr. Shay, later in the day, sent two of the mental experts retained by the defense, to the jail to see Capt. Hains. They found him in good spirits and when they returned to Mr. Shay's office declared that there had been a great improvement in the captain's mental condition.

TARIFF HEARING.

BEET SUGAR MEN FIRM.

Insist Bars Be Not Lowered to Island Product.

Charge Made That Trust Controls All Prices.

Secretary of War Champions Philippine Growers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The allegation that the so-called sugar trust controls the price paid the grower and the price charged the consumer, the Secretary of War putting himself on record as a champion of free entry for Philippine sugar, and the general "stand-pat" attitude of the beet sugar growers who appeared before the Ways and Means Committee of the House, were the feature of today's hearing on the revision of the tariff as it would affect sugar.

Secretary of War Wright and Gen. Clarence Edwards, chief of the Insular Bureau, were present.

Chairman Payne asked Secretary Wright if he cared to make any remarks. The former Governor of the Islands said:

"We are now having an investigation made in the Philippines regarding the cost of production in the islands and other matters relating to the question.

BELITTLES DANGER.

"From what I have just heard, the principal objection by the beet sugar growers to the admission free of duty of Philippine sugar, lies in the danger that markets will be inundated by the Philippine article.

"It is not possible that the Philippine Islands could supply the actual increase in demand for sugar year by year in the United States. In that case, there is no reason why the islands should affect the market until the beet and cane sugar produced within the tariff walls increases 1,300,000 tons. Before the beet sugar industry is in the slightest danger, it must increase from 440,000 tons annually to 2,100,000 tons, and from annual reports it would take fifty years to do this."

Chairman Payne indicated that the possible action of the committee with regard to sugar schedule would be to recommend that a certain amount of the sugar be admitted free of duty each year and that the present tariff be imposed on any above that amount. He told Secretary Wright that the menace, if any, was from the Cuban sugar, which enjoyed a reduction in the tariff of 20 per cent. He admitted that the Philippine tariff was so important a question that it might not be considered as being strictly a part of the work of revising the Dingley tariff, but would be taken up separately.

SAME ARGUMENT ON CUBA.

Secretary Wright said the production of sugar in the Philippines would not increase to any extent.

Representative Fordney of Michigan, who has a large number of sugar beet farmers among his constituents, told the secretary that the same argument was put forth with regard to the Cuban sugar several months ago, and yet the production in Cuba had increased very largely and the American beet sugar industry had not increased very much.

"The beet sugar people say that the American Sugar Refining Company has no interest in their factories," said the Secretary referring to the co-called trust, "yet three years ago they said a trustee, understood to represent the American Sugar Refining Company, owned 51 per cent. of the stock of all the beet sugar factories. That may be the reason why the beet sugar industry in this country has not grown, rather than the importation of Cuban sugar. There has been no reduction in the prices of sugar in a number of years."

The hearing will be continued tomorrow, when the "independent" refiners are expected to argue for a reduction in the tariff on raw sugar.

According to the reports printed in these papers, the agreement is as follows:

"Clause 1—The two governments in order to augment their existing friendly relations and in the hope that future misunderstandings may be avoided enter into an agreement.

"Clause 2—They agree to the independence of China and believe in the preservation of her territorial integrity with equal opportunity for the commerce of foreigners.

"Clause 3—They agree that neither government will allow the immigration of laboring classes until a further understanding is reached, believing such tends to impair existing friendly relations.

GIRARD TO TRY OUT ITS AIRSHIP TODAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GIRARD (Kan.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After nearly a year of waiting and suspense, during which time the one absorbing topic of the town of Girard has been "the airship," tomorrow has been named as the day upon which a trial flight is to be attempted. Workmen were busy all day today raising wires and removing obstructions from the streets, so that the airship may travel safely from the sheds where it was built to the flying grounds just outside the city. Tonight the town is literally airship mad.

Twelve months ago Henry Laurens Call submitted to the citizens of Girard plans for a combination airship, motorwagon and motorboat. He had labored for years to perfect the machine. The model worked beautifully. All that was necessary was money to demonstrate to the world that the Call airship was the premier of all others. Right royally did Girard rise to meet the emergency. A stock company was formed, and men, women and children contributed their mite. Nearly every family in Girard holds stock in the airship.

Tomorrow comes the crucial test. The ship is fifty feet in length by thirty-six feet in width. Its height from the ground to the top of the mast is thirty feet. The weight is less than 2000 pounds, while the sustaining surface is more than 2000 square feet.

The airship is built upon the aeroplane principle, but differs materially from anything yet produced. It is more than three times as large as any airship ever built—and that isn't all; it has motorwagon and motorboat attachments.

CABRERA NOW WANTS OWN "ROUGH RIDERS."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Revolution is brewing in Guatemala. A former high official of the little Republic's army is in Tacoma to organize a force of rough riders to accompany him to that country to serve President Cabrera as a bodyguard. The price offered being $100 a month in gold. The name of the officer is withheld for obvious reasons.

To a local newspaper this officer has shown an autograph letter from President Cabrera urging him to return soon with as many "rough riders" as he can get.

Publicity concerning the expedition is not desired for the reason that Federal officers might make inquiry and handicap the movement. Cabrera's representative says:

"I have had long experience in Central and South America, in Brazil, Argentine and smaller republics, especially in Guatemala, where I was a political prisoner after the recent revolution for two years.

"President Cabrera is a wise and capable leader and likes to surround himself with American guardsmen. There is plenty of opportunity down there for men in search of excitement and adventure. Evidently the President is having his troubles."

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The cold weather which has had Chicago in its grip, showed signs of relenting today. After the temperature had fallen to 26 deg.—equaling the lowest of the season—it began to rise. A shift of the wind to the south tonight is expected to send the mercury up again to the normal for mid-November. There was little sunshine in the West today, a cloudy area covering the Mississippi Valley which is expected to remain unbroken until after tomorrow. Today's maximum temperature was 36 and the minimum 26 deg. Middle West temperatures:

BURTON'S BROTHER INDICTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EDWARDSVILLE (Ill.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was learned today that Saturday, C. W. Burton, brother of former United States Senator J. Ralph Burton of Kansas, and former cashier of the Tri-City State Bank of Madison, Ill., gave $1000 bonds to answer an indictment charging embezzlement of $4384.61. The names of Dr. C. R. Kiser, president, several directors of the bank, appear on the indictment back as witnesses. Cashier Burton's daughter, Miss Roxie Burton, acting cashier, stopped a run on the bank last February by informing depositors it was after closing time (3 o'clock) when they called to withdraw money. She nursed her father when he suffered nervous collapse when the bank was temporarily closed. When it reopened Burton was supplanted as cashier. The indictment was kept secret until the bond was given.

BEAUTY BEATS LAW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—So pretty and convincing that even Uncle Sam's immigration inspectors at New York made an exception in her case, Miss Frances Agnes Sinclair arrived in Chicago last night, and was met at the station by her intended husband, Oscar Opperman. The marriage took place today because Miss Sinclair had to promise the immigration authorities that it would not be deferred. Otherwise they would not have permitted her to enter this country. Under the law their duty was to order her straight back to Europe, as Opperman was not at the ship to meet her. He is a young man employed in an automobile establishment, and the expense of a trip to New York meant a good deal to him. The thought that his fiancée might be detained at Castle Garden never occurred to him.

GOING TO STUDY JAPS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago, is planning to make a study of the Japanese next year. "I want to go over to the island next year, and stay several months," said the professor. "It is my intention to set up a booth near the Asakusa temple in Tokio, and sell curios in competition with the Japanese merchants. By this plan I hope to study their customs and manners at close range."

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—During a fire at the Hastings Express Company and the Valvoline Oil Company yesterday, the floor of the express company gave way, burying two firemen in the debris. The damage to the property was $50,000.

Benjamin H. Barr, of New York Finds Eloping Wife in Chicago, Kisses Her and Persuades Her to Return to Their Home and Children.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Benjamin H. Barr, the wife of a New York millionaire, who eloped from her home last September with Edwin V. Churchman, who is believed to be the head of the firm of Edwin Churchman & Co., 50 Leonard street, New York City, a wealthy friend of her husband, and known as "the Hosiery King," was apprehended here today by central detail detectives, after having been traced through various cities by her husband.

About 4 o'clock, while the detectives were on guard at the postoffice, Mrs. Barr stepped up to the general delivery window and asked for her mail. She denied that she had been guilty of any wrong conduct, and endeavored to persuade the detectives that they had a made a mistake.

When apprehended, Mrs. Barr was elegantly attired in a stylish tailor-made suit of black broadcloth, trimmed with a yoke of brown silk foulard. She is a tall, handsome woman, apparently about 35 years of age. She is said to be one of the most beautiful women of the metropolis, and prior to her unfortunate and disastrous love affair was a society leader of prominence.

The detectives told her that the easiest way to settle the matter was for her to accompany them to the Detective Bureau, where proper explanations could be made, and if a mistake had been made, it could easily be rectified.

When the party entered the City Hall Mr. Barr was standing near the door. He instantly rushed out and clasped his wife in his arms. She broke down at this demonstration of affection, and made repeated protestations of love for her husband.

After a few minutes' conversation to one side, Mr. Barr stepped forward to the desk of the lieutenant in charge of the office, and said that Mrs. Barr had agreed to return to him for the sake of their children, and that in view of all the circumstances, he did not desire to press any charges against her.

The officials of the Detective Bureau, in the absence of any formal evidence of her guilt, and in view of the intercession of her husband, decided to release her.

A dramatic scene was enacted when the couple were located in the dining-room of a hotel later in the evening. Mr. Barr excused his wife's misconduct, and said that because of a psychological change in her life, she had become possessed of an overwhelming passion for her "affinity" for which she was not accountable.

Mrs. Barr made a full acknowledgment of the affair to a reporter, and said that she was heartily sorry for the part she had played, but saying she would kill herself if a word of her escapade appeared in New York papers.

MEN SEARCH WOMEN.

Brooklyn Police Discovered by Grand Jury Taking Anatomical Measurements of Woman Prisoner.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the county grand jury is thoroughly aroused over the action of Police Commissioner Bingham in depriving the borough government of its police individually was shown today when the members of that body unexpectedly appeared at Brooklyn police headquarters and in their investigations made startling discoveries.

The grand jurors had mounted the stairs and approached the room containing the Bertillon system where prisoners are measured and photographed. There was a sound of the rustling of skirts and a gruff voice commanded: "Put your dress down."

Men were alone in conducting the examination.

"What! is there no matron here," asked one of the jurymen amased.

I understand that you take the anatomical measurements of men prisoners and examine their bodies for marks of identification, and suppose an innocent woman should be subjected to that treatment?"

Turning to the woman he asked if had ever been convicted of a crime, when she answered in the negative the jurymen made notes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 16.—The litigation between the United States government and the Oregon and California Railroad Company, in which the government seeks to have declared forfeited the company's land grant in Oregon, valued at about $4,000,000, made its first appearance in court today.

Judge Wolverton decided that the Federal District Court could not entertain a separate action against the railroad company instituted by a settler named John L. Snyder, who had filed suit to force the company to deed him 160 acres of the grant for a consideration of $2.50 an acre, the price at which the patent says the company must sell the land.

The court held Snyder's proper course was to petition to intervene in the main suit of the government against the railroad company.

There are about 100 suits similar to Snyder's, besides about 700 petitioners who seek to intervene in the main suit.

Judge Wolverton gave the Union Trust Company, a motagagee of the Oregon and California, thirty days' time to demur to the government's complaint.

BREATHE DEEP AND DON'T DIE.

Bishop Fallows Offers Cure for Delusion of Fatal Illness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cure for persons under the delusion that they are fatally ill: Twenty deep breaths. An erect position while standing or sitting. A profusion of sunlight and contemplation of the scriptures.

This prescription is offered by Bishop Samuel Fallows. The psychic remedy was set forth today before the women of the League of Religious Fellowship in the rooms of the Chicago Woman's Club.

The advice was contained in a paper on "Health as Related to Religion," by Bishop Fallows, which was read in his stead by Rev. Taylor Joyce, as the bishop has been called out of the city.

In the paper Bishop Fallows related how he applied this cure to a man who confided to him that he was afflicted with mortal heart disease and made his will and was preparing for death.

As a matter of fact, the "patient" was sound physically, but so depressed was he under this phantom that doctors feared that he would decline in reality.

CONFESSES FORGERY.

dealer. "I am afraid the charges are true."

He then put on his hat and coat, and followed the detective. In Mr. Barbour's office, he made a full confession.

In Judge Windes's court, Van Vlissingen, after describing how he had committed the forgeries, was asked:

"How long have you been engaged in forgeries of that nature?"

"Oh, I should say about eighteen years," he replied.

"Approximately how much would those foregries aggregate?"

MONEY ALL GONE.

"Where has the money gone?"

"Paid back in interest and lost in business."

"Have you speculated in the Board of Trade, or in mining stocks, or in Wall street?"

"No, sir."

"How many times have you duplicated any one genuine instrument?"

"Once, and in, I think, two or three instances, twice."

"That is, in two or three instances you have sold three mortgages where there was only one genuine mortgage?"

LIFE'S HISTORY.

Van Vlissingen was born in Holland and came with his family to a suburb of Chicago. When a boy he was employed by a financial firm, which has since developed the Chicago Title and Trust Company, to which his attorneys have now made an assignment of his affairs. Van Vlissingen was publisher of the Real Estate News and vice-president and director of the Cook County Real Estate Board, made up of members who withdrew from the Chicago Real Estate Board. One of the things that brought him prominence was the fact of his being the first to reduce the brokerage commission on mortgage deals from 6 to 2½ per cent.

Lefens and Seipp, the complainants, had been intimate friends and business associates of Van Vlissingen for many years.

GOODWIN SCORES AGAIN.

Recently Remarried Actor Makes Big Hit in New Romantic Role.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nat Goodwin added another to the hits of his theatrical career at the Great Southern Theater tonight when he appeared in the title role of "Cameo Kirby," a new play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, which deals with a romance in the career of the once noted Mississippi River gambler.

Goodwin's portrayal of the dashing Cameo Kirby was excellent. The general opinion is that he has found another role for which he is well fitted. He was supported by a good company, including Maud Fealy, his new leading woman, Jefferys Lewis, James Lackaye and Edward Harrigan.

Mrs. Goodwin, formerly Miss Edna Goodrich, occupied a stage box and joined in the applause given her husband.

PATRICK LOSES HARD FIGHT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The petition of Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer, who is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Sing Sing on the charge of having murdered William M. Rice, for a writ of habeas corpus, was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States adversely to the petitioner.

Patrick charged that the case against him was a conspiracy and urged that in commuting the sentence of death which the court imposed upon him to one of life imprisonment Gov. Higgins had resorted to a more cruel method of punishment. He asked to be released from prison upon the theory that the whole proceeding had been unconstitutional and invalid. The decision of the court was announced by Chief Justice Fuller.

Dist.-Atty. Sims in Chicago yesterday, served notice on counsel for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana that on November 20 the government will apply to the Supreme Court for a writ or certiorari bringing the record of the famous rebating case before that tribunal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

The arrest was made at the direction of Mayor Lane. The Southern Pacific claims a perpetual franchise on the street.

In May, 1907, an ordinance was passed requiring the company to stop its moving trains on this street within fifteen months. The company agreed to make other arrangements but when the time expired no steps had been taken to give a request for eighteen months additional time. This was refused.

Postal Telegraph Secures Control of Western Union Systems and Has Transcontinental Service.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The last link in the chain of James R. Mackay's Postal Telegraph Company, giving the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company a central, intermediate and its northern and southern connections will be provided with a transcontinental service, will be finished by January 1, in connection with the Southern Pacific and Nevada Consolidated systems. It already have lines connecting Rhyolite to Tonopah, Fort Carson to towns a hundred miles south.

The consolidation has been planned for months, and the president of the Southern Nevada Company, left for New York to complete the arrangements with Mackay.

The enterprises will cost the new company about $150,000, the reorganization to be complete.

The Postal Telegraph Guarantee Trust Company has been made the financial agent, and Edwin Weed of No. 10 Wall street, New York, is guaranteed to furnish the necessary bonds to the new company.

The Mackay system will be operated by operating typewriters, doing away with operators, and sending the machine keys. The message, which is received on the other end of the line, is automatically reproduced.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—After a delay of days, the case of In Whan Kim, the Korean, accused of the murder of Durham White Stevens, adviser to the government of Korea, was called for trial today in Judge Cook's department of the Superior Court.

The defense was well represented by counsel and will make a vigorous defense, pleading "insanity" being one of the defenses expected to be advanced in his behalf.

Kim, with which he is charged, was committed in this city on March 23 of this year, at the Ferry depot, at the foot of Market street, just as Mr. Stevens was about to depart for Washington. Cheng Jay in wait for him, accompanied by a companion named Chung, who received one of the bullets intended for Stevens, and was seriously wounded. Two shots were fired at Stevens in the back, and he died from the effects three days later.

BANK DIRECTORS SUED.

Suit Still Further Complicates Affairs of the Rickey Banking Situation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Nov.) Nov. 16.—Frank Gibson, receiver of the State Bank and Trust Company, which failed more than a year ago, has started suits against all of the directors.

In the complaint he states that the bank was allowed the transfer of accounts after the bank had failed, thus giving the depositors and creditors a two-edged securities, and leaving uncollectable as assets. The suit is brought against the directors personals. As they are under indictments and the trial of President Heber Situation pending, it has further complicated the situation.

It is charged that the transfers were made without authority of the State Bank Commissioner, which may result in suit being brought against the commission.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 16.—Because he was the victim of a thief while pursuing him, was the experience that befell Major Sanford T. H. Jones of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, while he was en route to Salt Lake.

Jones was stripped of his identification papers, his fugitive warrant and $175, and Jones himself laughed at the loss of the otherwise serious affair, and acknowledged the gang he had been breaking up is composed of worthy opponents in point of cleverness.

A portion of the mounted police force quartered at Regina, Canada, has been engaged for some years in breaking up a desperate band of horse and cattle rustlers headed by Tom Lawrence.

DETERMINED.

EDNA CLARK INSISTS SHE WILL BECOME NUN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maternal opposition to her ambition to become a nun is given by Edna Clark, guest at the Paulist Day Nursery, No. 15 Eldredge Court, as the reason she ran away from her home in Oakland, where gossip linked her name with a minister's. After denying that Rev. Payson Young of St. Mary, the Virgin Episcopal Church, had ever kissed her, the girl declared her only trouble at home was a quarrel caused by her mother's objection to her renunciation of the Episcopal faith for Catholicism.

"I left my home, my mother, my all, because God directed me to do so. I had no other reason—no sweetheart or anything; I left to follow the dictates of my conscience," said Miss Clark.

"My mother bitterly objected to my Catholic tendencies, and I was firm in my resolve to become a Catholic. I guess I will be thought an unnatural daughter, but I felt impelled to break from my family and follow my soul's desire."

A telegram from her mother, Mrs. Mary Mack, announced that she would reach Chicago tomorrow.

"No, I shall not return with my mother," said the girl. "Our separation is final. Since I was 14 years old I have felt the spirit of Catholicism in me; its intense spirituality grasped me. I am going to cling to it. My mother will not want me when she knows I am studying to be a Catholic. I have elected my own course, and I expect to follow it.

"I told my story to no one until I made a full confession to Father Hopper. I have acted upon his advice."

on reaching his hotel he discovered that his valise had been tampered with, and a wallet containing his identification papers, warrants and about $175 in currency had been stolen.

From various suspicious incidents during the trip, which are now recalled, Jones is convinced the theft of his papers was the work of members or friends of the gang which he is now running down.

The Governor was accompanied by Mrs. Cosgrove and by Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Kelfer of Walla Walla. His intention is to spend some weeks here enjoying the baths and the sunshine of California, prior to taking up his official duties. The first treatment was given him at 10:30 this morning consisting of a hot sulphur tonic bath.

Gillett Confined to Bed by Severe Cold Which Threatens to Become Serious.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16.—Gov. Gillett is confined to his home with a very bad cold which threatens pneumonia, and his physicians have warned him to remain in doors until all danger of a more serious illness is passed. The Governor was afflicted with a similar complaint last April and lay in bed at San Francisco for several days in a serious condition.

TIME GRANTED.
BRIBERY CASE GOES ON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Superior Judge Murasky today issued an order at the request of Attorney Schiesinger allowing the defense thirty days in which to prepare a bill of exceptions to the court's denial of the motion to set aside the indictment in the bribery cases of Attorneys Frank J. Murphy and A. S. Newburgh. The order, however, does not act as a stay of proceedings and the trial fo Murphy will begin on Wednesday as set.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16.—Gov. Gillett issued a requisition today on the State of Oregon for the return to San Francisco of Frank Hillman alias Jovanovich, charged with embezzlement. Poynter is under arrest at San José.

TEACHERS ASK MANY CHANGES.

ARIZONA ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS.

Make Many Recommendations for the Consideration of Legislature, Including a Request That Women Be Given a Voice in the Future Elections of School Superintendents.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON, Nov. 15.—The annual meeting of the Arizona Teachers' Association has concluded with the selection of the following-named as officers: President, Dr. R. H. H. Blome of the Normal School of Arizona, Tempe; treasurer, B. H. Scudder, principal of the public schools of Tempe; secretary, Victor Freeman of Solomonville. It was agreed that the next meeting would be at Tempe, with half-day sessions, in order that the teachers might attend the Territorial Fair at Phoenix. Among the recommendations were the following:

To hold elections for county school superintendent separate from general elections; to allow women a voice in the selection of school superintendents; to request the coming Legislature to make special provision guaranteeing teachers attending institutes their traveling expenses; to allow teachers pay for full year, that they may devote time to study during vacation months; to allow superintendents to grant temporary certificates; to set aside a certain percentage of funds for libraries in the country schools.

Dr. David Starr Jordan was the principal speaker, addressing the association on "The Call of the Twentieth Century," and lecturing on the South Sea islands.

The expected fight over the Superintendent of Public Instruction was taken in hand early in the week by the friends of Superintendent R. L. Long, who succeeded in having stricken from the minutes of the last session a resolution which censured the conduct of the superintendent's office. The superintendent was supported by a vote of 105 to 31.

BI-PARTISAN TICKET.

The Democratic and Republican City Conventions have joined in naming a combination anti-partisan ticket. Mr. Heney, the candidate for Mayor, has gone to San Francisco to attend his brother, Francis J. Heney. The Socialists have nominated a full ticket, and it is not improbable that a number of independent candidates will appear.

DISAPPEARED.

There is now no doubt that John A. Black has abandoned his business in Tucson and has departed for parts unknown.

Mr. Black has been a resident of this city for more than twenty years, and has been considered one of its most substantial citizens, conducting the city's largest jewelry establishment. He has been in public office, and was Territorial Commissioner of Immigration under Governor Wolfley.

HASHEESH.

Along the border line grows a plant known to the Mexicans as mariguana, believed to be allied to the hasheesh of India. Its leaves and berries are dried and pulverized and smoked, and the effect is similar to that of opium, though even more injurious, as the victim usually becomes permanently insane through the effect of the narcotic poison contained in the weed. The authorities at the Territorial prison at Yuma have great difficulty in preventing the smuggling of mariguana into the institution. A few days ago, an unknown Mexican, crazed by the drug, tried to capture the international line at Nogales, flourishing a revolver and daring any officer to arrest him. A Mexican officer, Angel Manacara, finally had to shoot the fellow, who died a few hours later, unidentified, at the Mexican police headquarters.

SMELTER THEIR BEACON.

The touring car of Postmaster J. Knox Corbett, which won the Tucson-Phoenix automobile race, was wrecked and lost, yesterday, in the Tortolita mountains, fifty miles from Tucson. The occupants were compelled to walk to Red Rock station, twenty miles distant across the mountains, guided only by the lights of the Sasco smelter in the distance.

SALEM (Or.) Nov. 16.—Upon the requisition of the Governor of California, Gov. Chamberlain today issued a warrant for the extradition of Jack Lund, who is under arrest in Portland and is wanted in Oakland for burglary.

Dies in Dentist Chair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—While submitting to dental treatment, under the influence of chloroform, yesterday, Mrs. J. Lindsey of No. 823 Carolina street, suddenly developed alarming symptoms, and in a few moments was dead. Mrs. Lindsey had asked Dr. Louis Graham, a dentist, to extract an aching tooth and he summoned a physician to administer the anesthetic. In spite of all they could do, the women expired after but a few inhalations of the chloroform.

Ship Wrecked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—The Merchants' Exchange has received a message from Melbourne stating that the British bark, Falls of Halladale, bound from New York to Australian ports, is ashore on the coast and will be a total loss. All on board were saved and landed at Curdies Inlet.

Transport Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—The United States Army transport Bugord arrived today from Manila with a large number of troops whose terms of enlistment have expired. The transport sailed from Manila on October 15, but was detained at Nagasaki by cholera, two cases on board proving fatal at the port.

Back With Prisoner.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 16.—Deputy-Sheriff Mulhall returned to San José this afternoon having in custody Robert Grant, charged with having forged a check for $800 and collecting the money from the Farmers' Association of this city. He is also wanted in San Francisco for similar crimes.

Stop Whaling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Representatives of four firms which control the whaling fleet of this port, have decided none of their vessels will set sail for the Arctic next season unless the market price of whalebone is materially advanced, which at present seems unlikely. Of the seven whalers that returned during the past fortnight, only one exceeded a catch of three whales. The exception was the Thrasher, which remained two years in the North.

Auto Victims Recovering.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Busey and Mrs. L. E. Horton of Oakland, who were seriously injured in an automobile accident yesterday afternoon, near this city, when Mr. Busey, to avoid colliding with a train at Wayne Station, steered his car into the ditch, will recover. They are resting comfortably in a local sanatorium. Mrs. Busey and Mrs. Horton sustained broken ribs, but no member of the party suffered internal injury.

Will Repeat Service in Tsi An's Memory.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Elaborate services were held in the famous Chinese quarter of this city, today, under the direction of Chinese Consul-General Hsu Ling Shi, at which the sorrow of the expatriated Celestials over the death of the Emperor of China was expressed.

The streets in front of the building as well as the room in which the altar was located, and passages leading to it were crowded with Chinese. The Chinese officials donned the costume of their nationality for the service, which lasted but five minutes, but was extremely impressive.

The altar, before which stood gigantic silver candle-sticks with burning tapers, was decorated in blue and white, the mourning colors of the Chinese. Behind it was a sign in Chinese characters composing one word, which announced the death of the Chinese ruler.

When the officials approached the altar they bent to the floor three times, after which, together with many of the Chinese present, they burst into tears.

The service will be repeated tomorrow in memory of the Empress Dowager.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO (Ill.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The greatest victory in the history of the forty years' agitation for equal suffrage in Illinois was won today. The charter committee by a vote of six to four adopted a resolution declaring for a bill giving women the right to vote for all municipal officers and on all questions of policy which have to do with municipality.

The bill will be drafted by the committee, submitted to the charter convention, and if approved, will go to the Legislature.

Like the charter, it will be subject to adoption by popular vote before going into effect.

The suffragist delegation which appeared before the committee, represented 101 women's organizations of Chicago, with a membership of over 100,000. It was headed by Miss Jane Addams of Hull House.

WASHINGTON.

ROOT'S DENIAL ALTERED NOW.

Makes Formal Announcement of Candidacy.

His Dignity Is No Bar to a Senatorial Scrap.

Depew Makes Vain Raid on White House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Washington is still the center of the fight over the succession to Senator Platt of New York. Every day or so an angry politician or a bunch of them races in from the Empire State, dashes up to the White House and shouts "hands off" at the President. But so far it has been pretty well in vain.

Senator Depew, the latest of the arrivals, broke into town this morning and fairly tore up the asphalt on Pennsylvania avenue to shoo the President off the Senatorial preserves.

The reports which had come back to New York from the excursions of other political fighters were anything but reassuring and after Sunday's Roosevelt-Taft-Root luncheon, the leaders of the New York machine didn't have to be hit with a pile driver to know that the President meant business when he started the Root boom.

Mr. Root, however, with the gumshoe diplomacy that becomes a habit with a good Secretary of State, had been saying "Oh, no, never" in such a ladylike manner that Mr. Depew figured a swift ride to the White House might yet undo the mischief.

He came, he saw and he thought he had conquered. He came out of the White House with a smile as big as big "Sherman's."

"I am taking Secretary Root at his word, that he don't want the place if he has to fight for it," he told the newspaper men, "and he's got to fight for it and his dignity won't permit that."

Then he took a gentle slam at everybody from the President down, who have been trying to help New York settle the scrap in advance by pushing on the Secretary of State.

But Mr. Depew had come too late. For while he was telling them all about it, Mr. Root had issued a formal announcement of his candidacy at the State Department.

OREGON WINS BOUNDARY SUIT.

SUPREME COURT GIVES DECISION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The controversy between the States of Oregon and Washington over the boundary line at a point near the mouth of the Columbia River was settled by the Supreme Court today, in a decision which was announced by Justice Brewer and which recognized the justice of Oregon's contention. The dispute involved control of a number of sand islands and was of importance to the fishermen of the region.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Use Much Lumber.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Great as the advance in fire-proof construction has been during the last ten years, there has been no decrease in the use of lumber, according to a statement issued by the Bureau of Forestry. Both architects and builders admit, it says, that the forests of the country are likely to be the chief source of building material for many years to come.

Hawaii Wins Suit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The case of the Honolulu Rapid Land and Transit Company against James J. Holt, Collector of Taxes of Hawaii, involving the right of the Territory to tax the company's franchise, was decided by the Supreme Court today in favor of the Territory, affirming the decision of the Supreme Court of Hawaii.

COLONEL STUNG.

BRIDE-TO-BE WINS IN SUIT.

MRS. EASTMAN IS IN CONTROL OF BUCK SHOALS.

May Marry Baker Edwards Today, Always Provided That His Former Wife Does Not Succeed in Making Good Her Threat of Preventing the Marriage.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASHEVILLE (N. C.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Sophie Harrison-Eastman won today's battle in her legal fight against Col. V. E. McBee to establish her sole ownership to Buck Shoals. The judge continued to the final hearing, the receivership of the estate, after hearing the affidavits filed by each side.

Tomorrow is the day set for the Eastman-Edwards wedding at the Methodist parsonage here, but tonight there is not joy, but apprehension at the Skyland Hotel, where Mrs. Eastman, William Preston Harrison, Mrs. Heaton Owsley and Baker Everett Edwards, the bridegroom-to-be, are staying, because of the report that Edwards's former wife is hastening here with the declared intention of preventing the marriage.

The Eastman attorneys declare the woman can do nothing because the Edwards divorce is perfectly legal. The Methodist minister caused them to investigate this, because he would not marry the couple unless convinced that neither was legally nor morally culpable, because of their divorces.

Some believe Echols McBee caused the woman to come here, because he has all along asserted that no marriage would take place, and intimated he had something up his sleeve. Some people on the Buck Shoal place say Mrs. Eastman does not want to marry Edwards.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME.

An explosion of a kerosene lamp in the residence of George Edeson, No. 422 East Avenue 28, caused a fire which totally destroyed the house. The loss is estimated at $1000. The explosion occurred when Mrs. Edeson went into a closet with a lamp and dropped it. She narrowly escaped being burned and rushed into the street to give an alarm. Neighbors succeeded in saving some of the household goods.

FAIR TRIAL HOPELESS.

cution and asked that their names be entered upon the record.

Dozier then arose and announced that the defense had a motion to make based upon some affidavits, the reading of which would consume considerable time. The court admonished the jury and sent the twelve men out.

Stating what the affidavit was, Dozier said:

"Upon this affidavit, sworn to be the defendant, Abraham Ruef, I hereby make application for a change of venue from this court to some other court of coördinate jurisdiction in the State of California, where the conditions existing in this court do not obtain."

PUBLIC MIND EXCITED.

The affidavid consumed about twenty minutes in reading. By far the greater part of the affidavit consisted of a relation of all the circumstances connected with the Ruef trial since its commencement.

The shooting in the courtroom, Friday; the subsequent excitement; the mass meetings and other assemblages held throughout the city and elsewhere since that time are described in full and every allegation set forth as calculated to show on excited state of the public mind, calculated to injure the cause of the defendant.

In part it is said that a conspiracy has been charged involving the defendant in responsibility for the shooting and that the jury not having been informed of all the circumstances, has drawn erroneous inferences as to the actual happenings.

It is said that the jury will or has learned that Ruef is in custody and that he is supposed to have been in some way connected with the shooting; that the appearance of three new attorneys in the case will lead the jury to believe that they have been employed by the people of San Francisco. Another point made is that the defense has not had an opportunity to examine the jurors or any of them as to their acquaintance or relations with any of three attorneys now become of record. In conclusion the principal affidivit affirms:

LIVES IN DANGER.

"Affiant is informed and believes that there exists in the city of San Francisco a fierce and burning bias and prejudice against him and that his life is in constant danger; that there will probably occur during his journeys to and from the courtroom scenes of violence and disturbance calculated to still further prejudice his cause; that the lives of his counsel are in danger and that they are not in a proper frame of mind to give to his case the attention it demands."

Upon the conclusion of Ruef's affidavit, Dozier read affidavits made by himself and Ach in which it was set forth that counsel for the defense were receiving communications by telephone and mail threatening their lives if they continued to defend Ruef; that not only their own lives but those of their wives and families were in danger as a result of public feeling largely the result of attacks made upon them by some of the newspapers because they were engaged in defending Ruef; that at the overflow mass meetings Saturday night there were cries of "Give us Calhoun! Give us Ruef! Give us Ach!" and that as a result of such conditions it was impossible for Ruef to be given a fair and impartial trial in this city.

PROOF IS SUBMITTED.

Affixed to each affidavit were copies of newspapers, giving accounts of the shooting of Heney and the subsequent suicide of Haas, mass meetings, interviews with prominent men bearing upon the case, as an evidenciary showing of the state of public mind in this city.

At the request of Mr. O'Gara, Judge Lawlor granted a continuance until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to give the prosecution time to make a counter showing.

Court adjourned at 10:52. The courtroom was immediately cleared. The only incident during the morning was the ejection from the courtroom of a man whose name was given by Capt. Gleeson as J. D. Cook, a law clerk connected with a firm of attorneys said to be associated with the defense. Cook succeeded in getting into the courtroom but was afterward regarded with some suspicion and upon being asked to come out into the corridor was ordered out.

He protested strongly to what he declared to be the unwarranted action of the police.

Tonight a conference of the attorneys for the prosecution was held at which the affidavits which will be filed with the court tomorrow, supporting the contention of the State that a fair and impartial trial of the case can be had in this city, were prepared.

No date has yet been set for the inquest over the remains of Morris Haas, nor has any new light been thrown on the mystery surrounding the manner in which he obtained the pistol with which he ended his life. The police continue to assert that it was concealed in his shoe, while Burns and Langdon are equally as positive that it was given to him at the jail.

BULLET IS REMOVED; HENEY WILL RECOVER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—After passing through a most successful operation for the removal of the bullet which was fired at him by Morris Haas during the Ruef trial last Friday, the condition of Francis J. Heney is reported by the doctors to be favorable in every way tonight, and prediction of his ultimate recovery are made by his physicians.

The operation followed the taking of X-ray photographs which plainly showed the location of the leaden pellet in the muscles of the left lower maxillary.

Chief Surgeon Terry of the City Hospital service wielded the instruments, while Drs. Sullman, Moffatt and Huntington assisted. It was found that the bullet, which entered the right side of his head just in front of the ear, passed downward, crossing the palate and striking the left lower jawbone, which was slightly splintered, but not broken.

The bullet was deflected backward by striking the bone and lodged in the muscles of the jaw. Its removal necessitated the utmost surgical skill, as it lay close to the big blood vessels of the neck.

Heney rallied rapidly from the effects of the anaesthetic, showing no ill effects from the drug or shock of the operation. He passed a quiet day and slept peacefully tonight. At midnight, it was said by his attendants that his condition was entirely favorable and hopes for his speedy recovery were entertained.

Mrs. Heney, who has not left her husband's side since she received him at the hospital shortly after the shooting, watched in the next room, bearing the strain well. Many friends and relatives were with her until she was permitted to go to her husband's room again.

The hospital was besieged with inquiries as to the attorney's condition, and great public interest was shown in the bulletins posted.

RAILWAY RECORD.

TO GUATEMALA BY TRAIN NOW.

Pan-American Road Finishes Track Laying.

All-Rail Route to Central America a Fact.

Operations Over Whole Line Are Inaugurated.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pan-American Railroad, which is controlled by a St. Louis syndicate, today finished the laying of track to the Guatemalan-Mexican boundary on the Pacific Coast and began operating trains over the whole length of the new road.

The completion of the Pan-American Railroad for a distance of 500 miles, establishes an all-rail route from St. Louis and other centers in the United States through Mexico City to Guatemala, and there is at present a gap of only twenty-five miles in an all-rail route through the United States, the republic of Mexico and Guatemala to Guatemala City.

Officers of the syndicate said today that, despite deluge after deluge, which interfered with construction work and destroyed bridges, the road was finished today from San Geronimo, on the Tehuantepec Railroad, and situated near the Pacific port of Salina Cruz to the Suciate River, which forms the boundary between Mexico and Guatemala. The distance between the two terminals, San Geronimo and Suciate, is 200 miles, and the running of two trains daily, one in each direction, was inaugurated today.

STATE WINS.

ROAD LOSES CASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 16.—County Judge Arthur Peter today handed down an opinion in the long-standing litigation of the commonwealth against the Southern Pacific Company involving taxes on $300,000 worth of property. Judge Peter decides the cases for taxes for 1907 and 1908 that the franchise tax, assessed by the State Board of Valuation and Assessment, covers all the intangible property and the company must pay taxes in Kentucky and that the county board of equalization can not go back of that and assess intangible property. In short the tax paid on the franchise covers all the taxes collectable in this State except as to tangible property.

On the second question, Judge Peter holds that the "steamships" statement of the defendant company which are set out by name in the suit and which aggregated $8,000,000 in value are taxable in Kentucky and must be paid here.

ESPEE SUED.

UNCLE SAM WANTS LAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CARSON (Nev.) Nov. 16.—United States Dist.-Atty. Platt filed another suit against the Southern Pacific railroad today to set aside patents granted the corporation to certain lands in this State.

The complaint sets forth that the lands are mineral lands and that the patents were granted under misrepresentation, thus taking from the government mineral lands under agricultural and timber patents. The government has had a number of mineral experts in this State during the year and they have provided sufficient information to warrant bringing the suits.

Hurts Trade.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 16.—That the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission is having the effect of giving the Pacific carrying trade to British steamship lines, is evidenced by the cargo on the Canadian Pacific railway liner Empress of Japan, which left Yokohama for Vancouver this afternoon.

The Empress of Japan is bringing 1,500,000 pounds of overland freight, and 250 tons of raw silks. This is the biggest silk consignment brought to Vancouver for a long time.

Anti-Merger Suit Postponed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The taking of testimony in the government's anti-merger suit, for the purpose of dissolving the Harriman railway system announced to be begun by Special Examiner Sylvester G. Williams of Denver in this city, has been postponed until December 1.

Officers Meet.

DENVER, Nov. 16.—The operating officers of the Union Pacific Railroad assembled here today for their third annual educational meeting. General Superintendent W. L. Parks, who presided, explained that the object of the convention is the exchange of ideas.

WAR STILL THREATENS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BELGRADE, Nov. 16.—Hostility to Austria-Hungary is spreading among the population of Bosnia and Herzegovina and in several districts an outbreak of guerrilla warfare is threatened. By order of the Austrian authorities a number aof prominent Servians are being confined to their homes. The garrison at Trebinje has been reinforced by 10,000 men and preparations for its defense are being made. Frontier incursions of Montenegrin troops into Bosnia and Herzegovina are expected.

TROOPS GATHERING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VIENNA, Nov. 16.—It is semi-officially stated that owing to Servia's continued provocative attitude, the Austrian government is determined to adopt military measures without delay. These measures will be purely of a defensive nature, consisting probably in the concentrating of large bodies of troops at strategic points in Bosnia and Croatia.

It is understood Servia has recalled her minister from Vienna, but this cannot be confirmed.

LODGES PROTEST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CETTINJE, Nov. 16.—The Montenegrin government has sent a protest to Austria-Hungary, against the crossing of the frontier by Austrian guards on several instances and their refusal to retire until the Montenegrin frontier guard threatened to fire.

It is asserted that Austria is accumulating huge quantities of war material and greatly strengthening the garrison along the frontier.

LEGATIONS GUARDED.

tive banks will be closed tomorrow and it is believed the government will step in and endeavor to stop the financial panic among the poorer classes.

DEATHS WERE NATURAL.

As yet the causes of the death of the Emperor and Dowager Empress have not been made public. There is no reasonable evidence to show that death in either case was the result of anything other than natural causes.

The Emperor had been ailing for a long time, and had been in feeble health during the latter half of his life. The Dowager Empress had carried burdens of state for many years, and in the last few months had shown signs of declining health.

At the celebration of her birthday on November 3, she took a prominent part against the wishes of her advisers, with the result that she was attacked with congestion of the lungs, accompanied by a high fever. Physicians who had previously attended the Emperor and Empress are of the opinion that their physical condition was such that they were certain victims of the first extremes of weather, although in their opinion also, modern medicine and treatment would have been efficacious.

FEAR REFORMERS.

The government entertained fears of the Keh Ning Ting reformers, who are reported to be assembling with the view of taking advantage of the present disturbed condition of the country. While matters have an appearance of tranquillity, there are reports of disaffection among the adherents of half a dozen rival candidates for the throne and to the minds of the foreigners the government itself is disaffected. It is contended by some that the eldest Pu—that is, Pu Lun—is the legitimate Emperor, and that therefore the selection of Pu Yi was another of the dowagel's illegal acts.

An imperial order was issued today in the name of Dowager Empress Ye Hon Ala, expelling all palace visitors, which means the clearing away of the masses who assembled during the period when their majesties were believed to be dying and have remained within and near the precincts ever since.

A conference of the diplomatic representatives was held today and it was decided to ask the regent to name a convenient time for the presentation of condolences of foreign governments. It was stated after the conference that only this matter was discussed, but it was thought the situation in the empire was the chief subject under consideration.

REGENT CONSIDERED WEAK.

The belief is general here that Pu Lun eventually will succeed Prince Ching, president of the Board of Foreign Affairs, and that if his adherents threaten sufficiently he will receive this appointment at an early date.

The regent, although only 26 years old, is open minded and ready for reforms, but is not considered a strong man. Dowager Ye Hon Ala is colorless.

For years China has suffered from a malady for which it has long been believed assassination was the only cure and the death of the Dowager Empress, for this reason, has given rise to various conjectures among the foreigners. In the last ten years both natives and foreigners have offered bribes to those who make murder their business, by fixing a price on the dowager's head. It is no small number, therefore, who speak of her death as a providential riddance.

Few rulers have passed away so generally hated and blasphemed.

There are rumors among the revolutionaries that some of their leaders are about to return to Peking. This is the first boast that the late dowager's enemies have made since her famous coup d'etat.

JAPAN IS NOW WAITING EVENTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TOKIO, Nov. 16.—Announcement made at Peking of the death of both the Emperor and the Dowager Empress caused a heavy fall in the stock market in Tokio, but official views are optimistic. It is generally believed that the Emperor died after the Dowager, and some newspapers express this opinion, while others assign sinister causes for the Emperor's death. The Emperor of Japan, who is attending the naval review at Kobe, sent a message of sympathy to Tokio, as also did the members of the Cabinet. All the flags in Tokio are at half mast.

The newspapers comment voluminously, giving the views of Count Hayashi, Count Okuma and others who are not concerned in the government. Officials declined to be interviewed, though the statement made by the Associated Press on November 14 that it is not Japan's intention in the event of disorder or disorganization in Chinese territory to take any step until after a consultation of all the interested nations and an agreement by the powers, may be regarded as expressing the attitude of the government.

This subject is indorsed by the semi-official Kokumin, which, in an editorial says that Japan's policy must be the maintenance, by every means, of the status quo in China, and adherence to the concert of the powers. It says that China's policy must be to go forward and not backward and that the powers should combine to insure the integrity of China.

Among many well-informed persons it is believed that the Dowager has been dead for many days. The Emperor undoubtedly was sick, but the life of the Dowager Empress was threatened during his lifetime, as the Emperor's well-known liberal views had caused the Dowager to deprive him of power.

The death of the Dowager Empress before that of the Emperor would have left him free to advocate a revival of the reform movement which was drastically vetoed by her, and therefore the Emperor's death is regarded as opportune by the Conservatives.

The leading Japanese officials undoubtedly are closely observing the situation in Peking. There is every indication that Japan is fully prepared for eventualities in China in order to protect her interests should a repetition of history occur, but it is believed she expects the advice and coöperation of America.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

The Russian Duma, having voted $1,000,000 for a new imperial printing office in St. Petersburg, Capt. Ivan de Nasimoff, Chamberlain to the Emperor, and Vice Director of the printing office, started out from New York yesterday to inspect the large printing, type founding and press building establishments of the United States. He hopes thereby to gain much valuable information.

HARRIMAN MAY LINK OCEANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Active buying of Baltimore and Ohio today sent the stock up above 109 and caused it to hug the price 110, at which it was scheduled to sell on this movement. It also caused talk that Harriman is accumulating the shares. Clement Curtis and Company received advices that Illinois Central is the real buyer and that time will show that that road will control the property. Whether this is true or not, only time can tell, but now that Harriman is an active factor in Erie it would not be out of line with his plan to make a Southern Pacific coast-to-coast system through Illinois Central and Baltimore and Ohio, leaving the Union Pacific to form another coast-to-coast line through the Erie and the Omaha line of the Illinois Central. Until Mr. Harriman announces his plan in detail no one will know just what is in store for Baltimore and Ohio.

A SPELLBINDER.

HOME-MADE LURE IS ENCHANTING.

BIG INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT IS VISITED BY THOUSANDS.

Tips for Those Who Want to Know What Southern California Is Making Are Abundant at the Panorama Rink—Glory of Its Many Details Viewed by Throngs.

Nothing but sights to see, nothing but food to eat, nothing but sounds to hear tells the story of the "Made in California" exhibit now going on at the Panorama rink on Main street. Even the entrance with its crowding humanity is worth the small price of admission, a dime, ten cents, showing on the one side the mighty stretch of country between here and Owens Lake, which will send its waters in Los Angeles homes in years to come, and on the other, the country with all its highways which are to be improved as rapidly as possible.

Once inside the exhibit proper it is scarcely possible to decide upon the path to be chosen first, each of them holding a glimpse of the alluring and all beckoning for first attention. Following the crowd, particularly the crowd of young people, fellows with their best girls and perhaps a number of newly-weds, the arrival at a trim little cottage is almost immediate. The outside with its miniature veranda looks good, the inside looks better. A living room, bedroom, with a disappearing bed, also a bathroom and incidentally a rug made here, placed in the cottage to be looked at, but used chiefly to trip over, then a little kitchen and back porch sufficiently large enough to protect Fido from the evening fog are opened for inspection.

Across the way a grate filled with red coals, slowly flickering their bluish flames, cause thoughts of way back home where the first snows are already flying and where coal is really a necessity. The cheapness of the coal dug at the back door of the city, here advertised, makes it almost a necessity also. A whole electric plant, generating its own "juice" and operating a pile-driver is interesting to a few, but the brilliant electric fountain playing its spray among the gilded flowers catches the eye of every one.

A little farther on a group of sturdy, bearded, heavy-looking chaps is sprinkled with a few more ardent youths pushing to the front, all watching the manipulations of a little pocket smelter, guaranteed to find gold even in a Main-street jewelry shop. The ohs and ahs of a young lady in gray wearing a directoire hat, the feathers of which cross half the pata, call attention to a beautiful bouquet of rarest flowers, beauty roses, chrysanthemums, brown-eyed Susans, "ad infinitum." Close inspection shows the roses to be merely beets, the "mums" large turnips, the Susans a radish centered with a piece of carrot, all so neatly carved that they might deceive a college professor, who had left his glasses at home.

From the heat of a kitchen where even the dish washing is done by girls born in California, it is only a step to the frigidity of the Arctic zone, a plant where ice is made while you wait and where ice cream is so warm it might melt in contrast. To view great sweeps of the country, San Pedro harbor, the entire cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco, is merely a matter of directing steps to the booth of a panoramic picture company where a wonderful display is shown.

Leather trunks holding four of the present-day ladies' hats (almost inconceivable to the ordinary male mortal) to trunks which will hold an entire wardrobe of at least an ordinary bride are shown beside the tiny steamer trunks, which are made more for the convenience of man than of woman. The beds that slide in the wall as well as those that stand against it, giving the appearance of a $40 mantelpiece to the ordinary everyday bed, that the man of wages can scarcely afford, are given an opportunity of proving their individual merits by close contrast. Along about this time mission furniture may attract attention and then comes a little art leather to embellish the walls or perhaps covers for the sofa cushion that Bill will propose to Belle on.

Appetites grown hungry find little trouble in being appeased. A pancake here, a waffle there, then a sack of home-made popcorn crisp, a biscuit and then a drink of steaming coffee or a glass of sparkling water top off almost a meal. Home-brewed beer and wine from the grapes that were planted as far back as the first padres and their missions, exalt their merits in different booths. After the appetite of the body has been appeased the call of the senses can easily be satiated by a stop near the band stand. The eyes become fascinated by the swaying of the leader and his fantastic hair, tossing and waving arms; the ears conduct the sounds of the melodious harmonies, over whose time he rules and the other senses are by that time completely forgotten.

Yesterday evening there were at least 3000 people in attendance at the exhibit. They came in automobiles, carriages, street cars and on foot.

Made in Los Angeles Valu

The growth in values of Los Angeles property during the [illegible] five years is the result of growth in population and [illegible] that Southern California has but started in the development [illegible] and future years will unquestionably show greater population [illegible] industrial growth, resulting in greater fortunes from [illegible] business property.

We quote from editorial in the Los Angeles Sunday Times:

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY HENCE.

We have been speaking about twenty-five years ago, at that time Los Angeles was little better than a [illegible] adobe pueblo. It is today a magnificent city. It is now approaching a population of a third of a million, being above a quarter of a million. If we look ahead twenty-five years, we believe the population at that time will be [illegible] times that of the present. Twenty-five years ago, two [illegible] city lots on the corner of what is now Broadway and [illegible] street were sold for a church, 120x165 feet, for $500. That property today is worth nearly as much per front foot [illegible] not quite that figure. It may not increase in value [illegible] in the next twenty-five years, and yet it is more likely [illegible] so than not. If it is worth today $5000 a front foot, when the city has a million population it is likely to be worth more than $10,000 a front foot. The population of San Francisco is not so very much larger than that of Los Angeles, and property in the business center of less depth than [illegible] here being considered was sold prior to the fire for $2500 a front foot, and could not be bought today for $10,000.

This class of property in Los Angeles is now divided and sold for individual investment through the Unit Ownership method of The Trustee Company. Three Los Angeles properties of an aggregate valuation of $2,000,000.00 have been so divided into investment [illegible] owned by over four hundred individual owners, each having [illegible] from a few hundred dollars up to $15,000.00 or $20,000.00.

This is direct ownership through deed without personal [illegible] taxes or assessments of any kind. Even if you are not able to own a business block entire, you can own one or more Units in such property proportionately in its growth and earning.

Class was forgotten in the attempt to look upon the things made here, the fine cut glass, glass of other variety or perhaps the various stones dug from the ground or found on the sands of the beaches of California. The little theater was packed three times before the final good night sign was flashed upon the curtain, and then many people wanted to remain, just for one more peek, one more sample or one more strain of music from the inside.

TAFT IN CINCINNATI.

President-elect Says Sudden Change in Plans Caused Solely by Private Business.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 16.—"My visit to Cincinnati is a matter of personal and family business. It has no relation to politics."

This statement tonight was the substance of what could be obtained from W. H. Taft, President-elect, who suddenly changed his plans yesterday at the White House and came to Cincinnati, instead of going to Hot Springs, Va.

In denying that his visit had any political significance, which, he said, included the Senatorial aspirations of his brother, Charles P. Taft, the President-elect declared there could be no possible public interest in his personal business affairs.

This positive statement reduces in value the political speculation on his suddenly-planned visit to this city. It was conjectured he had come either to induce his brother, Charles, to withdraw from the Senatorial race by offering him a diplomatic position, or to strengthen his brother's candidacy by offering certain information.

All doubt as to the fate of Deputy State Game Warden Salmonson, his brother Martin, and Deputy Sheriff Haseltine, who went to White Lake siding, near White Hall, Mich., Saturday in search of illegally-set nets, was settled yesterday by the finding of their bodies in the lake near where their overturned boat was found last night. They were evidently drowned by the capsizing of their boat.

Oklahoma Man Arrested for Murder Done Twenty Years Ago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VINITA (Okla.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rider Williams, alias William Stillman has been arrested at Porum, on a warrant charging him with a murder committed in Georgia twenty years ago. After coming to old Indian Territory, more than twelve years ago, Williams married and has a family now of three small children.

DEAL RESULTS IN SHOOTING.

Retired Hotel Man Shot on San Francisco Street by Attorney.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Hugh O'Neill, an attorney with offices in the Pacific building, shot and seriously wounded Michael Fachter, a retired hotel man, on Market street today. The two men had quarreled over a business transaction. Fachter was immediately taken to the Central Emergency Hospital. O'Neill is in a cell in the city prison.

Fachter declared that O'Neill had defrauded him in a real estate deal and made a demand upon him for money which he alleged was due him, when he met the attorney in the entrance of a building at No. 650 Market street. A quarrel ensued and Fachter, it is said, made a move as if about to strike O'Neill. The latter drew his revolver and fired two shots. One struck Fachter in the jaw and the other penetrated the right shoulder and came out of the back. Neither wound will prove fatal.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Chooses Death.

Robber Loots Hotel.

HAZEN (Nev.) Nov. 16.—Entering unobserved, while John Coffin, the proprietor, was poking the fire, a lone, masked highwayman held up twenty men at the Coffin and Grube Hotel here this morning. The robber forced one man to rifle the cash register and took $50, refusing a sack containing $200 in gold and jewels. He escaped in the darkness, catching a train passing at the time.

Miner Shoots Himself.

REDDING (Cal.) Nov. 16.—Al Hammerin, a Swedish miner, aged 36, committed suicide today in a saloon at Kennett. Watching his chance when the barkeeper was not looking, he slipped behind the bar, opened the drawer, pulled out a pistol and fired a bullet into the center of his forehead.

Celestial Kills Himself.

NEW WESTMINSTER (B. C.) Nov. 16.—Remorse following the shame of being arrested for drunkenness drove Jim Ling, a Chinese, to suicide. He was brought up in the police court last week and the case excited unusual interest because he was the first Chinese to be taken before the local magistrate on that charge. He pleaded guilty, and appeared to feel his position keenly. Today he cut his throat with a razor.

METROPOLITAN SEASON OPEN.

BRILLIANT AUDIENCE ATTENDS GRAND OPERA PREMIER.

Scenic Splendor Unparalleled in American Operatic Mounting—Toscanini Proves Veritable Napoleon of Orchestra — Destinn Scores Triumph.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Metropolitan Opera-house opened for the season tonight with a massive production of "Aida," and an immense and brilliant audience filled every corner of the great building. The occasion was made doubly auspicious by the inauguration of the two new managers, Andreas Dippel and Giulio Gatti-Casazza.

It is probable that nowhere in the world has a greater scenic mounting of Verdi's spectacular music-drama been presented. The settings for tonight have been worked upon all summer in European ateliers, and revealed a lavishness of fine detail, unparalleled in American operatic mounting. The Nile scene in particular was a triumph of light effects and general stagecraft that would have done credit to David Belasco. Thousands of dollars were spent in the procurement of correct and historical costumes and properties.

Particular musical honors of the evening should go to Arturo Toscanini of Scala, a little man who is a veritable Napoleon of orchestra. His magnetic mastery of a hundred men beneath his baton was a revelation of directoral genius such as is seldom seen in this country. He conducted the entire work from memory.

Emmy Destinn, the Bohemian soprano of brilliant voice and considerable dramatic talents, made her début in the title part, achieving a fully merited triumph. Caruso as Radames sang with volcanic force, frequently forcing his voice most violently. His personal triumph was great, however.

Two new basses, Didur and Rossi, were also heard.

The demand for seats was enormous, orchestra chairs bringing $50 in some cases.

INTERMARRIAGE DENOUNCED.

Rabbi and Catholic Father Plead for the Union of Co-religionists Only.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Israel Zangwill's advocacy of intermarriage of Jews and Christians has been answered in New York by Rabbi Dr. Samuel Schulman, who denounced the custom during his sermon at Temple Bethel yesterday.

Zangwill's plan, he asserted, would, if carried out, efface Judaism and destroy the Jewish minority in the United States in three generations. The result would be the annihilation of the purity and integrity of the Jewish religion and the unity of the home, he added.

Along similar lines Father McCloskey of St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, scored mixed marriages for Catholics. He said:

"We are confronted by the danger of perversion on the part of Catholics who give themselves to such a union. And it means spiritual ruin for the children of mixed parents. That fact must be taken into consideration with the figures of the last census, which gave the number as 75,000,000 people in this country. Of this number the statistics show that 50,000,000 when asked by the census takers professed no form of religion. They may be reckoned as infidels.

"Statistics show that 60 per cent. of men who marry non-Catholics give up their religion. The home life of a Catholic who marries a non-Catholic lacks that spiritual strength necessary to faith."

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The filing of the action was kept from public knowledge until after the election, but was made known here today.

The American Sugar Refining Company has filed a denial of the charges.

UPWARD START

After Changing from Coffee to Postum.

Many a talented person is kept back because of the interference of coffee with the nourishment of the body.

This is especially so with those whose nerves are very sensitive, as is often the case with talented persons. There is a simple, easy way to get rid of coffee evils and a Tenn. lady's experience along these lines is worth considering. She says:

"Almost from the beginning of the use of coffee it hurt my stomach. By the time I was fifteen I was almost a nervous wreck, nerves all unstrung, no strength to endure the most trivial thing, either work or fun.

"There was scarcely anything I could eat that would agree with me. This little I did eat seemed to give me more trouble than it was worth. I finally quit coffee and drank hot water, but there was so little food I could digest, I was literally starving; was so weak I could not sit up long at a time.

"It was then a friend brought me a hot cup of Postum. I drank part of it and after an hour I felt as though I had had comething to eat—felt strengthened. That was about five years ago and, after continuing Postum in place of coffee and gradually getting stronger, today I can eat and digest anything I want, walk as much as I want. My nerves are steady.

"I believe the first thing that did me any good and gave me an upward start, was Postum, and I use it altogether now instead of coffee." "There's a Reason."

GRAND PRIZE RACE ALLURES.

Fast Drivers and Speedy Cars Gather at Savannah.

Two Days' Racing Will Attract Motor World.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAVANNAH (Ga.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The race course was open today for fast cars and none others. The general public was excluded for three hours in the early afternoon and this plan will be followed every day until the races are held. Nearly every driver who is to compete in the two events had his car on the course and some fast preliminary work was done.

Hemery sent his Benz car three times around in 69 minutes. The course is 25 miles and 700 feet. De Palma, driving a Fiat, went the course in 23m. and 30s. Sziz sent his Renault around in 24m. and 5s. This was regarded as fair work for the first day's practice.

Robert Burman, driving a Buick light car, had a smash-up. He took one of the turns without making the proper allowances, skidded and struck a tree. The machine was wrecked, and Burman's arm was severely bruised. His mechanician, Grenan, was thrown thirty feet but escaped injury.

GOLD CUP RACE.

MOTOR WORLD INTERESTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAVANNAH (Ga.) Nov. 16.—The principal sporting event in the automobile world this fall will be the race for the grand prize under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America at Savannah, to be held on Thanksgiving Day, and the small car race to be run the day before Thanksgiving.

Both events will be over the public roads of Chatham county, the short car race being over a course practically ten miles in length, and that for the larger cars being over a specially constructed course. The big race will be 400 miles in length, and that for small cars 200 miles. The prize in the big event will be a gold cup valued at $5000 donated by the Automobile Club of America.

Both events are international in scope, and there are now on the grounds drivers from Italy, France, Germany and America.

The big race is known officially as "The Grand Prize Race" and the smaller one as the "International Light Car Race."

The greatest interest is felt in the grand prize race in which the most famous drivers and cars in the world will compete. There are twenty entries and drivers and machines are already on the ground.

The course is closed to the public for two hours each day, and during that time it is occupied by the drivers, who are learning its curves and getting acquainted with its general conditions. Camps have been located at different points along the course by all of the entrants, and from this date until the day the race is run, there will be busy times in all of these.

The course is perfectly level and was built by convict labor, and surfaced with Augusta gravel, a composition that admits of rapid speed.

It is expected that several new world's records will be hung up in the big event. Those who have witnessed races over the Vanderbilt Cup course, and at Ormond Beach, declare that the best time on these courses will be eclipsed by the drivers on Thanksgiving Day.

The Ormond Beach record is 77 miles an hour. It is believed that almost 85 miles an hour will be made by the winner over the Savannah course.

The course for the long and short races will be carefully guarded by State militia, who have been ordered out by the Governor of Georgia for the two days. That this is the only practical method of guarding an automobile race course has already been demonstrated. Last spring when there was an automobile race in Savannah the course was guarded perfectly.

INTERNATIONAL.

Being international in character the race is attracting attention widely beyond the confines of the United States. Invitations have been extended the President of the United States and the members of his Cabinet to attend, and also to the Emperor of Germany, the King of Italy and the President of France.

There will be visitors from all sections of the United States, New York especially being well represented. Special steamers will run from New York and Philadelphia to bring the large crowds expected, and there will be special trains from New York and other points.

A feature of the occasion will be the entertainment of representatives of automobile clubs from many cities within a radius of 500 miles of Savannah. Atlanta, Augusta, Macon, Charleston and other large cities will send representatives to the races, and the smaller towns of Georgia will also have their delegations present.

The people of Savannah are interested in making the event a success. Many have thrown open their homes to the expected visitors.

A bureau of information has been established at the Union Depot, and all trains will be met by official attendants during the week preceding the races.

LIST OF ENTRIES.

The judges of the two races will be chosen from among the members of the Automobile Club of America and the Savannah Automobile Club. They will be announced in a few days.

The following cars and drivers have been entered for the grand prize race:

America—Lozier, driver, Michenor; Acme, driver, Leonard Zengle; Chadwick, driver, Willie Houpt; Simplex, driver, Seymour; National, driver, Hugh Harding; Buick, driver not chosen.

OTHER RACES.

The international light car race entries include:

Italy—One Isotta and one Luncia.

France—One Gregoire, one S.P.O. Robertson, the winner of the Vanderbilt cup race, will drive the Gregoire in the small-car race, and it is expected he will drive the Buick in the big race.

Strang, who is to drive a French Renault in the grand prize, won the Savannah trophy in the chassis race of last March. It is hoped to get these drivers pitted against each other.

Nazzaro, who will drive a Fiat, is credited with having made the fastest time ever made in a road race, when he went 74.3 miles an hour at Bologne, Italy. Wagner, who will also drive a Fiat, won the Vanderbilt cup race a year ago. DePalma, another Fiat driver, holds the world's record for a mile on a circular track.

DOGS OUTRUN HORSE.

Sports of Nome Bet Heavily on Ten-Mile Race Across the Snow for Big Purse.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 16.—A special from Nome says: One of the most interesting races ever witnessed on Seward Peninsula, and perhaps the most unique that has occurred for years, was a race between a race horse and a dog team here Saturday, the dog team winning by fifty seconds, in a ten-mile course.

Ben Freymer, on Jake Berger's mare Dolly celebrated in Alaska, raced with Coke Hill's dog team from this city to the mouth of Dexter Creek and return, a distance of ten miles.

The trail was in good shape and time was made by both horse and dogs. The mare slipped on a hillside and last some ground.

WOMAN FOOTBALL REFEREE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 16.—Lillian Merrill, a school teacher at Kalama, Wash., has had the unique distinction of refereeing a football game played by men.

High school teams representing Kalama and Castle Rock played in the former town last Saturday and Miss Merrill was the referee. Her work was satisfactory to both teams.

More than this, Miss Merrill coaches basketball and football teams in the Kalama schools. She is well versed on the rules of both games and when in college was a star basketball player.

Athletic Club Show.

The members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club are planning to give a minstrel show at the Mason Opera-house early in February in honor of the baseball team and rowing crew More than a hundred members are to participate in the entertainment, and many new stunts will be given.

Queer Football Dope.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 16.—The Santa Ana High School football team figures that the dope sheet gives it a claim to the championship of Southern California, or at least an equal claim with any other team. Occidental College beat Los Angeles High School, which tied St. Vincent's. U.S.C. beat Occidental. U.S.C. and Pomona College tied. Santa Ana High School defeated Pomona College 9 to 0. So far this year the local team has not been defeated. Next Saturday it will play the Harvard Military Academy here, and hopes for a game with Los Angeles High School later in the year.

Philadelphia Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Klauss of Pittsburgh won a fast bout from Jack Fitzgerald in the wind-up at the West End A. C., tonight before a fair-sized crowd of spectators. It was Klauss's battle from the start. He forced the fighting continually and never let up boring in on Fitzgerald, who at times showed indications of quitting, but succeeded in pulling himself together and weathered the bout through.

Derkum Motorcycle Meet.

Ascot Park is being put into shape for the Derkum benefit motorcycle meet Sunday. An added attraction will be an open event for single cylinder machines which will bring out a fast field. Indications point to a large attendance. The entry list already numbers twenty-seven, among the riders being several well known local men.

A special cablegram from London says: Lady William Beresford, formerly Mrs. Louis Hammersley of New York, and later the wife of the eighth Duke of Marlborough, is ill at her residence—Deepdene, Dorking. No name is given to her illness, but for several days her life has been despaired of. For the last few years she has been living almost all the time in the seclusion of Deepdene, only coming to London for the opera season.

TROUT.

STATE FISHERY CAR DISTRIBUTES CARGO.

THE State fish car, which arrived in the city from the State fishery at Sissons Sunday morning, completed the round of distribution of the canned fish yesterday, as scheduled, and the 74,000 trout fry are now feeding in a hundred pools along the mountain creeks and streams of the Southern California ranges.

As the car was unable to reach all the points of destination desired, the consignments for Banning, Oceanside, Orange and Riverside were forwarded by the regular trains, while the State car touched all the scheduled points reached by the Southern Pacific Railroad to San Bernardino.

Deputy Commissioner H. I. Pritchard superintended the local distribution and assisted R. W. Requa, who has charge of the car, to deal out the cans of fry. Assistant Deputy J. C. Wray of San Pedro and Deputy James H. Boyd of San Bernardino also accompanied the party.

The car first touched at Bassett, where 2000 steelhead trout were turned over to E. J. Baldwin, and will be put in the Santa Anita Creek above Monrovia.

George E. Little received 2000 steelhead trout for Mission Creek back of Whittier, and R. J. Dawson was given 4000 rainbow and 2000 steelhead fry to be put in the upper West Fork of the San Gabriel River.

The Main San Gabriel will be well stocked, 10,000 rainbow fry being placed there by H. W. O'Melveny. At Pomona, 4000 rainbow fry were turned over to W. M. Avis for the Wolfskill Creek above Claremont, and W. G. Kerkhoff received 8000 rainbow fry for the San Antonio Creek.

Twenty-five cans of Lock Levon, rainbow and steelhead fry were turned over to Deputy Boyd at San Bernardino, and the fry will be distributed as follows: Mill Creek, 4000 rainbow trout; City Creek, 1000 rainbow trout; Little Bear Valley, 2000 Lock Levon trout; Town Creek, 1000 rainbow trout; Green Valley, 1000 rainbow trout; Plunge Creek, 1000 rainbow trout; Devil's Cañon, 1000 rainbow trout; Lytle Creek, 1000 rainbow trout; Cucamonga Creek, 1000 rainbow trout; Santa Ana River, 4000 rainbow trout.

The Banning consignment of 4000 rainbow fry will be put in the White Water, Cold Water, San Jacinto, Snow and Edgar Creeks. San Diego county will receive a generous consignment of 8000 rainbow fry for the streams of the Smith Mountains. In the vicinity of San Jacinto 4000 steelhead and 4000 rainbow fry will be distributed among the Strawberry, Dark Cañon and White Water Creeks.

Orange county received 4000 rainbow fry for use in the Santiago, Trabuca, Silverado and San Juan Capistrano streams.

The fry were remarkably well preserved considering the long trip from the northern part of the State, and but a very small percentage—less than a half of 1 per cent. succumbed to the slosh of the water as the car rolled along the tracks.

The "death rate," as it might be termed, among the eastern brook trout is practically nil, and superintendent Requa, stated that out of several million fry handled in the last two years he had not lost over fifty in transportation. This variety of trout are wise enough to feed in the bottom of the cans where they escape the constant slosh of the water as the car rocks from side to side, while the other varieties remain near the top of the cans, and consequently more of those fry die in transit.

The modern method of oxygenating the water in the cans automatically by pumping, insures to the fry fresh water constantly, and as long as the cans are kept in motion in transit from the car to the final place of deposit, it has been found that an exceedingly small number of the fry are lost.

The temperature of the local mountain streams is now at a low enough degree to insure vitality to the fry, and by the time the water again becomes warm in the heat of the summer or next year the fry will have attained sufficient size to enable them to withstand the torpid water.

The men to whom the fry has been consigned have gone to great pains to build dams at many points in the upper reaches of the mountain streams thus forming pools in which the minature trout can be sure of feed in comparative quiet water.

DOGS.

DOG SOCIETY TO BE FORMED.

Owners Propose to Secure Proper Protection.

Thieves and Poisoners to Be Prosecuted Quickly.

To secure protection to dog owners from theft and poisoning of valuable animals is the purpose of a dog protective association which will be organized this evening by local dog owners at a meeting called by W. G. L. Tucker at the Hollenbeck Hotel.

Temporary officers have been named as follows: J. W. Brooks, president; Billy Hammel, vice-president; W. G. L. Tucker, secretary and treasurer. The interested dog owners hope to secure a permanent organization tonight, either independent or associated with the county official societies.

The recent developments in the long controversy over the control of dog license privilege which resulted in granting that sanction to the Humane Society, has diverted a large proportion of the license revenue into the treasury of the Humane Society, and incidentally reduced the number of "killings" at the city pound to a minimum.

But the point of more vital interest to the dog owners, that of additional protection from detention, theft, and poisoning, has been overlooked, it is claimed, and the dog owner must pay the license in order to retain his animal and in return is not guaranteed the real protection desired.

Many dogs have a value in excess of horses, yet apparently the dog thief is given no attention ordinarily, and in comparison to the penalty inflicted on conviction of stealing a horse, the punishment is light. The man who steals a valuable dog is given a brief sentence on the chain gang, while the horse thief is generally sent to the penitentiary for a long term.

Again it is pointed out by dog owners that in case of dog poisoning though the direct or circumstantial evidence is strong, the court, too often brings in the verdict of "not guilty."

It is argued that every dog owner has a right to demand that his dog be absolutely protected by city and county officials if the owner pays his special dog tax and personal property taxes.

The persons interested in the proposed protective association hope to attain the desired protection so that it will not be necessary for the dog owners to offer a large reward in case of theft, and further that all cases of poisoning will be rigidly prosecuted by the county officials.

It is claimed that such protection is in force in several eastern States, and W. G. L. Tucker, the temporary secretary of the local organization, is confident that similar legislation can be secured in California, and to that end he desires all dog owners to be present at the meeting which will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in order that they may acquaint themselves with the plan of action.

The plan of protection as proposed by Secretary Tucker was originated and operated by him in Minnesota and is briefly stated as follows: The dog owner files a registration blank with the association giving a full description of the animal and a sketch of the dog. In case of theft the secretary of the association sends out duplicate notices of the description of the lost dog, together with an engravure, to all the police officers and mail carriers of the city, and offers a reward of $10 or thereabouts for the apprehension of the offender.

In case of poisoning a special officer is detailed on the case, and every effort is made to catch the perpetrator of the crime. The post carriers work in league with the officers, giving tips to the location of the lost animal which often lead to a speedy apprehension of the criminal and payment of reward. While the plan is simple, the results are claimed to be satisfactory, and every effort will be made to start such a movement in Southern California.

SECESSION.

ATHLETIC UNION BREAKS AWAY.

AMERICANS REFUSE DOMINATION OF BRITISHERS.

Disqualification of J. C. Carpenter in Olympic Games Caused the Trouble With the Parent Association—Meeting of Yankee Officials Upholds Sullivan.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, which met here today in annual convention, declined to recognize the disqualification of J. C. Carpenter by the Amateur Athletic Association of Great Britain, which occurred after the Olympic games.

The Union also declared that athletes registered with the Union shall not be allowed to compete in international competitions until the management of the events is approved by the Amateur Athletic Union of America.

The report of James E. Sullivan of the Olympic games was read. The Union then adopted a resolution giving its hearty indorsement and indorsing Mr. Sullivan's actions and those of the American Athletic Committee in the matter of the withdrawal of Carpenter, Taylor and Robbins from the final of the 400-meter race. James E. Sullivan was reelected president.

ALL SETTLED.

PAPKE AND KETCHEL SIGN WITH COFFROTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel tonight signed a new set of articles through their respective managers agreeing to a twenty-round fight before Jim Coffroth's Mision-street club on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day, the weight to be 158 pounds three hours before the contest.

The financial terms were not announced, but before the conference which resulted in making the match, Tom Jones, manager of Papke, announced that Jack Gleason had offered him $12,000, win, lose or draw, and that if Coffroth would do as well he would sign. The presumption is that Coffroth gave in to Jones.

Jack Welsh was selected as the referee, his name being proposed to Jones and agreed to by O'Connor.

Gleason was in conference with Jones earlier in the evening, but, although he stated he had an engagement with O'Connor, the latter denied this, and did not meet the San Francisco promoter. Just what steps Gleason will take remains to be seen. He will certainly take steps to secure the $1000 forfeit that was posted by O'Connor.

BOXING.

HITTING ROADS IN DAILY WORK.

BIG FIGHTERS PLUGGING ALONG FOR TUESDAY'S BATTLE.

Flynn and Johnson to Have Third Argument Over Short Distance Route at McCarey's Pavilion—Webster-Fisher Bout Looks to Be Best of the Big Show.

Jim Flynn and Battling Johnson put in a busy period yesterday training for their ten-round boxing contest at McCarey's pavilion next Tuesday evening.

Johnson did ten miles on the road near San Pedro in the early morning, and later in the day he appeared at the San Pedro Athletic Club gymnasium and took a turn at all the apparatus provided for the fighters' use. He boxed three rounds with Eddie Miller and two with Soldier Sullivan. Bat weighed 192 after his rub-down, and declared that he was feeling better than at any time since he entered the fight game.

Flynn also went on the road and reeled off nine miles before he returned to Eastside. In the afternoon he took up his work at the athletic club gym and put in an hour's toil punching the bag, skipping the rope, shadow work, and ending up with three rounds with the mits, using Danny Webster and Johnny O'Keefe for sparring partners.

Jim Flynn and Battling Johnson, ten rounds.

Danny Webster and Walter Fisher, ten rounds.

Frank Mantell and Roy Page, six rounds.

Arthur Collins and Jim Cameron, six rounds.

Cameron has been anxious to show the fight fans that his victories over Frank Holbrook do not constitute the full value of his boxing, and he readily consented to meet the clever Collins over the short route. Collins is admittedly a fast fighter, and Cameron will find out just how good he is in the encounter between the two on the 24th of the month.

The bout between Danny Webster and Walter Fisher is exciting all sorts of comment. There are many who believe Fisher has run against a snag in tackling a classy fighter like Webster, but the San Bernardino lad is full of confidence, and as he is yet unbeaten he is perfectly willing to take a chance with Webster, especially as the two are to meet at catch-weights.

Fenner Returns.

F. C. Fenner returned from Phoenix yesterday. He is proud of the victory of the White steamer and says he is more than ever in love with Black Bess.

A special cablegram from Rome says it is learned from a trustworthy source that President Roosevelt is planning to take his family to Rome in 1910. Inquiries, it adds, are now being made for a suitable villa and this, it is thought, indicates a long stay in Italy.

The International Institute of Agriculture, the movement for which was initiated by David Lubin of Sacramento, Cal., inaugurated its labors in Rome yesterday, with a meeting attended by delegates from forty-six countries. The United States is represented by Ambassador Griscom, David Lubin, Dr. C. C. Clark, W. E. Hill, G. J. Holmes and William Stuart.

BIG PRICE TO SUPPRESS NEWS.

German Government Paid $50,000 to Kill Emperor's Interview, It Is Reported.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A leading Berlin paper, Die Welt Am Montag, publishes what it claims is an authoritative statement that the imperial government paid $50,000 to suppress the interview with the Kaiser which William Hayard Hale secured, and which was to have been published in an American magazine.

The paper says the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Hale were parties in the negotiations for suppression.

The Emperor's critic demands to know whether any of this money came from taxpayers.

Emperor William is due to arrive at Pottsdam tomorrow at 8 o'clock in the morning. He will have an audience with Chancellor Von Buelow in the morning.

It is pointed out today in well-informed quarters that some of the newspapers of Germany have adopted a prematurely optimistic tone regarding the outcome of this meeting.

Much depends on the personal mood of His Majesty, and in this connection the apt remark has been made:

"We know how such an audience will begin, but we cannot foresee its conclusion."

Officials are hopeful that the situation will be cleared up.

WISE TALKS BY THE "OFFICE BOY"

Andrew Carnegie, in addressing the graduating class of Stephens Institute, said: "Young man, make your mark in something. If you are to write an article for one dollar, and sell one for two dollars, stamp it with your name, make the public feel that your name stands for quality, you are a manufacturer. If you make an article that you are ashamed to put your name to, your trade-mark or, what is better, that name as carefully and as credibly as you would make the selling price, and if you make it consistent with good business, then create a reputation, and your fortune is made. Thousands of men have failed, not because they were not making money enough, so they thought, but because their product just a little not quite right, but they were in a hurry to get rich. The difference between success and failure is often no greater than the turn of a hand. Well-known men who were compelled to adopt some plan to increase their sales—perhaps to double their goods up and put on a big discount—with fatal results to the public are quick to condemn dishonest methods. I myself disliked many of the methods of exposing the methods, when I was told that they were generally used (commercially speaking). After all, there is only one way to make a permanent success, and that is to be honest. That's the old, old story. Silverwood says it this way.

[illegible] CLAREMONT.

[illegible] WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The balloon "United States" passed over here at 5:15. It approached from due west, about 300 feet in the air and going at a slow rate. At about the center of town it rose a little higher and caught a current that took it to the east, one point south of east, at a rate of about twenty miles an hour.

GOOD CURRENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIMAS, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The balloon passed here at 4:50. It was 400 feet high and was traveling east in a good current.

HITS ORANGE TREE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COVINA, Nov. 16.—The giant bag passed directly over the town, about two hundred feet above the buildings. Wild, the aëronaut, pointed his megaphone at the crowd, and shouted: "The balloon United States on its way to New York. We are going all right." The men were kept busy shoveling out sand all during the time the balloon was in sight as the great bag persisted in dragging its pendant anchor just above the housetops and orange groves. Just beyond the town the drag-rope entangled in an orange tree, and the bag swayed for a moment, but proceeded on its way. Just as the balloon floated over the business part of the town a message came down like a plummet and was picked up by Earl Marshall, a small urchin who was nearly struck on the head by the missile. The message read: "We tried 10,000 altitude-wind took us back to the ocean." This was signed by Wild and Leroyxes. The aëronauts proceeded in the direction of San Dimas, making straight for the San Bernardino gap, but flying low.

NEAR THE GROUND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL MONTE, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The United States passed here at 4:15. They seemed to have some trouble and came to within fifty feet of the ground twice. When last seen it was traveling in a northeasterly direction at about twenty-five or thirty miles per hour.

GOOD GET-AWAY.

STARTS FIRST FOR OCEAN.

The United States got away very gracefully at 12:30 o'clock yesterday, but for a time it looked as though Capt. Wild, and his assistant, Frank Leroyzex, would have the same trouble as Capt. Mueller and Hutchinson yesterday. After rising upward for a thousand feet and drifting west, the balloon started directly south and went to the outskirts of the city. Soon it veered about under good management and started northeast, passing a trifle south of Pasadena and then turning eastward.

After getting up in the air the balloon was becalmed, and then started to drop rapidly. Wild threw out almost two bags of sand, and then the balloon went several hundred feet higher before starting on its southerly course. An ocean current was struck and the big gas bag began its eastward journey, but not before it started to drop again and caused more loss of sand.

Wild kept to his prearranged plan of hugging the ground as closely as possible, and in many cases his drag rope trailed the tree tops. He got away with thirty-five bags of sand, and it is believed that it did not take more than ten of this to get him out of the valley and over the mountains. If he was able to keep up until morning without losing a great amount of sand, he should have a great day of it, as the heat of the desert should expand the gas in the balloon and send it to a great height.

HOPES ARE DASHED.

Capt. Mueller and Hutchinson had a great fight of it, and in order to save themselves from almost certain death in the ocean, came to the ground near Hermosa Beach at 3:15 yesterday morning. Mueller had to pull the rip-cord for a quick descent, and the balloon fell fast. He had but one bag of sand left, and decided not to take greater risk in going out over the water.

The aëronauts started out four times over the water, the greatest distance being about five miles. At one time they came within a twenty feet of the surface of the ocean before they decided to sacrifice sand. At another time they went out two miles; then again they skirted the beach.

After coming to Los Angeles during the night, the balloon made another circle toward the ocean. In all, the balloon covered more than 200 miles and remained in the air twelve hours. Mueller's handling of the balloon is considered by aëronauts here as magnificent.

POPE CELEBRATES HIS FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Seventy Thousand Catholics, Including Royalty and Representatives of Many Nations Fill Holy City to Witness Most Impressive Service Since Coronation of Pontiff.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ROME, Nov. 16.—A pontifical mass was celebrated this morning by the Pope on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his joining the priesthood. It was the most impressive ceremony witnessed in Rome since the coronation of the pontiff.

There were present not less than 70,000 of the faithful, who had come to Rome from all parts of the world.

Tribunes had been erected only for the Pope's sisters, the members of royal families, the diplomatic corps and the special missions sent by the heads of States. The rest of the people were admitted by ticket.

Order was maintained outside St. Peters by the municipal police and Italian troops while inside the building the pontifical gendarmes saw to the proper seating of the crowds.

Among the members of the royal families in the tribune set aside for their use were Grand Duke Alexander and Grand Duchess Celia of Russia and Princess Mathilde of Saxony.

The special envoys, clad in brilliant uniforms, included Prince Hohenthoe-Barlstein, representing Bavaria; Prince Schwartzberg, representing Austro-Hungary; Baron Schoriemer, representing Germany, and Duke Bella Conquista, the Spanish emissary.

The basilica was radiant inside the building with thousands of electric lights and candles. The papal procession was most magnificent and brought together a large variety of handsome and rich court costumes. The bishops were clad in purple and the cardinals in red.

High above the heads of the high church dignitaries rose the papal chair, upon which the pontiff, dressed almost entirely in white, was seated. The chair was decorated by the famous feather fans, and as the Pope progressed he imparted his blessing to the kneeling crowds. There were thirty-four cardinals and 300 bishops in the procession.

The United States was represented by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis, Bishop Allen of Mobile, the Most Rev. Robert Seton, titular archbishop of Heliopolis of Newark; Monseigneur Kennedy, rector of the American College here; Manager John Farrell, spiritual director of the American College; the Rev. George W. Mundelein, chancellor of the diocese of Brooklyn, as well as a number of American students, and a large contingent of American visitors.

Cardinal Rampolla, as the archpriest of St. Peters, received the Pope at the entrance to the basilica.

The choir of the Sistine Chapel under the direction of Abbe Perosi, rendered the music, which was most beautiful. The Pope celebrated mass at the high altar, standing above the shrine of St. Peters. At the conclusion of the mass, he imparted his solemn benediction to the vast congregation. It was an impressive moment, and every one within the portals of St. Peters was deeply touched by the solemnity of the occasion.

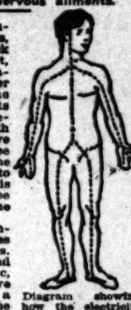
ELECTROPODES

The Wonderful Electric Cure.

Your Druggist Will Sign the Contract With You

Agreeing to refund your money if Electropodes fail to cure Rheumatism in any form, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Headache and all Nervous ailments.



Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headaches, Kidney trouble, back aches, weak heart, sleeplessness, lumbago, stomach and liver troubles, all drain the human system of its nerve force. To recharge the body with this wasted nerve force, you must use electricity. And the only way known to science by which this electric force can be applied is through the use of Electropodes.

Electropodes are insulated metals insoles worn in the shoes. One is of copper and the other of zinc, making the positive and negative of a galvanic battery. The nerves act as the connecting wires between the two poles. The current flows up through the limb and body and down the other limb to the copper under the other foot, thus giving a mild, soothing current of electricity the entire day.

Electropodes are worn in the shoes. They cure you while you walk. If they do not cure kidney, liver and stomach troubles, make cold feet warm, remove bad odors from the feet and arm pits, return them to the druggist who sold them to you and get your money back.

Go to your druggist today. Pay $1.00 for a pair of Electropodes and he will sign a contract with you, agreeing to refund your money if they fail to cure any of the ailments we mention. If your druggist has not got them, send his name and address to the Western Wholesale Drug Company, Wholesale Distributors, 237-243 South Los Angeles St., Los Angeles, and we will see that you are supplied.

OXFORD SQUARE

LOTS $1000 AND UPWARD.

Oxford Square is a most aristocratic subdivision in the popular Wilshire District. It has every modern improvement and sells on sight. The handsome residences completed and under construction indicate the character of the neighborhood developing there.

Lots are large and sightly, 171 feet deep and as wide as you like them. The street improvements have been made under the latest restrictions. The walks are wide and the parking between the walk and curb permit the most elaborate landscape decoration. Ornamental trees and large palms are planted and growing. Massive concrete corner pillars surmounted by artistic electroliers grace the corner intersections. In the midst of a naturally beautiful section commanding the Sierras and the Coast hills, and with a most excellent car service and a 5-cent fare, Oxford Square appeals to every refined and cultivated taste as an ideal home spot second to none in all Greater Los Angeles and lots are priced lower now than ever they will be again this side of eternity. Go see Oxford Square and act now. Sales are being made rapidly because of the unusual attractiveness of the situation, the price and terms, and high-class improvements.

"At least you might have answered my letter!"

"Letter!" she repeated, also in a whisper. "What letter?"

"I wrote it the morning after the fancy ball, and enclosed it in one to Mrs. Tudor."

"Ah! well, I never received it;" then, with an effort, "I suppose she put it in the fire, and—I believe she did what she thought was best for me."

"And what about me, Mademoiselle?" and his voice was seduction itself.

"Oh! you can take excellent care of yourself, Monsieur le Marquis."

"So you are still jealous!—always, always jealous?"

After this there was a long silence; the attention of both was presumably concentrated on the action of the piece. Under cover of that plaintive melody, "Chant des Voyageurs," he presently murmured:

"Mademoiselle, is the error of one hour to be the sorrow of a life?"

During the succeeding interval Mrs. Tudor noticed the couple talking together with ease and animation. Paul had exercised all his charm of voice and eye and gesture. Undoubtedly his fascination was wonderful!—she had experienced it herself.

And he was so daring, too! Here was the girl whom he had almost jilted, and publicly slighted, accepting the loan of his glasses with a radiant smile and listening to what he was saying with an air of charmed attention.

"When may I see you again?" he inquired, as the last act drew to a close. "Tomorrow? Tomorrow will be Sunday, and it is such a dull day in London for a foreigner, you know. May I come to tea?"

Hester, in a state of highly wrought impressionability, reflected for a moment. Mrs. Tudor's anger crossed her thoughts. Nevertheless, she resolved to brave her, and replied:

"Oh, you can come if you please. I dare say we shall be in—some time in the afternoon."

It was not a particularly gracious invitation, but Paul was sensible that he had made an immense stride in the direction of the heirloom. When the ladies rose to depart he helped them with their wraps, escorted them upstairs, called their carriage, and handed them into it. As they drove off, an old dowager, to whom Mrs. Tudor had offered a seat, exclaimed:

"Dear me, Laura, who is your handsome cavalier? Why, he is like a picture!"

"He is a Spaniard," she replied—"the Marquis de Sarazin, who has come over to London on business."

"He does not give me the idea of a business man."

"And I dare say a bit of a lady-killer, too, eh, Miss Forde?" and she gave Hester a little playful poke with her fan.

"Yes, I dare say," she answered mechanically.

"I don't intend to see much of him!" declared Mrs. Tudor, with an air of determination. "He is a dangerous flirt. I will not be responsible for introducing him to girls."

"I have asked him to tea tomorrow," announced a faint voice.

"What! Oh, not really, Hester! If the truth were known, I feel confident that he invited himself."

"Well, it was a little like it, I must confess," she answered, with a laugh of relief.

The afternoon went off harmoniously. Paul de Sarazin was made welcome in Mrs. Tudor's refined and luxurious home; he encountered no gibes or hard knocks, but sauntered round the drawing-room with his hostess, criticising her pictures with considerable intelligence, bantering her about her Spanish curios, and complimenting her on her bargains. He admired her large Persian cat, ingratiated the creature, and altogether made himself agreeably at home. Before he took his departure he said in a casual way:

"On Tuesday I have a few friends dining with me at the Cariton—some of the legation, the Sevanos," and, looking at Mrs. Tudor, "old Prince Zorki, a flame of yours, dear lady. Will you and Miss Forde honor me?—and afterwards I will take you to the opera to hear Calvé in 'Carmen.' I have a box."

Mrs. Tudor was beginning an elaborate excuse, but with a protesting gesture he silenced her.

"Dear madam, I have dined with you in France, you have dined with me in Spain; no, surely you will not refuse me the favor in your own country. Think of it again—you know you like the Spanish—you will say 'Yes'—the feast will be as a fast without you—and Miss Forde."

"Go away," said the old lady playfully. "I am sure you want to get something out of me." (No—not from her!)

"You will say 'Yes?'" he urged, his fine eyes eloquent and persuasive, his hand on hers.

"Oh, very well, then—I suppose I must."

"A million thanks; at 8 o'clock I shall await you."

And lifting Mrs. Tudor's fingers to his lips, and with a bow to Hester, he went away.

As soon as Paul de Sarazin had gained the street he said to himself:

"It will be a smart affair—they will understand that—and perhaps she may be tempted to wear the necklace!"

JUDGE PICKS WOMAN.

Boston Court Appoints Her to Manage Big Shoe Factory Over Male Competitors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The value and status of the working woman were boosted another notch when Judge Chamberlain yesterday appointed a Brockton business woman in preference to male competitors to have complete charge of the big $500,000 shoe factory of the late R. N. Packard, who died recently without a will. His death left his heirs, a brother and two sisters, one of the latter blind, who are wholly without knowledge of the shoe business. Mrs. Jennie L. Doane, formerly secretary to Mr. Packard, was made special administratrix. She is the first woman to manage a shoe factory.

In accordance with the wish which most Chinese in this country express before they die, the bodies of 174 Celestials are being disinterred at Cypress Hill Cemetery on Long Island today to be prepared for shipment to China for final rest. It has been seven years since the last consignment of bodies was sent in this manner.

Several opportunities to purchase desirable properties on a small cash payment came to him.

But he was unable to grasp them because he did not have sufficient ready money.

He realized that only a few hundred dollars stood between him and the object of his ambition, and determined to save the amount.

He opened a Savings Account with this Bank and added to it regularly.

The interest it earned also swelled the fund, which in a few years was sufficient to enable him to acquire his ranch.

This property is now earning enough to cover his deferred payments on it. It is taking care of itself.

Meanwhile he is depositing a portion of his salary here every month—building a fund against the time he decides to give up his position and begin living on his ranch.

Opportunities come along frequently—but cannot be grasped because the small amount of ready money needed is not at hand.

Persistent saving will build an opportunity fund — much more quickly than you realize.

We Boost Home Products

Confidence the Foundation Dependable Goods the Keystone of Our Success

THE management of this business is in hearty accord with the Chamber of Commerce "Prosperity Week" idea. Eighty employees in this establishment are also with the movement, and each one of us spends individually all he or she can for home products.

In accordance with our past policy we cannot very well handle any article that we cannot fully guarantee to our customers, and our guarantee must be backed by that of the manufacturer, and in so far as Los Angeles or near-by manufacturing concerns are able to produce a dependable article they can depend on our support. We are glad to say that there are a number of local manufactured articles that we feel safe in guaranteeing. Among the list of goods we handle are brass beds, willow furniture, kitchen furniture, mattresses and couches. These are all "Made in Los Angeles."

We make our own window shades from shade cloth manufactured in Los Angeles.

We are glad to endorse these lines and to recommend them strongly to our customers. We feel that local support given to a reliable home product will materially aid that industry while it is smal, and enable it to enlarge its business and eventually bring into this city orders from distant points, which will mean for this city increase in business, increase in development work, increase in the number of employees, increase in wages paid—INCREASED PROSPERITY.

Los Angeles has as fine stores as are to be found anywhere in the United States, and the stocks of merchandise carried will compare favorably with the BEST.

There is no good excuse for sending East for any commodity and many good reasons why our Home Stores should have the patronage.

Federal Building.

O. J. Muchmore, superintendent of construction for the new Federal building at North Main and Temple streets, stated yesterday, that the building will not be ready for occupancy before July, 1910. He believes that it will be impossible to move the postoffice to the new quarters in advance of the completion of the structure, because of the fact that the greatest amount of interior work is to be done on the first two floors where the postal department is to be located. The granite work will be completed about December 1, and the emplacement of the superstructure of sandstone will then begin. The last of the structural iron work will be in place by the middle of next month.

OURS TO CONTROL.

STATE'S HANDS OFF SAN PEDRO HARBOR.

Legislative Committee Looks Into Situation and Recommends Against Appointing Commission—Accedes to Unanimous Local Request.

"YOUR committee finds no reason at this time for the appointment of a State Harbor Commission for San Pedro. There are no duties for the commission to perform, and there is no revenue to pay the expenses of such commission."

This is the first draft of the recommendation of the State Legislative Committee on Harbors concerning a proposed bond issue of $1,500,000 for the improvement of San Pedro and Wilmington harbors, and the creation of a State Harbor Commission for this port.

The committee accedes to the unanimous request of the civic and commercial bodies of Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro that the State shall adopt a policy of "hands off" at San Pedro, leaving the development of the great free harbor to Los Angeles and the other municipalities about the bay in place of to the State.

This recommendation was adopted here yesterday afternoon at an executive session of the Legislative Committee, after listening all morning to arguments for and against State control. The chambers of commerce of Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro are all opposed to a State bond issue or State control for San Pedro.

BONDS FOR OTHERS.

The committee has decided to recommend a State bond issue of $10,000,000 for San Francisco harbor, and an issue of $1,500,000 for San Diego. The committee held its closing session yesterday afternoon. Senator L. E. Wright of San Diego, chairman, is now engaged in completing the final draft of the recommendations of the committee to be sent to the State Printer.

An issue of $1,500,000 of State bonds for San Pedro harbor sounds alluring, but the commercial bodies here decided quickly that it was advanced as a tempting bait to draw them into consenting to State control. The bond issue means only an extension of State credit, as the bonds must be redeemed wholly from the harbor dues. They agree that the credit of the cities about San Pedro Bay is amply sufficient to secure all the funds necessary for harbor development.

In return for the "hands off" policy the commercial bodies here have agreed to lend their support to the proposal to vote State bonds for San Francisco and San Diego. These bonds must be redeemed from the harbor dues of those ports, and no part of the expense will fall upon the taxpayers of the State at large.

TAKES NO SIDES.

The committee declined to take sides in the San Francisco wrangle over using State credit for the purchase of the "India Basin" in San Francisco Bay. A committee representing the Federated Harbor Improvement Association of San Francisco, attended the session yesterday to protest against a recommendation which would include the purchase of this submerged land.

This committee desired to have the Legislative Committee embody in its report a recommendation that the plans prepared by the association be followed in the expenditure of bond money for the improvement of San Francisco harbor.

Another committee from San Francisco sought just as earnestly to have the State Commitee recommend that "India Basin" be included in the harbor improvements.

The recommendation of the Legislative Committee stipulates only that the expenditure of the bond money shall rest wholly with the State Harbor Commission appointed for San Francisco harbor.

Official and commercial bodies representing Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro respectfully but firmly declined yesterday morning the proposal of the State Legislative Committee on Harbors to vote $1,500,000 for the improvement of San Pedro and Wilmington harbors under a State Harbor Commission.

The committee was requested to report back to its parent body, the State Legislature, that the three harbor cities have ample credit to build wharves and bulkheads and develop the inner harbor, and that State credit is not needed.

Assurance was given to the committee that Los Angeles will vote to ratify bond issues for the improvement of San Diego and San Francisco harbors whenever the people of those two seaports agree among themselves on the amount of credit necessary to develop economically their waterways.

Chairman Wright of the legislative committee found it necessary to caution the speakers repeatedly that the meeting was one of the State committee, and not the opening of a consolidation campaign. The discussion revealed that both San Pedro and Wilmington are ready to unite with Los Angeles just as soon as our charter is amended so as to permit the city to build municipal docks and make other harbor improvements.

Capt. Amos A. Fries, the engineer in charge of the government harbor improvements in San Pedro Bay, submitted a written statement to the committee, advising strongly against the creation of a State harbor commission for San Pedro and Wilmington, or the voting of State bonds for harbor improvement there at this time.

FRIES FOR LOCAL CONTROL.

Capt. Fries's communication is as follows:

"In my opinion, no bonds whatever should be voted by the State for San Pedro and Wilmington harbors. In my study of the conditions at San Pedro, as well as a study of other United States and foreign harbors and the methods by which they are controlled and operated, I am convinced that local control for San Pedro is absolutely essentional for its future growth and prosperity. I would add further that, in my opinion, it will be but a very few years before the other harbors in California will find the same to be true.

"Today Los Angeles alone has ample credit to carry on all public work that will be needed at San Pedro for probably a score of years.

"Two-thirds of the State is not interested in San Pedro harbor; this means that the controlling voice in the State is not interested in San Pedro harbor, and even if not antagonistic—and it is presumed not to be—it would have neither the interest, enterprise nor initiative to push the development of the harbor as will Los Angeles and the two towns immediately adjacent to the harbor."

Speaking to the committee, Capt. Fries said that probably four-fifths of the money which has been expended in the outer harbor and the channel at San Pedro has been supplied by the United States government. He said that the appropriations for San Pedro are for a harbor of "refuge and commerce."

FEDERAL MILLIONS.

Capt. Fries said the government has appropriated $4,518,000 for the outer and inner harbor improvements; of this, $2,900,000 has gone into the breakwater and outer harbor, and the remainder has been devoted to the inner harbor.

Replying to inquiries from the committee as to the possibilities of development in San Diego Bay, Capt. Fries said that the experience of the English people, the greatest harbor builders in the world, shows that local control is almost absolutely essential for harbor development. He said that London has expended $172,000,000, Liverpool $140,000,000, and Manchester $80,000,000 on their harbors, and that the returns have proved the expenditures to be highly profitable investments. San Pedro and Wilmington harbors can be developed on a scale equal to that of London and Liverpool for about one-tenth the cost to those municipalities.

SUSTAINS MUNICIPALITY.

Capt. Fries reminded the committee that there is not one harbor at San Pedro, but two; at his repeated references to Wilmington harbor, the representatives of that city "swelled" visibly. When he had finished, J. M. Brennan, president of the Board of Trustees of Wilmington, filed with the committee the following communication confirming the purchase of $100,000 of Wilmington harbor improvement bonds by the State:

"We are today in receipt of an opinion from the Attorney-General approving the proceedings in relation to the issuance and sale of the $100,000 issue of Wilmington improvement bonds. The Board of Examiners is, therefore, ready at any time to take up these bonds.

"In order to avoid possible delay, kindly notify us in advance as to the date you wish to deliver the bonds."

This was signed by the State Board of Examiners.

This communication was received with cheers. It is the answer to the claim set forward by certain "interests" that a municipality has no jurisdiction to improve tide lands and submerged lands whose title is vested in the State.

Secretary Fleming of the Municipal Harbor Commission assured the commissioners that this decision by the Board of Examiners is a practical guarantee that the tide land suits now pending will be decided in favor of the State.

These suits involve the title to 1300 acres of what is commonly termed San Pedro Bay; 700 acres are tide lands and 600 are in the channels. It is all under water at high tide; the development plans show that the land dredged away by the deepening of the channels will be sufficient to fill the tide lands so they can be utilized for wharves and warehouses.

Speaking for the Harbor Commission of the Chamber of Commerce, now a city commission, Secretary Fleming said that if State bonds refer to State control Los Angeles county is opposed to State bonds.

BAN THAT HINDERS.

"What the people here desire," said Fleming, "is an act of the Legislature which will remove the ban now placed on cities holding freeholders' charters. We desire the law to be so amended that cities holding these charters may

ANOTHER SURRENDER.

Unconfirmed Report That Yaqui Renegades of Sonora Have Again Given Up Fight.

Again comes a report from Sonora, Mex., of the surrender of the Yaqui renegades who have been terrorizing that State for years. It is unconfirmed, except as to the fact that ex-Gov. Yzabel has been devoting much personal attention to the matter, and has managed to get a number of individuals, it appears. The supposed surrender took place on the 10th inst.

A letter received by Richardson Bros. from Davis Richardson, now in New York, says that the writer had just received a telegram from a Sonora banker announcing the surrender. The letter was dated the 10th. Private letters previous to that date from Sonora told of negotiations for a surrender, but said that very few details could be obtained, except the report that 150 were expected to give themselves up at Torin on the 10th.

The failure to get official confirmation is looked upon as a suspicious circumstance, as the government would certainly be anxious to let it be known as soon as it could be sure of its ground.

About a month ago Mrs. Wyatt was driven out of a house at No. 1248 Central avenue by fire. According to the police, she has been separated from her husband for some time and when, Thursday, he went to her house to see her and she refused to let him in, he threw rocks through the window. Shortly before the fire was discovered last night her husband, Bert Wyatt, was seen about the place. The police are looking for him.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CALL ELECTION FOR JANUARY.

CHARTER AMENDMENTS WILL BE VOTED UPON THEN.

City Attorney Ordered to Draw Ordinance and Local Lawmakers Will Submit a Few Changes on Their Own Account—All Opposition to Experiment Beaten.

Los Angeles is to vote about January 20 at a special election to accept or reject the charter amendments proposed by the Municipal League and also other amendments that are to be submitted by the Council.

The Council yesterday decided on this and directed the City Attorney to draw an ordinance ordering the special election. As such an ordinance must be published twenty days and the election may not be held until forty days after final publication, the date to be chosen must be at the earliest two months ahead. Under the law a petition to amend, that is ratified by the electors, may be presented to the Legislature any time before its adjournment, and if the amendments are ratified there will be a month for their presentation to the Legislature for its action.

The Council will meet in special session to hear the protestants in the opening of Grand avenue and after this will meet as a committee of the whole with the City Attorney to discuss amendments which Councilmen have proposed. These amendments are largely ones to extend service mains and street connections anterior to the improvement of roadways and thus prevent the cutting of the streets after they have been made. There has been discussion of amendments that would increase the Council to a membership of fifteen by electing six members at large and also of imposing the duties of the present fire, police, parks and health boards on Council committees, but they may not go to the people.

The referendum petition, containing the names of 10,623 electors, was reported to the Council yesterday by the City Clerk, who had verified the signatures. It represented 15 per cent. of the electors at the last city election. Joseph Bell, who once wanted a franchise for the river bed, opposed acceptance of the petition because, he declared, those who signed it had not read it and had been deceived by a communication sent out by a committee of the reformers. Although Mr. Bell talked a long time the Council dismissed his objection as frivolous and ordered the election. Mr. Clampitt was the only one who thought there was any merit in Bell's contention.

The Council hopes to settle its own amendments today and to pass the ordinance ordering the election at a special meeting tomorrow. This will permit the fixing of a date any time between January 20 and January 26 for holding the election. It will cost the city about $15,000 to hold the election, and the City Attorney held that the Council could not be required by mandamus proceedings to hold it, but he also advised that, as a matter of public policy, the spirit of the law be observed as there was ample time to do the things asked for in the petition.

ALLEN RETIRES.

DISGUSTED WITH SINECURE.

Billboard Inspector E. R. Allen broke a world's record yesterday, so the Councilmen think. He appeared before that body and advocated the passage of a new billboard ordinance that legislated him out of office.

As the ordinance was passed Mr. Allen surrendered his badge and left the Council chamber with a light heart. The new ordinance changes the basis of license fees from one-fourth of one cent a square foot for all boards, each quarter, to a graded license on the gross business running from $25 for a business of $2000 or less to $150 for a business of $20,000, each quarter. The ordinance makes it easy for the City Auditor to enforce the collection of licenses and abolishes the office of inspector.

"I have tired of the criticism of my sinecure," said Allen, "there is not enough work for an inspector and, although I asked to have other work imposed on me, it was not done. So I made up my mind to give the city the benefit of my best advice, as contained in the ordihance, and retire."

The old ordinance produced a revenue of about $3200 annually and half of this or more was needed to pay the inspector and maintain his office. "Billboard Inspector" was a City Hall term for a workless job and the inspector was frequently the butt of the joke. But City Hall employés think they will not have to go far to find a new name for the prime sinecure as it is felt there are others.

Under the new ordinance Allen believes the city will get a revenue of about $3000 which will be net as there will be no inspector to pay.

WANTS DOG FUNDS.

LEAGUE ASKS TWO-THIRDS.

Dr. W. A. Lamb, city poundmaster and president of the Humane Animal League, asked the Council to pay over $7100 to the league yesterday under the contract recently entered into. The sum is three-fourths of all the money collected by the city for dog licenses since June 1, and is the means of financing the administration of the Pasadena system from now until next June. Councilman Dromgold opposed paying the money on the ground that the league should have only 75 per cent. of the funds collected after its contract became in force, but as the collections from now on will be trivial the others did not agree with him. Nevertheless the proposition was referred to the City Attorney for investigation. There is no doubt that the money will be paid as it is the letter of he contract, but the city will probably lose the amounts it has already paid to Poundmaster Vacher since June 1—probably $3000.

New Garbage Contract.

As the city garbage-hauling contract will expire December 31, the Board of Public Works has been authorized by the Council to advertise for bids for a contract to furnish teams and vehicles for the service during all of 1906.

Mr. Paul Is Named.

Mayor Harper has appointed C. T. Paul as the seventh member of the Housing Commission. The Council concurred. The Council also concurred in the Mayor's acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Lamb from the Playground Commission.

New Fire Equipment.

Specifications for a one-third size steamer, four hose wagons and a hook and a ladder truck, were adopted by the Council yesterday and the City Clerk instructed to advertise for bids. The specifications were prepared and approved by the Fire Commission.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

ESTATE CONTEST IS REOPENED.

ANOTHER CHAPTER BEGUN IN LONG LITIGATION.

Trust Company, as Special Administrator of Late Mrs. Ingersoll's Property, Seeks, for Second Time, Accounting from Husband, Wealthy Monrovia Ranchman.

A new chapter in the long litigation between the heirs of Mrs. Rosetta S. Ingersoll and her husband, C. K. Ingersoll, a wealthy Monrovia ranchman, over an estate said to be worth about $30,000, was opened yesterday in Judge Bordwell's court. By the Supreme Court's decision in February, the suit against Ingersoll for an accounting of the estate was sent back for a new trial, on technical grounds. At the first trial, in March, 1906, Judge Gibbs gave judgment for the defendant. The second trial is expected to occupy several days.

Mrs. Ingersoll, who was married in 1875, and who came with her husband to California in 1885, died in Wisconsin in November, 1903, leaving one-third of her estate to her sister, Mrs. Louise M. Deacon, and the remaindor to her brother, L. J. Elliott, both of Racine, Wis. The estate was, at that time, estimated to be worth about $35,000. Mrs. Ingersoll cut off her husband completely, for about three weeks before her death she had filed a suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty. After she passed away, the Title Insurance and Trust Company was made special administrator of her estate, and is now prosecuting the action against Ingersoll.

The plaintiff asserts that Mrs. Ingersoll, during her married life, received about $20,000 from her eastern relatives, and that this money was turned over to the husband for investment, the property so bought to be held in trust for the wife.

Ingersoll denies that he ever received more than $17,500 from his wife, and says that the money was never handled by him as a trust; that his money and hers were deposited in a common bank account; that all their property was community, and that no suggestion was ever made by his wife to the contrary until trouble arose between them, about 1902. At the first trial of the suit, Judge Gibbs found that no trust existed.

Ingersoll filed a contest of his wife's will, alleging unsoundness of mind and undue influence by relatives. The document was, however, admitted to probate by Judge Gibbs in June, 1904. The plaintiff said that trouble did not arise between himself and his wife until after July, 1902, when she had a stroke of paralysis, followed later by other strokes. He said that her belief that he was intending to put her in an asylum was due to her affliction, and that she came to hate him because of her mental weakness.

The court found that Mrs. Ingersoll's antipathy for her husband grew out of his anger at her attempt to transact business for him while he was seriously ill. Testimony was given that he was violently enraged by her action, and that he frequently made remarks that led her to believe that he intended to place her in an asylum. The court also found that Mrs. Ingersoll had frequently asked her husband for a division of their property, and that he had not acceded to her request.

HOUSES BURNED.

WIFE BLAMES A VETERAN.

F. M. Drummond, formerly an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, was placed on trial, yesterday, in Judge Jamison's court on the charge of arson. The complaint was made by his wife, Mrs. Carrie A. Drummond, of Westgate.

Mrs. Drummond's two-story lodging house, just completed, and her adjoining cottage, where she and her husband lived, were burned on the morning of July 18, and she barely escaped with her life.

For many months before, she said, quarreling and wrangling had been almost continuous between her and Drummond. For a time he had worked as a cook in Inyo county. Then he opened a restaurant business in her Westgate cottage, made a failure of it, it was alleged, and finally insisted that she deed him a portion of her property. She refused to do this, and says that he frequently expressed a wish that her houses would burn up, and she with them. She had made a will in his favor but had announced her intention to change it just before the fire.

R. K. Healy, who discovered the fire, testified that he was on his way to Santa Monica Cañon with a party of campers, consisting of H. L. Healy, Florence Myers, Marie Tracey and Charles Tracey, and that as they drew near Westgate, they saw flames licking up the rear of the Drummond house. Healy gave the alarm, while his brother, H. L. Healy rushed to the house and tried to extinguish the blaze.

H. L. Healy said that he saw Drummond standing between the houses, fully dressed. He asked him where there was a hose, and Drummond said that the water pressure was insufficient. He gave no explanation of the fire, and offered no help in putting it out. Healy found shavings alight under Mrs. Drummond's bedroom, a fire in the rafters of the cottage, and another fire in Drummond's bed on the back porch, where kerosene had been sprinkled. He put these out but could do nothing to save the adjoining house, which finally set fire to the cottage.

The trial will be continued this morning.

OWNER ACCUSED OF THREATS.

Leonard Van Wetzel's pet fox terrier, which lost an eye on the evening of November 12, during a beating administered with a broomstick by W. L. Holmes, the Willowbrook neighbor of Van Wetzel, was the subject of a sharp difference of opinion in Justice Selph's court, yesterday morning. Van Wetzel said that the dog is five months' old, that Holmes enticed it out of his yard and beat it cruelly. Mrs. Van Wetzel said that the dog is only four months' old, and never molests any one but the Holmes's children. Mrs. Holmes stated that she knows the dog is seven months' old, because it was born within a fortnight of the birth of her daughter, Hilda.

Holmes had Van Wetzel arrested, charging that he came to the Holmes home with the dog in his arms, kicked in the door, and swore that he would have Holmes's life, if he died for it himself. Mrs. Holmes said that Van Wetzel used language so unfit for her children to hear that she shut the door in his face. Both Holmes and his wife said that as they were passing the Van Wetzel home, the dog flew at them, and that Holmes took a broomstick to drive it away. Accidentally, he knocked out its eye.

Van Wetzel testified that he had called Holmes a scoundrel, and told him that he ought to suffer as the dog had suffered. He denied that he had threatened to kill Holmes. Both parties wished to offer further evidence, and the court continued the trial until Saturday morning.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

SUPERVISORS. The Supervisors yesterday adopted plans and specifications submitted by Hudson & Munsell, the architects, for the foundations, excavation and structural steel work of the new County Hall of Records. No action was taken as to advertisement for bids for the work. The board voted to spend not more than $1000 on the repair of the San Gabriel Cañon road, this year, and approved the District Attorney's opinion that, if the taxpayers of Miramonte school district shall pay the special levy of the district, they will be entitled to a rebate of $1.05 per $100.

C. Humphreys, patrolmen, and R. W. Reynolds, Humane Officer. The grand jury will meet again Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

MANDATE. Charles B. McCann yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against J. E. Grant, the Los Angeles Trading Stamp Company and others to secure access by mandamus to the bylaws of the corporation. The plaintiff asserts that he owns 2000 shares of the stock and controls the corporation by his proxy holdings, but that the defendants intend to hold a special meeting of stockholders, contrary to the bylaws, which the alleged intent to make changes in the methods of voting the stock, so that Grant may control the concern.

DISSOLVED. Judge Bordwell yesterday dissolved a temporary order restraining the Pacific Sugar Company and the Pacific Securities Company from selling stock owned by Paul Schenck and Sam Schenck, who brought suit to set aside unpaid assessments of stock in the corporations.

WILL CONTEST. Judge Wilbur yesterday morning granted a motion made by the contestants in the Susan G. Mitchell will case for a continuance of the trial until December 15. Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. Louise G. Shorb, who is considered an important witness for the contestants, will return from Europe before that date.

DIVORCE. On the ground of desertion, C. W. Bridges yesterday secured from Judge Conrey a divorce from Mrs. Minnie A. Bridges. He said that his wife left him while they were living in his father's house, as he refused until he had paid the expenses caused by her sickness, to provide her with a separate home. Mrs. Bridges refused to wait, and has since informed him that she will not return to him, as she may thereby lose a share in her mother's estate. The plaintiff stated that his wife's family had tried to dictate to him in business matters and that his wife sided against him.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the County Clerk by the California Alfalfa-Eucalyptus Ranch Company, capital stock $250,000; Pasadena Fire Insurance Company, capital stock $200,000; Municipal Securities Company, capital stock $100,000; The Midland Oil Company, capital stock $100,000; Riley and Boyd Grocery Company, capital stock $5000.

ALLEGED IMPERSONATOR.

William Rufus Harvey, a venerable-appearing gentleman with a long, flowing beard, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Owen, yesterday, charged with impersonating a government secret service agent. In default of $1000 bonds he was remanded to the County Jail for examination on the 24th inst. Harvey is regarded as merely a petty swindler who has posed as a government agent to aid him in soliciting funds for various objects. When arrested, he was canvassing Lamanda Park in behalf of a mythical soldier's widow who wanted to get "back East."

"GIRL IN LAVENDER" LOSES.

Dorothy Gorham, alias Grace O'Brien, known as the "girl in lavender" because of her fondness for that color, has been denied a new trial by the Second District Court of Appeal. She was sentenced to eighteen months in San Quentin upon conviction of passing a worthless check. She was first arrested in 1906 upon a charge of forgery, but at that time was placed on probation. The girl is now at San Quentin, having been taken North shortly after sentence.

KENNY BEATS KENNEDY.

Judgment in favor of the plaintiff was affirmed, yesterday, by the Second District Court of Appeal, in the case of C. E. Kenny against E. I. Kennedy, a grocer of this city. The plaintiff secured damages in the Superior Court for the loss of his home by fire, caused, he claimed, by an explosion of a can of gasoline, which had been purchased from Kennedy for coal oil.

WHY YOU SUFFER WITH DYSPEPSIA

Also Tells of the Most Certain Home Cure for all Stomach Trouble

Gives to Most Chronic Case Relief in Five Minutes and Thoroughly Regulates Your Stomach Before You Realize It. If You Get Some Diapepsin Now This Will Put an End to Your Dyspepsia.

Does it ever occur to you how busy that little stomach of yours is? It actually only holds three pints, though in one year you force it to take in 2500 pounds of material, digest it and prepare it for assimilation to the blood. Do you wonder at the number of cases of Indigestion and Stomach trouble? You crowd it with steaks and pastry, irritate its juices with spices and acids and expect this little four-ounce mill to do its work.

Is there any wonder that your food passes undigested, or lays like a lump of lead in the stomach? That everything you eat turns to acid, Stomach gas and Stomach poison, putrefying the intestines and digestive canals, causing Biliousness, Headaches, Dizziness and Indigestion, Heartburn, Nauseous Breath, Constipation, and other more dangerous symptoms?

Call your disease what you will—Indigestion, Gastritis, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Catarrh of Stomach, etc.—you know the real name, the real disease is fermentation of the food you eat—a sour Stomach, which belches gas and erupts undigested food or causes a feeling of nausea and miserableness.

All these miseries vanish promptly when you stop this food fermentation. Take 50 cents to your pharmacist for a case of Pape's Diapepsin. Eat a triangule, and five minutes later your Stomach will do what a healthy Stomach should—that is, turn every bite you eat into bodily nourishment and without you realizing that you have a Stomach. One triangule will digest all the food you eat without the aid of the stomach, because it contains just the elements found in a good, strong, healthy stomach.

FIRE DRILL SAVES LIVES.

Three Hundred Children Uninjured in March Out of Blazing School Building in Colorado.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LITTLETON (Colo.) Nov. 16.—The successful execution of the fire drill which had recently been inaugurated, averted a panic in the Littleton school, and saved 300 pupils from probable injury or death, when flames broke out in one of the class rooms today.

The stuffing of paper into a heat radiator gave origin to the blaze. The flames had broken through the walls before they were discovered. An alarm was immediately given, and the classes marched out of the building as orderly as if nothing had happened.

The fire was extinguished with but little damage. The building is used both for the graded and High Schools and fully 300 children were in their seats at the time the fire was discovered.

HURLED BEFORE TRAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Marion Lawson, daughter of Thomas W. Lawson, the Boston financier, had a narrow escape this morning when the axle of an automobile, running at a high rate of speed broke in front of a passenger train.

With her hostess, Mrs. Prentiss Coonley, she was on her way to the depot at Lake Forest, to come to Chicago. When the machine broke down they were both thrown to the track. They scrambled to their feet and managed to get to the depot platform in time to board the train. Mrs. Coonley said that the automobile was running about sixty miles an hour. The chauffeur was badly bruised, but neither Miss Lawson or Mrs. Coonley received injuries more serious than scratches.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—After an autopsy and nearly twenty-four hours of investigation, the local police announced today that they were satisfied that Mrs. Charles (Chick) Stahl, widow of the American League baseball player, whose body was found in a doorway of a house in South Boston, died from natural causes, and that she had not been robbed of any jewelry.

Indian Geographical Names.

The Indians, as a race, are gradually disappearing, but they have a monument that will endure forever in our geographical nomenclature. The Wide-Awakers may not know that the names of about half of the States and Territories of the Union are of Indian origin. Alaska means the great land; Alabama, here we rest; Arkansas, bow on the smoky water; Connecticut, long river; Dakota, friendly; Idaho, gem of the mountains; Illinois, the men; Iowa, drowsy ones; Kansas, smoky water; Kentucky, at the head of the river; Massachusetts, the place of great trees; Missouri, great muddy (river;) Michigan, a fish wier; Minnesota, whitish water; Mississippi, great river; Nebraska, shallow water; Ohio, beautiful (river;) Oklahoma, red people, or beautiful land; Oregon, great river of the West; Tennessee, river of the great bend; Texas, friendly; Utah, dwellers in the mountains; Wisconsin, wild-rushing river; Wyoming, broad plains. Many of our towns and cities likewise have names of Indian origin.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

PLANNING FOR STATE AGENCY.

Organization to Be Bureau of Information.

Through It Also Operators Will Get Together.

Local Bodies Will Not Be Interfered With.

The meeting of the producers of the State at Bakersfield on December 10, the first of the kind, is expected to be very largely attended by operators from all principal districts. All independents are invited.

The purpose is to get the oil men of the State together, acquainted and in touch with each other. The State organization will not in any way interfere with the local organiaxtions. The plan is much the same as that of the fruit growers, local bodies in each district and a central board to promote general welfare.

In effect, it will be a bureau of general information of the State of the oil industry, the various fields, their production and development, increase or decline, difficulties encountered, the market conditions, and the growth or decline in consumption, etc. It will be a clearinghouse of information for the local agencies, a gathering point to discuss plans and arrange coöperation. Other matters may come within its scope if deemed advisable. The discussion at Bakersfield will settle many details. L. P. St. Clair and W. B. Robb, president and secretary of the Bakersfield agency, are managing preliminaries.

General headquarters will be maintained in San Francisco as the center of the largest consumption, with probably offices in Los Angeles for the southern fields and the markets of the south, and of Arizona and Nevada. The plan will not be to antagonize the big companies, but as far as possible, to coöperate, while at the same time helping the independents to get their share. At present the two agencies controlling about 15 per cent. of production keep posted on things pretty well, but with a central body it will be easier.

Committee on Organization.

M. V. McQuigg, chairman of the committee from the northern fields and of the last producers' meeting, has appointed Robert N. Bulla, secretary of the Central Oil Company of Whittier, C. E. Price, a city producer, and A. F. Gilmore, a Salt Lake independent producer, members of the Committee on Organization of the local agency. There will be five, two more to be appointed in a few days.

Associated Dividends.

While the general impression of the public seems to be that the next Associated dividend is far off, there are some in close touch with the powers that control who say there will be one in February, when the directors meet to approve the annual report. Inquiries from directors themselves on one or two occasions have brought encouraging but entirely non-committal replies. "Wait and see" is their attitude generally. Of course, no one knows what may happen and hence reticence is to be expected. The company, however, is out of debt.

Sterling and Agency.

Will the Sterling renew its contract with the Bakersfield agency? The present lease runs out in December, 1909. The Sterling is the largest member, and since it tied itself up tight the Associated has bought its control and is generally believed to be seeking more of its stock. It is thought unlikely that the big company will tie up this production again so that it cannot get a barrel of it if the agency says no. If it does, it is probably through a desire to be in touch with affairs through a member of the board of directors. The agency, it is thought, has no objection to a representative of the Associated in its councils, and, indeed, is glad to have one, apparently. At one time there was a rumor that a formal invitation was to be extended Mr. Porter to become a director as representative of the Sterling. But if so, the scheme failed to go through.

Espee at Sunset.

The Kern Trading and Oil Company (Espee) will begin at once development of the railroad company's lands at Sunset. These are out on the flat and within what is considered excellent prospect ground. According to recent maps, it has section 31-12-22 and fractional section 29 and east half of 25, same, and 5-11-23. According to a Bakersfield paper, $1,000,000 will be spent for development at Sunset, Coalinga and Kern River. C. A. Hively, superintendent at Kern River, has been transferred to Coalinga, and will be succeeded by his assistant, Mr. Smith.

Petroleum Odds and Ends.

The Petroleum Development (Santa Fé) is down 2800 feet with the nine and five-eighths casing in its deep test well on the south half of the south half of 3, just north of the river. It has no oil yet, but is going on, so as to demonstrated to the fullest extent what there is underlying this part of Kern River.

The present owners of the old Petroleum Center on the east one-half of the southeast one-quarter of the southeast one-quarter of 28-28-28 at Kern River will abandon all four old wells drilled by that company at an expense of $85,000 in the early days and drill new wells, considering that the cheaper course in consequence of the holes' condition after years of abandonment and neglect.

The Rico Oil Company has been formed in San Francisco by John Hinckle, Sam Shurnon and the Ingles brothers, to drill a tract in the northwest one-quarter of 25, Midway, just bought for $1000 an acre by Mr. Hinckle.

The Associated's rotary on 31 at Temblor is down about 1400 feet and in brown shale, with conditions like that in the adjoining Springfield well.

M. Z. Elliott has started drilling on the extreme southeast of this section.

Foxen Has No Oil Yet.

The Foxen Oil Company reports that it has no oil yet in its 2800-foot well, four miles or so east of Cat Cañon, the farthest east extension of the Santa Maria district. The intention is to go 3500 feet, if necessary, to test the ground. The formation is favorable for oil, but extremely difficult, and one delay after another has been encountered.

LIFE OF A PIMPLE

Complexions Are Cleared and Pimples Disappear Overnight Without Trouble.

The dispensers of poslam, a new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is urged to purchase it without first obtaining an experimental package. Those who have tried it will find that the fifty-cent box, on sale at the Owl Drug Co. and all drug stores, is sufficient to cure the worst cases of eczema, where the surface affected is not too large. The itching ceases on first application. It will also cure acne, tetter, blotches, scaly scalp, hives, barber's and every other form of itch, including itching feet. Being flesh-colored and containing no grease, the presence of poslam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and soap cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them.

As to the experimental package of poslam, it can be had free of charge by mail of the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York. It alone is sufficent to clear the complexion overnight, and to rid the face of pimples in twenty-four hours.

Boost Home Products

Buy Furniture Made in Los Angeles

There is no industry in Los Angeles that deserves your support more than the furniture makers. In this city there are several plants turning out exceptionally good furniture of various kinds, but there is not enough furniture made in Los Angeles to supply the local demand—hence dealers must go to the east for the greater part of their stocks. The encouragement of local furniture makers means that Los Angeles citizens will save money. It means that the makers will be able to turn out high-grade goods and thus save the enormous freight expense from the east. The articles we advertise today are made in Los Angeles. Unless these goods were first class they could not find a place in our store.

In order to boost home products, we are making exceedingly low prices on a large line of Los Angeles made furniture during Prosperity Week. We have not thought of profit at all when making the prices—we have in mind only the encouragement of a growing Los Angeles industry that will mean much to the city in future years.

Editorial Pro Points

If we buy and boost we need have no fear that we will die and bust.

Carter Harrison's explanation is that the Democratic party lacks cohesion. It also lacks votes.

Speaking of "a play on words," we notice that there are lots of plays like that on the stage just now.

The Chinese situation and the attacks on the Kaiser must have come as a blessed relief to Steve Elkins.

The peculiar thing about the late election was that nobody seemed to want to explain how it happened.

The difference between a self-made and a home-made man is that one isn't quite so stuck up as the other.

"More than a third of Seattle's territory is water," says the Times of that city. Add to this wind, and what is left?

There is little probability of a civil war in China. The Chinese got over that kind of foolishness about 4000 years ago.

A dispatch states that scores of women in New York State have secured licenses for hunting. Men or other animals?

Looking over the programmes we notice that the usual number of opera tunes are still played at Sunday sacred concerts.

Strange as it may appear there are frequent instances of men who never think of coming home until they come home to die.

We shall doubtless soon learn from Mr. Bryan that those Democrats who were elected this year are mere creatures of the trusts.

While the bands are playing let us take thought of the fact that neither their instruments nor their uniforms were made in Los Angeles.

Last year there was a Polish professor here who said it is a crime to fill Los Angeles with factories, but we really need them in our business.

St. Louis has a woman blacksmith. We have no doubt that there are some who say that it is unnatural for a woman to use the hammer.

Andrew Carnegie advises the American workingman not to drink or gamble. Does he mean to infer that these are the special privileges of the rich?

The new $5 gold pieces are said to be made with great exactness. But certainly not with more exactness than that with which some people hold on to them.

No matter how attractive the other things may be that are made in Los Angeles it is the maid in Los Angeles who will still remain the most attractive.

What Los Angeles must soon do is to build ships and grow sailors to steer them across all the deep, blue, briny seas that have fastened themselves on the map.

It is now rumored that the Japanese fleet of warships will visit the United States. If so, something must be done at once to tie "Red" Hayes to the bedpost.

You have perhaps noticed that while the devil never comes out openly to accept a challenge to hold a debate, he keeps right ahead attending to his business.

Succeeding the music of the mocking bird, the meadow lark, the linnet and a lot of other birds of a morning, we shall have the music of factory whistles, too, which is not so bad.

Dakota decided at the late election that persons desiring to be divorced must reside in the State one year instead of six months. This is almost as hard to endure as marriage itself.

Chancellor Day is also to visit Africa. We trust he will so arrange his itinerary as to avoid the same jungles in which a certain great hunter intends to stalk the noble tiger in his lair.

Statistics are at hand to prove that last year the people of Boston ate $10,000,000 worth of beans. This is Boston's answer to the carping critics who say she is falling into intellectual decay.

Prof. Frederick Starr declares he can prove that the game of baseball was played by the mound-builders. He was probably out here on the Coast last summer and saw the Portland club in a game.

We have no desire to pose as a judge of music, but we are willing to hazard the opinion that the "Concert of Europe" as at present conducted is hitting about seven false notes out of a possible ten.

A Boston professor gives it as his opinion that women over thirty are leading disappointed lives. Now, on the contrary, it is only after a woman is thirty that she begins to really have the time of her life.

Along with giving thanks on the day set apart for that purpose, a man should also exercise faith. He can do this by eating his Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant and accepting as turkey what the waiter brings in.

A German company has named one of its steamships the "George Washington." The company must have forgotten that the name—glorious though it be—is a hoodoo for ships. American companies quit using it long ago owing to the fact that every ship of the name was lost.

LOS ANGELES AND SAN FRANCISCO.

"To have seen San Francisco stricken and shattered in her ashes two years ago; then to have seen her yesterday is to marvel at the people who did it.

"The San Francisco of today is the most splendid city in the world. In place of the Market street of former years is a majestic cañon whose walls are giant skyscrapers—new and strong and splendid—the highest product of brains and money.

"That this wonderful city could have been built in two years by men engaged in two hundred childish conspiracies strikes one as more remarkable than the feat itself.

"If San Francisco merchants 'got together' as our merchants do, what might not that city achieve?"

These words are quoted from a letter in The Times of Sunday, written by a staff correspondent who was in San Francisco. They express a profound truth for which The Times has stood in regard to Los Angeles, San Francisco and the State. Our own city is what it is because there exists among us a splendid spirit of mutual coöperation. Whatever there is in the achievements of San Francisco (and they are very great) has come from coöperation. And if there has been aught of failure to achieve anything desired, it has come from a spirit of antagonism which arrays one citizen against another, one clique against another.

Great possibilities lie before Los Angeles, before San Francisco, before the State of California, indeed, before the whole Coast and the whole Great Southwest. These great possibilities will become actualities in proportion as we all work together, and will be regarded, perhaps rendered impossible, if we "knock" instead of "boost."

When, two years and a half ago, the city of San Francisco lay a smoldering heap of ashes, some of our people, shortsighted and selfish, said openly: "Now is our opportunity! We can become the Coast metropolis and hold the place forever." The reply of The Times was to point out that this spirit was mean, and the expectation without foundation. If any persons or newspapers have more faith in the future of Los Angeles than we, they have carefully kept it to themselves. But our position is that there is room in California for at least two great dominating cities, and that the growth of one helps the other, not retards. We earnestly wish all the press in Southern California as well as in the North would cultivate this way of looking at the matter. We regret that this broad-minded and correct view is not generally taken by narrow-gauge newspapers. There may be a few fly-speck souls in any community who can see no way to "get along" themselves but by walking on the prostrate bodies, not only of rivals, but of those who cannot be rivals. The newspaper controlled by a mind similarly petty may think the sentiment is general because it is so near its own heart. They are all mistaken. The people of Los Angeles are not selfish, nor narrow-minded. Neither are those of Pasadena, Redlands, Riverside or Pomona. There is little local jealousy here, and there should be none. Every house built in Pasadena, or any of the other cities named above, or not named at all, means business for Los Angeles. Let them all grow and prosper, for it is their right, and their growth is our prosperity.

The same feeling exists here as to San Francisco. We cannot hold her back and do not wish to. On the contrary we are glad that nature has given our State so magnificent a harbor as the Bay of San Francisco, and so admirable a site for a city as the peninsula which constitutes the county of San Francisco. We rejoice exceedingly at the magnificent work the courage and enterprise of San Francisco has accomplished since her great disaster. We shall rejoice in every step of progress which that city makes in the future. May she become to the future what London is to the commercial world of today, to the Pacific Coast what New York is to the Atlantic. Let the few sordid souls here and their narrow-minded newspapers open their eyes and their souls to the sunlight and truth, learn to rejoice, not lament, to "boost," not "knock."

What in the name of heaven have we to fear or to be jealous about? Surely we are making headway enough. We cannot take away the bay from San Francisco nor move the peninsula, if we would; nor can San Francisco deprive us of one of the smallest of the foundation stones on which our prosperity is built. God gave San Francisco her bay and her peninsula. The same kind Providence gave us our climate and our great ocean front. To this has been added the construction of a harbor at San Pedro, in many respects the full equal of the harbor at San Francisco. The Bay City will be the outlet for the central part of the State and the back country directly east. That city will compete with Seattle for trade with the far North Pacific, both in America and Asia. Los Angeles has the shortest railroad haul from ocean to ocean, and we are nearer the Panama Canal and to all the South Pacific in America, in Asia and in the numerous islands of the sea.

California belongs to both cities, to San Francisco as to Los Angeles, to us as to them. What we want to do is to work together for the whole State. As San Francisco grows in business and population, Los Angeles will grow right along with her. All the growth made here will have a reflex influence on our big northern neighbor. As we pull together, each for itself and each for the other, growth will be rapid in proportion, and as we "knock" instead of "boost," we shall retard our own growth just as much as we do that of the other city. Let us realize that we are partners, not rivals, in this business. Each has its peculiar advantages and its natural sphere of influence.

Let the whole State get together for the whole State. Los Angeles has no hostile rivalry with Riverside or any other city in the State north or south. San Francisco has no hostile rivalry with Los Angeles, or with any other place in California. The more we pull together for the whole State, make full acknowledgment of the attractiveness and opportunities of other sections, the faster we all shall grow and the greater will be our prosperity. Why should Redlands be jealous of the prune orchards of Santa Clara? Why should the potato-growers of the Sacramento Valley envy the celery-growers of Orange county?

Prosperity is on the wings of time. It will cover the whole country. The watchword of the hour is "boost." "Knock" the first "knocker" that opens his mouth to decry any part of the State.

San Francisco needs only to get her own people into thorough harmony. Once they get together there for their own interests, they will be glad to see us grow, as we already rejoice at the progress of the northern city.

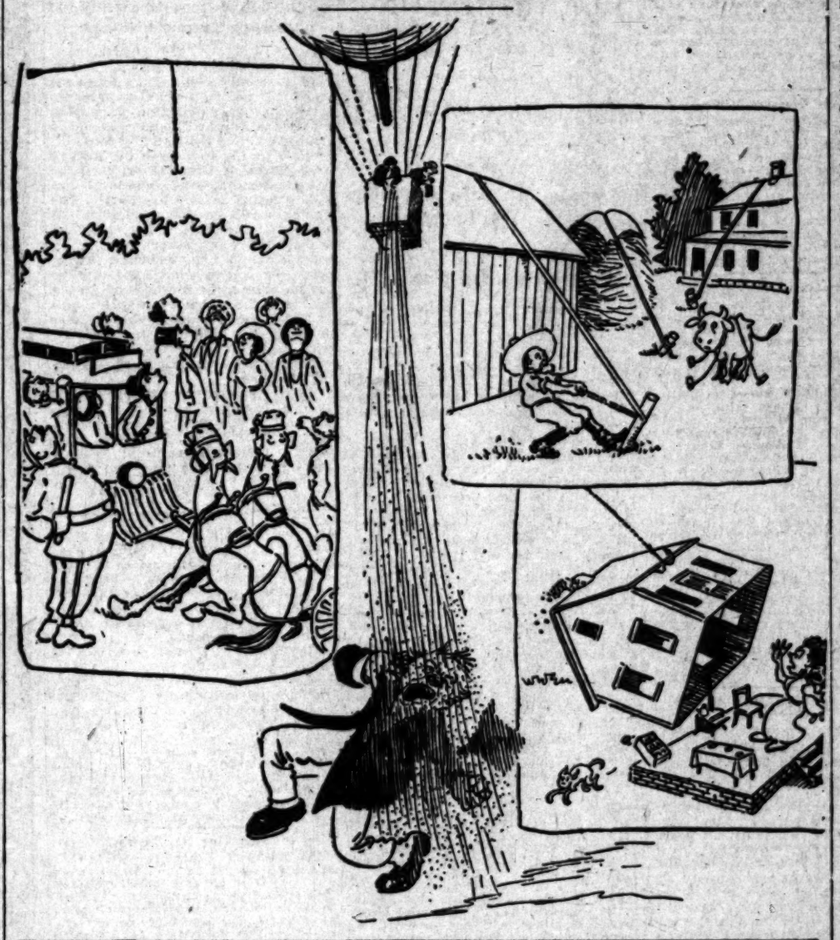
NOT OKLAHOMAIZING.

Wichita, Kansas, is not far distant from the Oklahoma border. The American State Bank in the Kansas town, in a recent report, shows an increase of $300,000 in deposits since March 1 of the present year.

If the people of the Sunflower State had any great misgivings as to the solvency of their own State banks, it would be easy to keep most of their money in one of the Oklahoma institutions, if it appeared that the law there was worth much.

Why this indifference to the safety of their money on the part of these Wichita people, or are they too stupid to see danger and flee to safety? What is the matter with them? Or is it the Oklahoma law that has "bugs" so thick over it that they can be seen in Kansas?

IT'S IN THE AIR.



SAFETY FOR ALL.

An eastern paper, apparently of Socialistic taint, under head of "Safety for the Real Offender," says:

"Judge Grosscup, in his Standard Oil decision, seems to have pointed out an easy way by which corporations may violate the law without taking large risks. His careful, differentiation between the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey—though the latter is in point of fact the owner of the former—shows how the thing may readily be done."

There is not a well-informed judge in the United States, not bitten by Socialism, nor a lawyer, learned in the law and exempt from the taint, who will agree with this view.

The Appellate Courts hold that legal procedure has been violated by the trial court in this celebrated case. The vital error is that the parent company which must pay this fine, if it is ever paid, was not in court for a single moment, nor was it given opportunity to put in a word of defense. In the eyes of the law a corporation is a person entitled to all the privileges of a real person in criminal procedure. It was not difficult to have had the parent company admitted into the case and shown to be guilty if it is so.

It may seem to the biased Socialist as if "this legal personage (a corporation,) which is proverbially soulless, has many privileges that the ordinary person can never hope to enjoy."

Tommy rot of the worst kind! Put a real person in the place of this corporation. Put the editor of the paper from which this quotation is taken in the place of a corporation. Suppose him to have a second newspaper as a side issue, and that it is sued for criminal libel. Let it be that the editor of the guilty paper is tried and found guilty, and the court sentences the "parent editor" to ten years in jail. Think you he would not appeal, and claim the right to show that he knew nothing of the libelous article? Would he or would he not? It is important that this constitutional right to a hearing in court be protected?

TAFT ENVOY OF PEACE.

Congressman Hobson and our own Red Hayes may hang up their arms. Great, but not good, Tsi An has gone the way of her fathers, preceded by the Emperor. China is for the moment kingless. The lovers of sensation see ghosts of terrible events in the clouds of woe that overhang the Flowery Kingdom.

They tell us that now is Japan's opportunity. Not so! China, with the weak Emperor and his strong, wicked old aunt alive, was as fully a prey to any rapacious plan Japan may be hatching as she is now. The safety of China does not rest with China. John Hay, of blessed memory, set up the safeguards under which Chinese emperors and empresses, whole Manchu dynasties, may pass away and yet no robber hand can touch China. This ancient realm in her dotage is the ward of the civilized world. Time was when the nations sat like buzzards on a fence watching for an old horse to give his last kick before they gathered to a division of the spoils. The United States, content with her own broad territory and desirous only of honest trade with other peoples, has said to all nations: "The integrity of China is a sacred trust committed to the world. You must all be faithful to your trust."

Japan gives proper assurance that she will not violate her part of the trust. Mr. Taft has been in Japan as an envoy of peace. He was so received there and his welcome was cordial. He is the next President, and should Mr. Hobson turn his attention from kissing pretty girls to declaring war, the envoy of peace will relegate him to his proper function. Should Congressman Hayes try to play the Napoleon of his time in San Francisco, Mr. Taft will wire to the Mikado to disregard unnecessary noise and assure Japan that there are a few persons in the United States at large who are not held quite responsible for all they say.

TRYING TO SEE MAGNATE DIPPEL.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.
[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

New York, November 11.

The Metropolitan Operahouse, as everybody knows, is not a particularly impressive building. It rises squarely and without any unusual architectural features; its own bricks stained with age, at Fortieth and Broadway, occupying the whole of the little square that extends through to Seventh avenue. At its front the carriages and automobiles and all the varied traffic of Broadway roll ceaselessly; at its back the little tenement children play long after curfew hours.

Such is the Metropolitan without—its shallow lobby at the front, its little box-office at one side, the entrances of the "Metropolitan Opera and Realty Company" at the rear—but within, how different!

Nor am I referring to the auditorium, which all traveled music-lovers have seen.

I am speaking of the weird works within works adjacent to the stage, where little bustling offices rise tier on tier, and men within them carry on all the complex and wonderful business attaching to the greatest operatic institution in the world.

The other morning I called to see Andreas Dippel, who has risen from utility tenor to "administrative manager." And that really means the whole managership, for Gatti-Casazza, unable to speak a word of any language save his own Italian, is an adviser on productions. Necessarily, he cannot participate in the overwhelming routine of every-day affairs which falls upon Dippel.

I think in two hours I had about six minutes with Dippel. But after I got out I wondered where on earth Dippel found the six minutes.

You enter the managerial offices by a little two-foot entrance on the south side of the building. A telephone exchange and a force of boys, much pleasanter than other boys I have seen in similar positions, confront you. At your right is a little time-worn door leading into the labyrinth.

A few minutes after my card had gone up a tall, shock-haired, nervous-mannered German burst in the labyrinth door and passed me an imperious signal. I followed the signal.

Upstairs and down, on the main floors and regular floors, and mezzanine floors, through offices and through hallways, on the stage and under it and above it, we progressed.

I finally lost my guide and sat down in a cosy alcove to await his return.

It was such a stage-corner as is at the back of every theater in the land—musty and dirty and filled with a varied accumulation. But it was comfortable—and the procession was passing.

There was a rehearsal in bits. Somewhere a lusty-lunged German chorusmaster was vociferously indicating to his following; at another somewhere a fragmentary orchestra was droning over obscure passages; on a soap box at my right, a world-famous young prima donna was humming an aria from a late opera; in front of me Francesco Spetrino, the second Italian director just imported from the Royal Opera of Vienna, was volubly instructing the librarian. Spetrino is much in evidence. I haven't yet been able to see the man of the artistic hour, Toscanini, who leaves La Scala to rule over the Latin destinies of the great American temple of music-drama. It is Spetrino who is to conduct the "Faust" performance in Brooklyn on the coming Saturday night. Toscanini is reserved for the grand opening of Monday.

Enter Caruso. At this moment Caruso looked remarkably unlike a tenor, for he had a pen behind his ear, his breast pocket stuffed full of papers, and a ledger-like thing fairly murky with crabbed little accounts in his hands. I think it must have been the book in which Enrico keeps track of his surplus. There was a surplus of figures, at any rate.

He stood by me for several minutes, moving his lips soundlessly as he ran through this mysterious reckoning—concerning which I haven't the remotest idea.

Caruso has aged astonishingly. There are deep lines fairly criss-crossing his face, and I have a suspicion that his tumultuous raven hair is beginning to pale a little. No wonder. Such a weight of lyric popularity is enough to kill any man, even a tenor. His massive figure, however, is as solid as ever, though inclining a little more each year to obesity. His great shoulders, his short lion-like neck, his cistern-deep chest—well, they are still unmistakable, and the boys on the street would know him for Caruso, even though he wore a mask.

After Caruso had moved slowly into the inner temple, came Scotti.

Scotti was attended by a bevy of soprani and contralti, a following which seemed quite to be expected, and he seemed neither to bestow favors nor demand them. Caruso receives homage here. Scotti is the incomparable beau. Caruso is worshiped as the living shrine of a paradisial voice. Scotti—it wouldn't matter were Scotti a stage hand or the electrician's fifth assistant. If the prima donna were ashamed to walk down street with him she would at least bestow a furtive smile from around her tenor's shoulder.

The first time I saw Scotti was in Los Angeles during the Grau season, seven years ago. I marked him well at that time—and, believe me, he is the same Scotti today, though he was almost as old then as Caruso is now. There is the same faultless dressing, the same dimpling wave of wonderfully-kept silken black hair, the same glittering snow in his smile, the same classic unruffled face.

I progressed to Dippel's office through something that looked like a review of the Kaiser's old guard.

The tall, thin, nervous old German opened the first door to Dippel's chambers for me. I inquired my way further of the two strapping young Berliners whose boots were just off Unter den Linden. A humorous old musical comedy Meinherr, with a chin beard like Horace Greely's, a wart on his head as big as an egg, trousers above his boot-tops and a dialect that would split Lew Field's tongue, ushered me pompously in at the last gate, and I was received by a quiet little fellow named Coppicus—Mr. Dippel's German secretary.

On this side of the house Dippel reigns and the atmosphere is intensely Teutonic. Gatti-Casazza is not settled in rooms yet, and roams like a large and good-humored bear, carrying his own Latin atmosphere and following from room to room.

All sorts of things happened during my first wait for Dippel. The chorusmaster nearly had a fight over the possession of some rare scores, the antiquity with the scalp-wart fell asleep on the table and almost lost his balance, [illegible] called up to settle an orchestral [illegible] hours.

Then more people piled up in line. Dippel tip-toed to the door. "After that at liberty," he said.

HIS ROMANCE IS ATTACKED.

Late Tailor's Record Target for Missiles.

Just Because He Loves and Marries, Why Kick?

Symphonic Facts of Mineral Water Warriors.

Zenus C. Angevine, of fame as a tailor in this city once upon a time, also as a zealous disciple of the late Francis Murphy, is made the target for a number of stinging missiles, fired by some of his old business associates here. In remarrying before the lapse of the statutory period of one year after the granting of an interlocutory decree of divorce, it is charged that the temperance advocate and draper has violated the criminal law.

Fay Butler, manager of the Yosemite Mineral Water Company of this city, also says that Angevine got the best of him in a business deal and that he will "bring him to the bar of justice if it takes his last dollar."

Angevine, who is the head of a mineral spring concern at Phoenix, Ariz., indignantly denies the charges of fraud and the violation of the remarriage law, and in turn says some very uncomplimentary things about Butler. He stated yesterday to The Times correspondent, that he is the victim of a plot to ruin his good name and that he will bring a personal damage suit against Butler to soothe his injured feelings.

Mrs. Angevine No. 1

Ex Mrs. Angevine No. 3. (formerly Mrs. C. L. M'Cullis)

Mrs. Angevine No. 2.

Z. C. Angevine, His Wife and ex-Wives, principals in a combination romance, the last chapter of which is bitterly criticised by a former business associate of the ex-temperance tailor in Los Angeles.

Butler has been on the trail of the temperance tailor for months. He says that he was "jobbed" out of several hundred dollars by the smoothness of his former associate and that since he began his investigation, he has found others who bitterly regret having ever had business relations with the now successful promoter of "Bilo-zene," a widely-advertised nature remedy "taken from the bowels of the earth."

HIS BUSINESS FLIGHTS.

According to the interesting biography compiled by Butler, Zenus Angevine came to Los Angeles a number of years ago and started the Eagle Tailoring Company at No. 208 South Broadway. His partner, Rosenberg, is said to have become heartbroken over his gradual elimination from the firm and killed himself in a fit of despair.

Angevine next opened the Buffalo Woolen Company at No. 248 South Broadway, his backer being Grayson Lewis, a traveling man. Lewis trusted the business capacity of his associate and was on the road most of the time. He returned from his last trip to find the establishment a financial wreck. He paid the debts and sadly said farewell to his partner, who is said to have taken a trip to Europe for the benefit of his health, which was somewhat affected by strenuous business cares.

In the next chapter of the romance furnished by Butler, Angevine is found snugly located on South Spring street, doing business as the Angevine Woolen Company. His financial "angel" for this brief flight was S. Cohen, who has worn mourning for years as a result of his feverish experience with the versatile tailor.

Soon after the collapse of his latest venture, Angevine "reformed" and joined the temperance band of the late Francis Murphy. He modestly admits that he was the humble means of causing many to sign the pledge and wear the white ribbon. It is said that his strenuous efforts while fighting the "demon rum" aided him in forming many desirable acquaintances.

DIVORCE AND MARRIAGE.

According to the court records, Angevine obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce in April, 1907. In this State, neither party to a divorce proceeding can remarry until the expiration of one year from the date of the preliminary order. Even then, it has been held that the final decree must be actually entered upon the records in order to entitle either party to marry again.

Deputy Dist.-Atty. North stated yesterday that if the facts were as represented, that there would be no ground for criminal action in this State, but that the Federal authorities of Arizona would probably press the matter, upon the proper presentation of the facts.

Angevine was married to Mrs. Carrie McCrillis at Yuma, Ariz., in April, 1908, apparently less than a year after obtaining an interlocutory decree in California. He asserts, however, that he obtained legal advice before remarriage and made the following statement, yesterday, to The Times representative at Phoenix:

"I obtained a marriage license through the advice of Judge Redondo at Yuma, Ariz., after stating to him the facts of my divorce. I was informed that there was no law to prevent me from being married in the Territory and was married by him.

"Fay Butler, who makes the complaint against me, is doing so to further a conspiracy to defraud me out of my stock in the Yosemite Mineral Water Company. This Butler was without means and was given an interest in the company by me. From the time he was elected an officer of the company, he commenced to persecute me and has lied about me with malice to further this plot to defraud me."

FIRST WIFE ALSO MARRIED.

Angevine asserts that he married his first wife, Mrs. Lizzie Peters in Oakland, six years ago and that he was divorced in Los Angeles last March. He says that his divorced wife has married again in British Columbia, and that prior to the divorce he had not lived with her for two years.

He and his present wife claim to own half of the 60,000 shares of stock of the Yosemite Mineral Water Company, but assert that they were deprived of their interest by a sudden assessment which they were not given an opportunity to pay.

He says he will sue the company for back salary amounting to about $500 and also bring suit against Butler for defamation of character.

To show that Butler is in earnest in his efforts to "show up" this former associate, it is said that United States Dist.-Atty. J. L. Alexander of Phoenex, Ariz., has been asked to issue a criminal complaint charging Angevine with bigamy. An effort was previously made to have Dist.-Atty. Peter T. Robertson of Yuma take up the matter but he wrote to Butler stating that bigamy trials were not within his jurisdiction.

FIREPLACE DEFECTIVE.

After smouldering for twenty-four hours, a fire broke out in the residence of George McDonald at No. 2672 Vermont street. Before it was extinguished the parlor floor was practically destroyed and the furniture damaged. The loss is estimated at $150. The blaze was caused by a defective fireplace.

BONDS SALE WILL GO ON

One Injunction Denied, But Other Granted.

Judge Bordwell Criticises Old Private Deal.

Printing Contract Ended by Restraining Order.

Judge Bordwell, yesterday, enjoined the Supervisors from fulfilling their contract with the W. P. Jeffries Company for the engraving of the good roads bonds, but refused to enjoin the board from proceeding with the sale of them on Monday. In his decision in the Eugene Germain injunction suit, the court disallows the charges of bad faith but sharply criticises the private sale of the bonds to J. H. Adams and Company and the Los Angeles Trust Company. He declares that it would be unlawful for the Supervisors to accept a certified, or cashier's check of a bank making a bid, or of any bank directly interested in the bid.

After reviewing the history of the private sale, its rescission, and the main allegations of the plaintiffs in the injunction suits, Judge Bordwell said, in part:

"It is elementary learning of every student of our scheme of government that the judicial branch is not at liberty to interfere with the proper exercise of power by the legislative or administrative branches, when acting within their spheres. With the policy of government the courts do not concern themselves. Nor may they examine into and pass upon the wisdom of acts of legislative or administrative officers which are the results of an exercise of judgment, or discretion. The Board of Supervisors is both a legislative and administrative body.

"Nevertheless, if the board should attempt to commit an act outside of its power, or to fraudulently dispose of public property, or to do an unlawful act which would result in a public loss, or increase the burden of taxation, the court will, upon application of a citizen and taxpayer, exercise its power of restraint.

"Because of the comprehensive charge of conspiracy and wrongdoing made by the complaint, the court has allowed great latitude and permitted the fullest inquiry into all proceedings and all negotiations for the sale of the bonds and the letting of the engraving contract.

PERFUNCTORY CONSIDERATION.

"The evidence clearly shows that the members of the Board of Supervisors, individually or collectively, gave but slight and perfunctory consideration to the problem of the disposition of the bonds prior to the 8th day of September. The making and acceptance of the bid on that day, without competition, was the culmination of a most persistent and studied effort on the part of the agent of the two buyers and of their principal officers to obtain the consent of the board and its legal adviser. The manipulation on the part of the agent began prior to the holding of the bond election in July and continued most assiduously down to the very day of the offer and acceptance.

"Even a man quite experienced in financial matters, and, indeed, familiar in a general way with the intricacies of a deal in a large issue of municipal bonds, had he given no more investigation to the particular transaction in question than was given by the Supervisors, would have been but a child in the hands of these astute buyers and their agent. No doubt, the buyers considered that they had a right to make the best bargain possible for themselves. But, under the circumstances, it is no wonder that there was an outburst of public indignation when the deal became known. Up to that time, it had been carefully guarded as a secret, at the instance of the bond buyers. The mildest criticism that could be put on the transaction would be to say that it was most unfortunate, and that the people had a right to expect better treatment from their official representatives, and also more consideration from the buyers, who are prominent citizens of the community. It may be seriously doubted if, under any circumstances, any one has a right to attempt, by secret negotiations, to drive a keen bargain with the legislative and administrative representatives of the community with respect to public matters, and this doubt is certainly enlarged when the individual is a resident and citizen of the community. When public interests are concerned, it is the plain duty of the citizen to protect them, and he has no right to take advantage of the inexperience or want of information of public officers in order to obtain a private advantage, even though he may be interested in securing a public contract. The common welfare is always paramount to individual interest.

"Having these matters in mind, let us consider whether the county's best interests have been disregarded to an extent showing a gross abuse of discretion on the part of the board. The evidence presented on the question is such as to lead to the conclusion that the plan adopted by the board for realizing upon the bonds cannot be said to be for the best interests of the county.

WHAT EVIDENCE SHOWS.

"I am not unmindful of the fact that the records of the Board of Supervisors show that the majority of all, but one or two, of the standing committees are made up from the three members who voted for the resolution in question; nor of the fact that these three also stood persistently for the former proceedings which resulted in the acceptance of the bid of September 8, and that the other two members of the board have persistently voted against all of these propositions. And I have endeavored also to consider each and every other fact presented by plaintiffs in this action tending to show mala fides on the part of the members who favored the resolution. But I am unable to conclude that the resolution of September 28, inviting public bids, is tainted with fraud or with neglect of duty to an extent that interference of the court is justified. And the application for a temporary injunction based upon the charges of bad faith will be disallowed."

In regard to the contract for printing the bonds, Judge Bordwell said:

"It is conceded by counsel for the defendants that the making of a contract with one bidder at a price so excessive as to shock the conscience ought to be considered by the court as evidencing such a disregard of the obligations of the public officials, that it would be the duty of a court to intervene and prevent the consummation of the contract. As I have indicated, the price to be paid under the contract is an excess of 70 per cent over other bids to do work equivalent, or better in every respect. If 70 per cent is not to be considered sufficiently excessive to shock the conscience, it may pertinently be asked what amount would be sufficient?

"The evidence presented on this hearing so strongly indicates the probability that upon the final trial of the case a permanent injunction will be issued against the carrying out of the contract, and also against the Auditor and the Treasurer of the county from issuing a warrant for, or making any payment thereon, that it should be and is ordered that an injunctive writ issue in the meantime, restraining such acts, the plaintiff to furnish the usual injunction bond in favor of the defendants, to be approved by the court, in the sum of $1500."

THE FINALS.

ELKS SCATTER HARVEST CHAFF.

BIG CROWD HEARS AWARD OF FESTIVAL PRIZES.

Busy Group on Stage Assigns Over Seven Hundred Articles According to Dictates of the Fickle Goddess—Funny Freaks Result from the System.

Probably because of the habit formed last week all the "regulars" who participated in the Elks' Harvest Festival went to Shriners' Auditorium last night to attend the grand distribution of prizes. They and the others who came, half filled the main floor of the Auditorium, which retained not a shred of the splendor of last week except the strands of pennants and flags overhead. And nearly all of them met disappointment.

With Chairman M. H. Flint as a centerpiece for the group on the stage which included most of the familiar workers of the Festival, the crowd got some comfort. They also found the prizes, including live canaries and wheelbarrows, spread out on tables (at least those that could be,) and waited patiently until nearly midnight as the system of awarding continued.

The only speech was made by Col. Tom Thornton, whose burro, now useless because of the annihilation of the Democratic party, was turned over to Dame Fortune. Thornton preached an eloquent panegyric on it declaring it was 101 years old and as gentle as a lamb. It was awarded by Fortune to Miss Alice Blanchard, daughter of Councilman Blanchard. Then Mrs. Thornton drew a silver pencil because it was found that the book which was chosen was entirely subscribed by her.

Judge Monroe will have a chance to startle the Courthouse by wearing a large turquoise brooch. W. A. Bonynge, a banker, got a new overcoat and Dr. Edwards a suit of pajamas. J. C. Foy, who got twenty-five bales of hay, was advised to eat them, by the megaphonists.

Roi King will have a new $1000 fire insurance policy to place on one of his holes in the ground while E. E. Johnson, City Tax Collector, received a twenty-pound ham. John Llewellyn, a liberal customer of the system, drew two Belgian hares.

One of the most useful awards was that received by M. Greenewald, No. 118 South Spring. He got a turkey which was regarded as seasonable because the day of thanks is imminent and the Greenewalds have just emerged from the straits of lottery misfortunes.

Sheriff Hammel received a painting valued at $175 and former Gov. Gosper of Arizona a $25 suit of clothing. Walter F. Parker slipped by with a silver-mounted cut-glass pitcher.

The richest prize of the night, a complete bathroom outfit valued at $1000, went to Will Salter, who has a house at No. 2913 Brighton avenue, where he will put it. The bedroom set valued at $300 went to Tom Fox, freight agent for the Illinois Central. There were a host of other prizes, over 700 in all, that kept the group on the stage busy until the small hours.

And along toward the last a man named Rainscroft was awarded a gold-handled umbrella.

Few of those who were benefited by the awards were among the 1500 present. All the unclaimed articles will be removed to festival headquarters and the victors notified by post card at the addresses given in the books.

Strange as Fiction—Newspaper for Kidneys and Rheumatic Sufferers.

In Germany there is a newspaper published in the interests of all rheumatic sufferers, and each week symptoms and treatments are discussed by both laity and medical men. One scientific contributor related that a formula originated especially to relieve kidney diseases, had almost phenomenal virtue in the treatment of all forms of rheumatism.

Its action is to favor the kidney secretions and stimulate their filtering capacity, so that the poisons and acids which cause rheumatism are eliminated. No secret is made of this formula, which is composed of one-half ounce extract Buchu, one ounce compound fluid Balmwort and two ounces compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, mixed in a bottle, and to be taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and one at retiring.

A local druggist states that any honest pharmacist can fill the prescription, and expressed the opinion that every rheumatic and kidney sufferer will be grateful for this item.

THEY'LL STAY IN JAIL.

Supreme Court of United States Decides Mexican Revolutionists Can't Be Bailed Out.

Pending the hearing of their appeal in the United States Supreme Court, Ricardo Flores Magon, Antonio Villareal and Librado Rivera, the Mexican revolutionists, will remain in the County Jail, without bail. Ever since the arrest of the dangerous leader of the Mexican junta, it has been an open secret that they would hasten to raise the standard of revolt, if released on bonds. United States Dist.-Atty. Oscar Lawler successfully thwarted the efforts of the attorneys for the "Reds" to secure their liberation.

The same course was adopted at Washington yesterday, when an effort was made to obtain the release of the three defendants on bonds. The petition was denied, upon the representation of the Federal authorities and the prisoners will have to remain here in jail, until removed to Arizona, there to be tried for violating the neutrality law. The appeal will be heard in the Supreme Court, January 4, 1909.

SWINDLERS AT WORK.

One Soliciting "Advertising" and Another Funds for "Widows of Switchmen."

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association issued a warning to its members yesterday, against patronizing an advertising solicitor, who claims to be authorized to secure business for the programme of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association. Willis Johnson, secretary of the association, wrote to Secretary Zeehandelaar, stating that there would be no advertising in the programme and that the man claiming to work under his direction, is a faker.

"Swindlers are taking advantage of the rush of prosperity, to work all kinds of fake schemes upon the merchants," stated Zeehandelaar. "The only safe plan is to refuse patronage to every new proposition until it can be ascertained whether the indorsement of this association has been given."

Another swindle exposed yesterday, through the medium of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, was that of a man who claims to be a yardmaster in the employ of the Santa Fé Railroad Company. He has been soliciting funds for the ostensible benefit of widows of switchmen and so far has secured $25 or $30, according to reports received by Secretary Zeehandelaar. The railroad officials will aid in the apprehension and prosecution of the faker. Several years ago, a gang operating under the guise of unionite railroad men were caught through the efforts of the association and each member of the gang received a sentence of six months in jail.

RECIPE FOR PIMPLES AND FACIAL BLEMISHES

At this time of the year, owing to the varying diets, it is difficult to keep the face and neck free from eruptions.

The simple formula below is given out and is said to be the most effective obtainable for a complexion restorer as well as for removing blackheads, pimples and blemishes. The ingredients are procurable at any well stocked drug store, and are as follows: Two ounces Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces Sartoin.

Put the Sartoin into pint of hot water (not boiling), and after it is cooled strain through a fine cloth and add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits.

It is an inexpensive preparation which, if persistently used, is said by those who have tried it to produce amazing results, even for the worst complexions.

You can scald or boil a blood-stained handkerchief, using any ordinary soap in the old-fashioned way and rub on the washboard until the skin's off your knuckles, without budging the blood stains.

But try Fels-Naptha soap in lukewarm or cold water according to the easy directions on wrapper and the blood dissolves like snow in April.

Isn't it common-sense that a soap that will perform this miracle without injuring the most delicate fabric is also the best for all laundry and household purposes?

It's so easy—the Fels-Naptha way of washing. All the real hard work is done by the soap itself. Remember to please use lukewarm or cold water. With hot water and boiling or scalding, Fels-Naptha soap does not have the chance to show what a wonderful dirt loosener it is.

Fels-Naptha takes out grease spots and other stains just as readily as it does blood stains. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

How Anty Drudge Takes Out Blood Stains

Johnny Jones—"Boo hoo! boo hoo! Thommie Thumps hit me on the nose and made it bleed and it's all over my nice new shirtwaist. Boo hoo!"

Anty Drudge—"Tommy Thumps is a very naughty boy—that is if you didn't hit him first. But never mind, Anty Drudge will rub a little Fels-Naptha soap on the blood spots and soak the shirtwaist in lukewarm water for a few minutes, rub it lightly on the washboard, and presto! the blood stains are gone and the shirtwaist as good as new again."

Imitations of Fels-Naptha cost the same as the genuine and won't do the work.

PASADENA.

POCKETS BULGE WITH CHECKS.

MAN ACCUSED OF FORGERY HAS BIG COLLECTION.

PASADENA, Nov. 17.—With his pockets filled with blank checks and one check for $4 in his possession, Charles Warren, alias Charles Walters, was arrested at the St. Elmo Hotel in Los Angeles by Marshal Johnston of South Pasadena yesterday morning and was lodged in the City Jail here yesterday afternoon. He will appear before Justice McDonald this morning to answer to a charge of forgery, it being alleged that he uttered two checks, amounting to $90, drawn on F. P. Mackin of South Pasadena, and cashed them at the Fair National Bank, South Pasadena.

The man is about 22 years of age and refuses to discuss his past. He carried a tramp's kit. His clothes were of good material. Checks from nearly every bank in Southern California were found on him.

DAUGHTER FINDS MOTHER.

Miss Mary Dent arrived in this city from London, Eng., to find her mother. All she knew was that her parent had a bee ranch "somewhere in the mountains." She inquired at the police department to learn the whereabouts of her mother. The officers were at a loss to locate the mother and the directories offered no clew. Finally Thomas Stone, one of the oldest English residents in the city, was called upon. He telephoned to La Cañada and found that Mrs. Dent owned a ranch well up in the La Crescenta hills. The mother was notified and last night saw her daughter for the first time in sixteen years.

ELECT OFFICERS.

At one of the most largely attended meetings of the year, officers were elected last night at the annual meeting of the Pasadena branch of the Los Angeles County Medical Society. They are: Dr. A. T. Newcomb, president; Dr. J. E. Janes, secretary, and Dr. Henry Sherry, consular.

POETRY AND SCENERY.

Members of the California Promotion Committee were given automobile rides yesterday afternoon, guided by many of Pasadena's biggest boosters. President Off of the Board of Trade was chairman of the Reception Committee, which was composed of J. W. Wood, William F. Knight, Dr. C. J. Tracy, F. V. Rider, S. Hazard Halsted, W. L. Green and D. M. Linnard. Dr. Clarence E. Edwards of San Francisco led the visiting delegation. Dr. Edwards, previous to the drive, recited an original poem on California, and eulogized Pasadena as being not only the "Crown of the Valley," but also the city of great inspiration to other towns in the State.

FULL WEATHER REPORT.

Pasadena is to have a complete Weather Bureau by December 1, if the plans of Forecaster Wollaber of Los Angeles are carried out. Yesterday he made arrangements with E. R. Aorver, cooperative observer in Pasadena, for printing and distributing each day a weather report here. An electric sunshine recorder will be installed. A new anemometer for measuring the force of the wind will also be installed. A complete report of weather conditions here will be welcomed by those who wish to see its splendid climate well advertised.

CONTINUE TREE PLANTING.

At the regular weekly meeting of the City Commissioners yesterday afternoon, it was voted to continue planting of trees in the city street parkings. It was proposed that five acres be set aside in the city sewer farm for the purpose of raising a nursery and providing the city with proper shade trees.

"KIDS," BUT NO NAPPING.

Shortly after the churches closed last night, and a large crowd was on the street, a call came to the police station from a frightened woman, who declared that two children were being kidnaped. Newspaper men and patrolmen rushed to the business center and learned that the woman had disappeared, but bystanders stated a man had rushed along the street dragging after him two crying children, and had taken a Los Angeles car. The brother of the supposed kidnaper later appeared on the scene and it was ascertained that the man was the father of the two children.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at the chapel of the Ives, Warren Salisbury Company, over the remains of William Marshall Wicker. The remains were taken to Cincinnati for burial.

Mrs. Augusta Barts and her daughter, Nina, were brought before Justice McDonald yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty to the charge of defrauding an inkeeper. The former will have a jury trial Friday and the daughter on Monday.

Webster Davis, Secretary of the Interior, under McKinley, and former Mayor of Kansas City, will deliver the address at the memorial services to be held by Pasadena Lodge No. 672, B.P. O.E., December 6.

BATTLE IMMINENT.

FEELING INTENSE AT SAN PEDRO.

MOVEMENT TO DIVIDE CITY IS STRONGLY OPPOSED.

Those in Favor Say They Wish Annexation to Los Angeles—Trustees Will Receive Petitions Today. Threats to Take Matter to Court. Large Ship Arrives.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 16.—Petitions will be presented to the Trustees, tomorrow afternoon, requesting that a special election be called to divide the city at the north line of Fifth street, almost in the heart of the business section.

The district desiring to be segregated has a population of about 1600, and contains 5000 feet of water frontage on the West Basin. It also adjoins the "shoe-string" strip, a part of the corporate limits of Los Angeles. Friends of the proposed division movement openly state that their intention is to annex the divided territory to Los Angeles, in case their plans are successful.

It is believed that the Trustees are opposed to division of the city, although they are non-committal.

Opponents of the movement say that the matter will be taken into the courts ultimately. The feeling on both sides is intense.

The steamer Stanley Dollar, Capt. Thwing, arrived, this morning, out five and one-half days from Mukittes. She carries 1,800,000 feet of lumber, valued at $35,000. It is consigned to the National Company. The Stanley Dollar is a ship of 1838 tons gross, 255 feet in length, 41 feet beam, and 19 feet depth of hold, and has a crew of 22 men.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.

The tug Goliah, Capt. Twitchworth, is due here, tonight, from San Francisco, with the dredger Golden Gate in tow. The Golden Gate has been chartered by the Banning Company for work in the vicinity of Mormon Island, at the upper end of the inner harbor, where extensive improvements are contemplated. It is stated that the company will transfer the bulk of its business to that point later.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—F. H. Jones, assistant general manager of the electric street railway, Jackson, Miss., left that city today, accompanied by his two sisters of Memphis, Tenn., for Hollywood. He will be married here, December 2, to Miss Blanche Gillease, daughter of the late Mr. Gillease, third vice-president of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad.

OCEAN PARK.

OCEAN PARK, Nov. 16.—M. A. Breeden, Attorney-General of Utah, has come to the beach for the winter, and with his family is living on Thornton avenue.

George D. Snyder will leave tomorrow for Bisbee, Ariz., where he has secured the contract for the erection of a brick building for A. W. McPherson of Santa Monica.

The literary meeting of the Woman's Club has been postponed from Wednesday to December 9, and the civic meeting arranged for that date has been dropped entirely, owing to the death of Mrs. De Forest Reichard.

A benefit for the hospital fund for high school boys injured in this year's football, has been arranged for Thursday evening, in Wilcox Auditorium.

J. O. Churchill, principal of the Union High School, is seriously ill with pneumonia at his home on Hudson avenue.

COW TRIES BALLOONING.

Seidlitz Powders Fire Her With Ambition to Create a New Milky Way.

SIERRA MADRE, Nov. 16.—While crowds were toiling up Mt. Wilson to witness the ascension of a balloon, this place came near having one of a more novel character by a cow anxious to create a new milky way in the heavens.

W. W. Felgate, manager of Dr. Barlow's large estate, has a sick cow which he is doctoring. He instructed a Japanese called Togo to administer seidlitz powders in large doses. Felgate purchases them by wholesale.

Togo gave the cow twelve.

The cow became inflated with gas and swelled up accordingly. Its buoyancy increased with each powder and it commenced to soar skyward. Togo grabbed its tail, held it down to mother earth and yelled for help.

"Doc." Felgate rushed to the rescue and discovered the cow with its hide stretching and almost bursting from the pressure. Grabbing a bottle of some mixture close at hand he thrust it in the animal's mouth. There was a gurgle, roaring and a sizzling, then an explosion as though a soda fountain had broken loose, and the cow belched forth effervescent waters over the two attendants standing at its head.

The gas escaped from the animal balloon and the unexpected ascension was postponed. Togo is now administering homeopathic doses of a milder remedy. Felgate superintends the proceedings from behind a tree.

AUTHORIZED TO ACT.

Long Beach Attorney Instructed to Bring Suit Against New City of Belmont Heights.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 16.—The City Council this morning instructed City Attorney Long to proceed in the manner he deemed best in bringing action against Belmont Heights to prevent the holding of the election looking to the annexation of certain territory to the recently-incorporated town. The action will be independent of suits to be brought by attorneys of the school board.

Superintendent Graham today received an opinion of Deputy District Attorney Shaw that the proposed annexation would result in the Belmont district being liable not only for the Burnet school bonds but also one-sixth of the present bonded school indebtedness of the Long Beach district, which is $182,000.

LEVIES ASSESSMENT.

Comment having been occasioned by another assessment on the Hotel Virginia stock levied Saturday, one of the directors today said: "Early in December the hotel company will be called upon to pay $30,000 interest on its bonded indebtedness and taxes. There is no money in the treasury, and the only recourse is to levy an assessment."

An unusual sight afforded newcomers this morning was a school of several hundred porpoises playing "follow my leader" up and down the coast in front of the city.

The City Council this morning appropriated $150 towards the publication of a handsome illustrated calendar containing scenes of Long Beach, gotten out by the local Elks lodge.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Nov. 16.—John Rosk, a veteran and member of the home, suddenly fell dead, while strolling in the neighborhood of Castle Garden tract in Sawtelle, Saturday evening. The remains were taken to Finch's undertaking parlors in Sawtelle, where at the Coroner's inquest, which took place today, it was found that heart disease was the cause of death. He had but recently been released from the detention ward in the hospital. Rosk, who served in Co. GUESTS OF MONROVIA.

Hundred Members of California Promotion Committee Visit Foothill City and Note Advancement.

MONROVIA, Nov. 16.—For two hours 100 members of the California Promotion Committee were guests of the city today. They arrived at 11:30 a.m. from San Gabriel in two special electric cars in charge of Edward T. Taylor of the passenger department of the Pacific Electric Company. The visitors were welcomed by W. A. Chess, president, W. F. Dunn, secretary, and other officers and members of the Board of Trade. The Granite Club and the Knights of Pythias rooms were thrown open to them and luncheon served. An auto ride through the residence section and to several points of scenic interest followed. Much interest was expressed in the rapid transformation of Monrovia's citrus orchards into suburban residence sites and the consequent large number of homes in course of erection. The party left for Pasadena at 1:30 p.m.

REMOVES OBSTRUCTIONS.

Street Superintendent Monroe has a force of men at work clearing gutters at points where a large flow of water from the mountains is carried during the rainy season. One of the chief obstructions is tumble weeds that blow in from uncared-for lots and the débris from avenues of pepper trees.

Owing to a change of time table on the Santa Fé line the mail for Los Angeles leaves the local office at 4 p.m. instead of 4:30 o'clock.

POMONA COLLEGE TO CELEBRATE.

FIELD DAY TO MARK TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Four Buildings, Completed During Year, Will Be Dedicated—Large Gathering of Educational Leaders Expected—Big Endowment Fund Nearly Raised.

CLAREMONT, Nov. 16.—About 1500 invitations have been sent out for the "field day," to be held November 20-21, in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of Pomona College. On that occasion four buildings completed during the year, the Brackett Observatory, Smiley Hall, the men's dormitory, and the Carnegie Library, are to be dedicated. A large attendance of educational leaders is expected.

The principal addresses will be delivered by Prof. George E. Hall, director of the Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory, and Bishop Joseph H. Johnson of Los Angeles. Among others who will take part in the ceremonies are President Gates, Llewellyn Bixby, Prof. F. P. Brackett, Charles E. Richards, Dean Norton, Rev. C. B. Sumner and Prof. A. D. Bissell. The dedicatory prayer at the observatory will be offered by Rev. Stephen G. Emerson of San Diego; that at Smiley Hall by Rev. Grant K. Lewis of Long Beach, and at the library by Rev. C. G. Baldwin of Palo Alto, the first president of Pomona College.

At the anniversary it is expected that the raising of a $250,000 permanent endowment fund for the college will be announced. Of this amount $50,000 was pledged by Dr. D. K. Pearsons, on the condition that $200,000 additional be raised. The greater part of this amount has been secured.

Among important recent donations to the college are two valuable collections, presented by the heads of the biology department, Profs. C. F. Baker and A. J. Cook. These include a herbarium containing over 200,000 specimens, and an entomological collection of nearly 150,000 specimens. Both collections were made to show the plants and insects of importance to civilization, as well as to portray the flora and fauna of western America, and are the most valuable ones on the Pacific Coast. The herbarium alone could be sold for $20,000. The specimens come from nearly all portions of this country, as well as from many parts of South and Central America, Mexico, Columbia, Cuba, Australia and Germany.

Prof. Cook's collection is chiefly of archeological, zoölogical and geological specimens. He also gives a fine microscope and many slides.

COUNCIL'S WISH MAYOR DENIES.

REFUSES TO REQUEST RESIGNATION OF SWEETSER.

Informs Santa Monica Board That He's Much Surprised to Receive Their Request for the Official Scalp of Faithful Secretary of Park Commission.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 16.—It would appear as if the City Council touched a live wire when it petitioned Mayor Dudley to secure the resignation of E. H. Sweetser, member and secretary of the Park Commission. The following communication from the Mayor to the Council, presented at the meeting tonight, is the foundation for the belief:

"I am in receipt of your communication of November 9, requesting me to demand the resignation of Mr. Sweetser of the park board. I must say, I was very much surprised to receive such a communication as I was certainly under the impression that at the joint meeting held by the members of the park board and the City Council on November 2, it was made self-evident that the fault did not lie with Mr. Sweetser. I do not think that you gentlemen realize the work that has been accomplished by Mr. Sweetser the last four years. He has endeavored to serve the city faithfully during that time and his work shows how he has succeeded. As Mayor of this city I do not consider it advisable to grant your request."

CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

The matter of preparing proposed amendments to the city's freeholder charter is expected to have initial consideration tomorrow night. At a meeting of citizens, recently held, it was decided to take the matter of amendments before the Board of Trade and ask the appointment of committees. Being favorably impressed with the commission system of government as employed by cities like Baltimore, Galveston and Des Moines, copies of the charters of those cities have been secured for use as models, should Santa Monicans express a desire to embrace that plan of government.

Mayor-President Landes of Galveston, in writing concerning the operation of the commission plan in that city, says: "You have but little use for a charter, except to concentrate your city's business in a few hands and then place competent business men at the head, or rather in charge of your city. No charter that you would adopt would in itself give you a satisfactory municipal government. It depends upon the men whom you select to control your city's affairs as to what kind of a government you will have. And the voters, or rather the taxpayers, must select and then elect the men, as there no volunteers for this work who will give entire satisfaction, or in other words let the office seek the man, rather than the man the office."

TWO WOMEN DIE.

Mrs. Cordelia McCool, who died at the family home in Sawtelle last night, was one of the pioneers who braved the dangers of the desert more than half a century ago and made the trip to California when the news of the discovery of gold in California first reached the East. She crossed the plains by ox team, traveling with her father and his family and making her home in the northern part of California. Eight years ago she came to Sawtelle. She leaves a widower and three grown daughters residing in the East. Pneumonia was her ailment. Deceased was 65 years of age.

Mrs. M. E. Fletcher of Lake City, Minn., died this afternoon at the home of C. C. Head, on East Oregon avenue. Deceased had been visiting with her daughter at Anaheim and came here a week ago to spend some time with friends. She was 68 years of age. The shock of her death prostrated the daughter, Mrs. Vanderhorck of Anaheim, who had accompanied Mrs. Fletcher on her visit to the seaside.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Nathan William McChesney was elected president of the Stanford Club of Chicago and Robert H. Gaither was chosen secretary at the annual dinner, given by the alumni of Leland Stanford, Jr., University. The dinner was timed to take place after the big annual football contest of the Coast schools—the Stanford-Berkeley game—and the news of the Stanford victory by the score of 12 to 5 was the occasion of much enthusiasm and some lively extemporaneous speeches. Some of the alumni are now gray, but they whooped things up for their alma mater with all the vigor of the younger men.

OVER THE COUNTER.

WINS BRIDE SHAKING DICE FOR CIGARS.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 16.—A romance born over a dice game has taken Miss Elisabeth Nichols away from the Hotel Tuller, Detroit, where she was employed at the cigar stand, and attachés of the hotel expect any moment to receive word from the young lady, who has gone to her home in Green Bay, Wis., that she is married to George L. Fish, a wealthy Long Beach man, who met Miss Nichols at the hostelry.

Fish first saw the young lady about three months ago. One morning, while waiting to fill an appointment, Fish sauntered to the cigar counter. Picking up the dice box he rattled the dice, and laughingly declared to Miss Nichols that he could beat her for the cigars. The young lady took the wager and the game was on. Miss Nichols won.

Then they shook again, and still again. After that day Fish bought all his cigars at one place, always shaking dice with Miss Nichols, and nearly always losing.

"I guess Mr. Fish was watching Miss Nichol's beautiful face more than he was the game," remarked a girl associate at the cigar stand.

It was a case of love at first sight. Mr. Fish owns a beautiful home here, and after their honeymoon the couple are coming here to live.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

A great play was presented in Los Angeles last evening. "Paid in Full," which has run for nine months in New York City, explained itself to a Los Angeles audience. It gripped into the minds and the hearts of the people who witnessed the performance. There was not much applause, the issues were too important, a piece of real life was laid bare, with much that was brutal, but much of the artificial. Common everyday words, homely phrases told the story. The humor was unerring, and the pathos was truth, this play of Eugene Walter's which went begging many weary months for a producer, has justified the popular judgment already passed upon it on the Atlantic Coast. The audience was small in proportion to the merit of the production. The story is one common enough perhaps in American life, with its fierce struggle for the things which money will buy. The plot hinges on the unbelievable selfishness of a man who would sacrifice even the honor of his wife to save himself from prison.

The company presenting the play is decidedly above the average. Clarence Handyside in the character of the brutal old belaying-pin of a captain who has a "pretty nice to be decent after all," does the best piece character work in the play. The unique Rose Stahl, with his dry irresistible wit and his splendid towering faithfulness is the most attractive figure in the production, one that is remembered with pleasure. Sara Perry, the leading woman, about whom the play hinges as a center, seems temperamentally deficient at first but rises to the tragic power of the situation at the last. Her unloved husband is a difficult character to portray, and William Gibson, who presents it, is not fortunate in his conception of the character. Rose Coghlan makes an inimitable mother-in-law, but the ingenue, Pauline Darling, is too fantastic to be entirely pleasing.

Richard Barry's new play, "The Searchlight," had its premiere at the Auditorium last night, a large and very friendly audience being in attendance.

"The Searchlight" is a play of modern conditions, its action taking place in an American town. Any large American city will do, though San Francisco is probably the particular city Barry had in mind when he wrote his play. The hero is a star reporter on a newspaper of a somewhat yellow stripe, Col. Arthur Mason, a politician, has been accused of bribery, and Sandy McKnight, the reporter, is detailed to discover the truth or falsity of the accusation. He does so, and in the last act, before a public meeting, shows that Col. Mason is really only bought over Galloway, a boss, that he might be induced to "graft" on his pals. There are the bright threads of love running through the play, Sandy McKnight being in love with Mason's daughter, and George Gleason, the assistant editor of The Star, being in love with Miss Mason's friend, a pretty girl with none of the seriousness of Miss Mason.

As a play now stands, it has long stretches of talk which is not particularly suitable, and which does not further the plot to an appreciable degree. The climax in the second act is very fine, but the scene leading up to it, the conversation between the two girls, is inconsequential and tedious. It should be cut in half. "The Searchlight" indeed needs excision and compression in a dozen places. Unquestionably, the exigencies of stock companies will not permit any such changes as these, as the actors of the Auditorium company are already rehearsing a new play; but if Mr. Barry intends to produce "The Searchlight" as he will, it seems to me, advantageous to give it a complete rewriting.

Some of the characters of the play are well and decisively drawn; notably Sandy McKnight, the reporter, played by Lewis Stone in his usual forceful and intelligent manner. Mr. Beaum, the political boss, well done by George Farren; Mr. Mason, the part that falls to Ashley, and which she makes so pretty American and typically charming; Mrs. Mason, a small bit well played by Miss Lewis, Evelyn Masters, and Miss Noyes, is not so conventional. "Br-r-r-r-it" should be fascinating when heard once or twice, but it wearies the ear every time when heard a hundred times in an evening.

The author was called for the author after the play last night, and at last he responded from the gallery with a few pleasant words of thanks.

There are four new numbers of extraordinary interest on the bill of the Orpheum this week, and with the five holdovers, which are as good as the best of the offerings, the programme shows a brief but piquant time-killers that will undoubtedly crowd the Orpheum during this jubilant week of music and general good feeling. Ward and Winchester, jugglers and comedians, come direct from the Palace Music Hall, London, giving a number that is full of laughs from beginning to end. They handle unnumbered rubber balls with quite amazing skill, and mention plates and poles and the gallery, neatly catching them as they are hurled back again. He certainly has a wonderful precision—and great faith in the audience, for the apples are hard ones. "The Silvers" Oakley, the famous Irish Bailey clown, doesn't say much, but he is a master of pantomime, and he "does things" with his hands that are extraordinarily funny. He goes through the game of America, in fact, all sorts of ways, in a manner to bring down the house. His make-up is delightfully funny, and his feet—but one forbears to describe those immense pedal appendages. Artie Nelson helps him in the number, doing some fine athletic stunts.

Yvette Mignon sings with spirit and expression, imitating, with considerable variation, a lot of stage favorites, George Cohan, Anna Held, Lottie Gilson, the "dramatic incidentals" of Quasimodo," the "dramatic incidentals" which Lyster Chambers and Robert Gitt give, is not lacking in individuality. It is indeed, a thriller, holding the audience spellbound as soon as the act really begun. In the quieter moments Miss Knott uses a high-pitched, almost shrill voice, as far removed as possible from nature, but when the climax is reached her voice is really superb. It is then that it would be finer than the man with which she beats upon the door, imploring her husband not to shoot her. Mr. Chambers's make-up, and his acting, is strong and consistent throughout the little play.

Cohan's "Popularity" and "Madam Butterfly" are given at the Belasco for one week only. All who are interested in the drama and art at its finest and best should see this remarkable double bill. It is not the most notable ever given by a stock company in our city, for Stewart gives an impersonation of Madam Butterfly that is as fine as it is exquisite.

A clever thief, presumably working alone, has made away with jewelry and clothing to the value of $1000 worth of jewelry and clothing from the Belasco Theatre Hospital. New York and Chicago detectives have been appointed to the police force, and two detectives spent several days in the institution without success. The police are inclined to believe that the thief is of the Raffles type, and that he is one of the physicians or nurses in the institution, has worked himself into the confidence of the hospital authorities, and thus avoided suspicion.

The plot hinges on the unbelievableness of a man who would sacrifice the honor of his wife to save himself from prison. Interesting the play is in many respects, the average. Clarence Mayo is to the character of the brutal gambler, the part of a captain who has come to be decent after all, being the best piece character work in the play. The uniquitous Lyster Chambers with his dry irresistible wit is a refreshing lowering faithfulness to the most attractive figure in the play, one that is remembered long after, Sara Perry, the leading woman, whom the play hinges on, is temperamentally delightful but rises to the tragic power of the situation at the last. The hero is a star reporter on a newspaper of a somewhat Bohemian order. Col. "The Twelfth Night" indeed needs excision in a dozen places. Unfortunately the exigencies of stock will not permit any such changes as the actors of the Auditorium are already rehearsing the play; but if Mr. Barry will produce "The Seacoast of Bohemia" again, it seems to me, he would do well to give it a complete overhauling.

The characters of the play are distinctively drawn; notably McKnight, the reporter, played by Mr. Stone in his usual strong and intelligent manner, the political boss, played by George Farren; Gleason, the part that falls to Lyster Chambers and which he makes a thriller, holding the audience as soon as the scene begins. WILL DIG UP TWO RECORDS.

Prisoners in Workhouse to Permit Search.

Police Expect Many Cities Will Want Men.

Long Beach Chief Identifies Them as Suspects.

Chief of Police Williams of Long Beach identified Harry Ford and Roy Burt at the City Jail yesterday, as members of a gang which he is sure committed a number of burglaries in the beach city recently. There are five members in this gang, says the Chief, and one of them was arrested last evening at Long Beach and is held incommunicado.

A special alarm has been sent out for the other two members of the gang who are still at large and Chief Williams himself made a flying trip to Los Angeles in an effort to round up the mysterious criminals and to identify the men in the City Jail, who are believed to be the real leaders of the band of professionals wanted by the police. Ford and Burt were released from the Long Beach jail because of the slimness of the evidence against them, as members of the gang. Plunder from three of the burglaries has been recovered in pawn shops.

Charged with carrying concealed weapons, Ford and Burt, who were arrested on East First street, Saturday afternoon, were yesterday sentenced to ninety days each in the workhouse.

The charge was filed by Detective Hosick in order to hold the men in prison until northern and eastern officers can be communicated with. It is believed the men are wanted in San Francisco and their records will be thoroughly searched before they are released.

Burt and Ford are regarded as dangerous men and Patrolman James Harrison, who captured them, has been complimented for his work.

Both men were lounging about the saloons and dives of East First street, near San Pedro. The saloon men of that quarter are alleged by the police to be acquainted with the characters of the young criminals, but they did not make any report to the authorities.

WALKING ARSENALS.

Patrolman Harrison was warned that the two men were in his district. He found them and placed them under arrest. When he reached the patrol box he called to a brother officer, who rang in for the patrol while Harrison searched his prisoners.

He found a loaded revolver upon each. Both carried long dirk knives and razors. Between them they carried more than 100 rounds of ammunition. Partly burned candles and a miscellaneous collection of watches, spectacles and rings found upon the prisoners lead the police to believe that Ford and Burt were implicated in recent robberies in Los Angeles.

The men were again carefully searched at the desk and then sent to the tanks in the City Jail. Late Saturday night, Detective Hosick, who had been ordered to handle the case, became restless about the men. He had a premonition that something was wrong, and he decided to make a third search. He took both prisoners to the Receiving Hospital and there compelled them to strip off their clothes. Around the calves of their legs, Hosick found a set of fine steel saws.

TELL-TALE SAWS.

The saws were strung on a small wire and bound tightly to the leg. After these dangerous articles had been removed the men were sent back to their cells and closely watched.

"They are bad men," said Detective Hosick yesterday. "They are of the type of criminal who is ready to do any work. Burglary, highway robbery or petty thievery would be easy for them.

"The saws they carried were of finely tempered steel. They were the best saws I have ever seen and it would take little or no time with these tools to cut through the stoutest of prison bars. I believe I know where these men are wanted and now, since they are in the workhouse, I will have ample time to telegraph the authorities of other Coast cities and secure their records.

"Up to the time of the finding of the steel saws they had insisted they were miners and had just arrived in Los Angeles. When I found the saws they shut up and refused to say anything further about themselves."

Saws on Their Legs.

Two heavily-armed crooks who were captured on the street and sent to the workhouse. They are supposed to be hardened criminals, wanted by the authorities in the north, and have been identified as Long Beach suspected burglars.

KENTUCKY'S GOVERNOR TO BE ASKED TO ACT.

Brother of William Goebel Will Request That Requisition Papers on Indiana Executive for Return of Men Accused of Conspiracy in Famous Case Be Issued.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the inauguration of Thomas R. Marshall as Governor of Indiana, request will be made by Arthur Goebel, brother of William Goebel, and Robert Franklin, Commonwealth Attorney of Franklin county, on Gov. Augustus Willson to issue requisition papers for the arrest and return of William S. Taylor and Charles Finley to Kentucky to stand trial for complicity in the assassination of Gov. William Goebel.

Due to the belief that Gov. Willson will be asked to issue requisition papers after the change in administration in Indiana, several petitions are now in circulation throughout the mountains asking the Kentucky Governor to secure the return of the fugitives and pardon them, as he did Powers and Howard, in order to wipe out the political feud of the State. Petitioners expect favorable action.

It is said Gov. Willson is willing to accede to the request for requisition if the prosecuting attorney will consent to bail pending a trial of the fugitives.

SHOOTS UP COURT.

Defeated Plaintiff in Will Contest Kills Clerk and Dangerously Wounds Judge.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LEIPSIC, Nov. 16.—A defeated litigant in the supreme civil tribunal of Leipsic today drew a revolver and opened fire on Herr Maenner, the presiding judge, and the court clerk. The clerk was shot dead and the judge was dangerously wounded. The assassin, a man named Grosser, succeeded in firing ten shots before he was overpowered. He was plaintiff in a suit concerning the validity of a will and the decision of the judge was in favor of the defense. As soon as Grosser heard the ruling, he drew a revolver and began firing.

UNDER SMOKE PALL.

Heroes leaped into prominence by the half dozen, only to fall back and be forgotten as other brave men risked their lives to help the smoke-dazed workers.

OIL IGNITED.

The fire was discovered by Arthur Roos of No. 634 Antonio street, shortly after 1 o'clock. Roos is employed as an office boy in the Los Angeles-Pacific Railroad offices. He noted the flames coming from the basement toward the rear of the building. A hasty investigation showed a seepage of oil from the upper floor. In some way this had become ignited, and the flames spread quickly to adjoining woodwork. The boy gave the alarm, and clerks dashed toward the near-by fire boxes. The first alarm over the wire drew the Hill-street company. The engines were there within three minutes. A second and then a third alarm went to the downtown companies. Apparatus came dashing from every direction. The racing horses literally plowed through the crowded streets as the pedestrians and afternoon shoppers scurried for shelter.

Chief Lips was one of the first men on hand. Five minutes later Chief of Police Kern, with Lieut. Murray and a squad of seventy-five patrolmen arrived and policed the district. While the engines were pumping tons of water into the seething heat, the streets filled with people. Thousands gathered on the West Fourth-street hill, gazing down into the great clouds of swirling smoke, that eddied and bulged with the fresh blasts from the furnace beneath.

REELING IN SMOKE.

In the street before the burning buildings excitement reigned. The air at times was so thick with smoke that the officers and firemen fairly reeled as they dashed about their duties. The high walls of the buildings acted as a flume, from which arose a great column of smoke and sparks. Smoke choked the doorways and the windows, and hung low over the pavement. Thousands of feet of throbbing, writhing hose stretched in a network over the street and pavements. The water tower belched forth its mighty stream, battering down glass and timber in an effort to flood out the flames raging beneath the floors of the burning building.

In the very mouth of that flaming hell a band of firemen stuck to their posts, while glass showered about them, smoke blinded them and caused them to cough and choke, and the heat of the blistered iron and steel work scorched their faces and singed their hair.

Leaping up from the basement woodwork, the blaze flared across the back entrances to the building, cutting off escape for a dozen or more clerks imprisoned on the floors above.

SAVING THE TRAPPED.

Ladders were quickly swung to the upper windows and the firemen carried the women to safety. Miss Ruth Hastings, No. 4414 Prospect avenue; Jardine Sewell, E. C. Wilkinson, S. H. Packard and Grace Gilliam of Hollywood were all rescued in this manner.

Many of the clerks risked their lives in an effort to save valuable papers. Though the smoke half blinded them, Miss Powell and Mrs. Gentrew of the office of E. F. Clark, president of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railroad, forced valuable documents into the vaults until their retreat was cut off and they had to be carried from the building.

Papers of every kind were thrown into the vaults or dumped into the streets, where they were quickly transferred to places of safety.

Despite this valiant work, a major portion of the general records of the railroad company were destroyed in the fire.

FIREMEN OVERCOME.

The firemen, working like beavers, gained temporary control of the flames. But they held their ground only a moment. A cry from the adjoining roofs warned the Chief that the fire had followed the air shaft in the rear of the building and was working skyward. A squad of men was sent up, taking three lines of hose with them. Working in relays they kept the nozzles turned into the airway, beating back the sheet of flame until the smoke blinded them. Capt. McDonald of No. 11 staggered through the smoke of the top floor in an effort to gain the open. His feet struck against a mass upon the floor and upon investigation he found Percy Williams and Harry Burr, hosemen, lying there unconscious from the smoke, with the line of hose pinned beneath their bodies in such a way that the heavy stream of water still played into the flames.

The men were carried to the street and revived. They returned to the battle. By some trick of fate, Capt. McDonald, crossing the floor to give some commands, was himself caught in the cloud and overpowered. He, in turn, was found by firemen and revived. He resumed command of his company.

HARD BATTLE UNDER STORE.

By 2:30 o'clock, the fire had found a new exit and was making its way toward the A. P. Johnson building and the Hotel Clarendon on the west, and the Broadway Department store on the east. The volunteer company of that store had been called to duty. Their lines were the first to send water into the flames, and under the leadership of E. W. Lewis and J. T. Newkirk they fought from start to finish.

When the flames swept eastward, Chief Lips ordered the managers of the department store to clear the floors. The customers were sent from the building without panic of any kind. The employés, about eight hundred in number at that time, settled down to the work of saving the stock and beating back the fire. With handkerchiefs bound about their nostrils the men held hose lines into the advancing flames, while the women assisted in removing stock. Thousands of dollars worth of stock was taken from the building to storehouses.

In the basement the volunteers were worked in reliefs. Sixty men held back the flames at the large door leading from the receiving basement and reserve stock room to the main basement. In this way they saved many thousands of dollars worth of stock from fire and prevented the destruction of the building.

In this hole of smoke, Earl Amos, a clerk, was overcome. He was carried to the street where W. P. Fishburn of No. 401 East First street revived him.

STIR IN HOTEL.

In the Hotel Clarendon on the west side of the burning building, the guests packed their clothes and hauled their trunks to convenient places near the stairway. The police went through the hotel, breaking in locked doors in search of possible victims. A man was found in bed in one of the rear rooms of the hotel. When the officers broke in, the sick man ordered them out, announcing that he was too sick to be bothered by the excitement outside the building. He was hauled unceremoniously from his bed by officers and carried to a place of safety.

Patrolman Munford then returned to the hotel. He attempted to shut off the heaters feeding from the big oil tanks in the basement and while doing so was set upon by two Japanese porters. The officer kicked one of the offenders downstairs and knocked the other down before he could accomplish his purpose.

WATER TOWER IN ACTION.

The water tower was brought into play an hour after the fire had been discovered. The apparatus had been erected as soon as it arrived on the scene, and then held in reserve. When the flames seethed through the basement and burst from the front of the building, the firemen were called out and the work of wrecking by the water route begun. The building was doomed and the fire chief saw that his only chance was to drown the fire.

With a roar the pent-up flood spurted from the nozzle of the tower. Sweeping glass, framework and timber before it, the water tore into the building. Glassware leaped and danced from the shelves in the teahouse. The odor of spices filled the air. The beautiful creations in the millinery window seemed stricken with convulsions. Soul-kiss hats looked like war bonnets. Gorgous plumes flaunted before the stream and then disappeared in the swirl of dirt and water. Wigs, switches and hair trimmings from the adjoining store floated on the tide like the scalps of wraiths of the fire.

The waxen ladies shed waxen tears down over their painted cheeks on the handsome collars of their $14.95 gowns, but no one went to help them.

The deluge process had its effect. The flames could no longer be seen, and the heavy cloud of smoke began to thin. Shortly before 5 o'clock the recall was sounded.

DAMAGE BY FLOOD.

In the Broadway Department Store the basement had been flooded, working untold damage to the thousands of dollars worth of stock there. The store will not be open today, giving the employés a chance to pump out the water and readjust the stock. Thousands of dollars in cash were carried from the building to a near-by bank for safe keeping.

Following the fire, officials of the Los Angeles-Pacific road removed $25,000 from the vaults of the company last night.

"The building cost more than $100,000. It was in excellent shape at the time of the fire, and is now a complete wreck. The ground floor collapsed following the fire, and all that is left now is the shell. We held insurance on about half the value.

"Up until a short time ago, the Knox Hotel occupied the upper floors, but the apartments had been vacated, and the company offices covered practically the entire space."

It will require several days to estimate the exact loss by fire, water and smoke, and a force of insurance men went to work on the job last night.

Arthur Letts, owner of the Broadway Department Store, took personal charge of the work of reconstruction following the fire. His first act upon arriving at the building was to present a check for $100 to the firemen's relief fund, as an appreciation of the great service rendered in saving the store from destruction.

A force of men will be put to work to clear the wreckage today, so that the building will be reared.

Every company of the down-town district was called into service yesterday, engines, three trucks, chemical engine, one tower and one Metropolitan, pumping four streams, representing the entire apparatus, according to the report of Chief. Ten thousand feet of hose were in use.

ASSAULTED, ROBBED, NOW MIND'S BLANK.

MYSTERIOUS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to news received from Chief of Police Foley of Mount Vernon, N. Y., C. S. Cooper, a wealthy resident of this place, was assaulted and robbed of $300 and is now being cared for by strangers near Mount Vernon. Cooper's mind is a blank, and he cannot remember where he lives. How, when and where the assault took place is as much of a mystery as where Cooper is being cared for.

Linwood Thomas of Dorchester, Mass., wrote Chief Foley of the mystery and asked him to clear the situation. Beyond the statement of Thomas, who says he is a friend of Cooper's, nothing is known of him.

Chief Foley intimates that the letter furnishes little information upon which to seek the Californian. The Chief recalls that three or four months ago a man, along in years, who was well dressed and cultured, and who said his name was Rose and that he lived in San Diego, called on him at headquarters one morning. He had never seen the man before and has not seen or heard of him since.

The stranger said that he was on a trip East and that he had made a practice of visiting police headquarters at places where he stopped. In a book he had the autographs of many police officials.

RIVERSIDE MAN PREFERS TOMB TO COUNTY JAIL.

Said to Be Wanted on Charge of Forgery, He Commits Suicide at San Diego—Councilman Sued for Libel Says He's Glad to Have Opportunity to Air His Charges.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Wellington E. Hurd, said to be wanted at Riverside on a charge of forgery, committed suicide here today by taking carbolic acid. He came to San Diego recently and leaves a family. It is said deceased apprehended that Riverside officers were here in search of him and that to escape the disgrace of arrest decided to kill himself. He was interested in Nevada mining ventures.

COUNCILMAN STANDS PAT.

Councilman Winter, against whom H. L. Emerson has filed a $20,000 libel suit for alleged defamation of character, stands pat on all he has said concerning the garbage contractor and the manner in which he secured an exclusive privilege from the Council. "I invite opportunity to give this matter a thorough airing," said he. "Whatever has been said by myself and others for the protection of the public will be proven and the terms used by myself will be found justifiable. The franchise for the exclusive garbage disposal is a very valuable one, but would have been of greater benefit to the city if carried out, even though with its faults and loopholes." Mr. Winter is president of one of the largest baking firms in the city. He says he expects the city to assist him with his defense to the suit.

When the garbage question was taken up at tonight's meeting of the Council an effort was made by Councilman Goldkamp to have the entire contract rescinded. Emerson a few days ago assigned it to a company of local citizens, several of whom are former city employés. Final action was not taken.

SAVES WOMAN AND CHILD.

When Mrs. James Shook discovered the rear end of the house she occupied was on fire last evening she rushed out of doors, grabbed her five-year-old child, rushed back into the house and covered up under blankets of the bed because of sheer fright. Al. Lamble, a fireman who lives next door, discovered the flames. He rushed into the house and dragged the woman and child from the burning building. The fire department soon arrived and prevented serious loss.

NO INQUEST SO FAR.

Although it has been five days since Lew N. Madison was shot and killed by G. R. Barnes, after a heated conversation in a saloon, no inquest has been held. Barnes is still a prisoner in the County Jail with no direct charge against him. Coroner Morgan, who relies on the District Attorney for evidence to be presented to determine whether or not the shooting was justifiable, says it will be several days perhaps before he is ready to take up the investigation.

MAIL FOR SAILORS.

When the collier Saturn steamed out of San Diego harbor yesterday with supplies for the ships of the Pacific fleet at Magdalena it carried more than 2000 pounds of mail, which had accumulated at the local postoffice since the sailing of the Solace ten days ago. Many of the sailor boys are beginning to receive their Christmas packages from home and the weight of the mail just sent down makes an estimated average of at least twelve letters or packages to the man.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

Wellington E. Hurd committed suicide at the residence of his son, E. R. Hurd, this afternoon. The father recently came here from Riverside, where he is said to have been interested in a mining company. Members of the family, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Evans of Riverside, arrived today to see Hurd in regard to some business transactions. He left the room, saying he wished to examine some accounts, and went to his bedchamber and drank carbolic acid. He was 60 years old.

Italians and Greeks Engage in Battle With Shovels as Weapons on Escondido Street.

ESCONDIDO, Nov. 16.—Eight Italians and the same number of Greeks, laborers employed on the installation of the city sewer system, engaged in a race fight day before yesterday. In the early part of the battle the Greeks, using shovels as weapons, were in the ascendancy but later on took to their heels when an Italian flourished a six-shooter. In the flight one of the Greeks was hit in the hand by a bullet. Later in the day two of the men, one Greek and one Italian, were arrested and brought before Recorder Tarvin. Each was fined $5 for disturbing peace. Now the Greeks say they won't work any more unless they are employed in another section of the city from the Italians.

WILL PLANT EUCALYPTI.

Los Angeles Company Leases Acreage in Warm Springs Valley—Elsinore Notes.

ELSINORE, Nov. 16.—A. E. Stiles of Santa Monica, who owns over 1000 acres in Warm Spring Valley, has leased ninety acres to a Los Angeles stock company, of which Guy Dunscomb is the president, under a contract to plant it out to eucalyptus trees. Mr. Dunscomb is here getting men started to work. Pipe lines are being layed to the tract from Mr. Stiles's tunnel, from which water supply the young trees will be irrigated.

Mr. Stiles has at present over twenty-five acres planted to trees about eighteen months old. At his tunnel are trees six years old, which, without care or irrigation, are now one and one-half feet in diameter. He considers the soil and other conditions in the Warm Spring Valley the very best for the growing of eucalyptus trees. The Los Angeles company has also leased a twenty-acre tract. It has 130,000 trees, enough to plant out 130 acres.

John Robinson, who offered to plead guilty to the charge of violating the city liquor ordinance if the court would agree not to fine him over $75, was fined that sum by Recorder Harrison Saturday.

Forty men are now being employed at Alberhill. A great deal of clay and considerable coal are being shipped.

The olive oil run has been completed for this season, and the picking of olives has been begun on the big Lakeland ranch.

VENTURA.

VENTURA, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Dora Valentine Hammons, relict of the late John W. Hammons of this city, passed away at her home here yesterday. Since the death of her husband several years since, Mrs. Hammons carried on his business here successfully, and became as well known to the mercantile community as she had always been to the social life of the county. Mrs. Hammons was prominent as a member of the Tuesday Club and also of the Ventura County Clubhouse Association. She was a native of Minnesota, where she was born at Rushford, in 1859. She leaves two children, a son and daughter. The funeral was held this afternoon.

The Collins Bank of this city, which failed a year ago, is paying its second dividend to depositors. It is of 20 per cent., and makes 40 per cent. paid out so far.

Col. Merrill of Long Beach, a veteran of the Civil War and a prominent G.A.R. member, delivered an address in this city this afternoon. A banquet was tendered him by the local G.A.R. men.

The teachers of this county will hold their institute in Los Angeles on the same date as the meeting there of the Southern California Educational Association.

SANTA ANA.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 16.—This city proposes to make its bastile unpopular with the traveling hobo. Sheriff Lacy has a choice collection of hammers used on the rockpile in years past, and these have been taken out ready for use. Street Superintendent Ward will have a large amount of rock, large and hard, hauled from th creek to the rockpile, and upon it the hoboes will be turned. At the present time there are fourteen tramps in the County Jail. Reports from railroad points all over the county are to the effect that tramps are getting bold and much too plentiful for comfort.

The First Congregational Church has given a call to Rev. Charles Seccombe, who has been preaching at Ontario. He will take charge here on January 1. For many years he was one of the strongest preachers in Iowa.

GARDEN GROVE.

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 16.—Officers have been conducting a quiet search for six gold rings, a razor and pocket-knife stolen some night last week from the home of Archie Moody, a mile and a half northeast of this place. The burglar entered a front window.

COST OF LICENSE.

Schemes Evolved in Alabama to Replace Revenues Lost by Voting for Prohibition.

[Cincinnati Inquirer;] The new license schedule of Birmingham to make up the loss of revenue from the liquor tax through State prohibition has been placed in book form by the City Council. A perusal of its pages discloses some interesting figures, and many businesses, professions and individuals are now taxed through being compelled to take out a license that never before were assessed. State prohibition has worked a tremendous loss of revenue, and this loss is taxed against the people.

The farmers, in the future, will have to pay more for their hardware, and agricultural implements and their seeds, for the reason that hardware stores must pay a license tax from $15 to $200 a year, according to the value of the stock they carry. All seed dealers must pay from $25 to $75 per year. Dealers in horses, cows and other live stock are assessed $50. Grain dealers are on the list from $50 to $100. Already prices of these commodities have been advanced on the farmers, and in other cases less paid for their farm products.

Taxed from the cradle to the grave may be illustrated by the fact that the doctor who assists one into the world is taxed from $15 to $40, and the milk peddler who brings baby's food must pay $20 to $35, while the undertaker who closes your tax-weary eyes and "plants" you, must give up $65. The price of your grave will cost more, as cemeteries must have a $100 license. The shaft that marks your last resting place you will pay more for, as tombstone dealers are taxed $35.

Dealers in the necessaries of life are not overlooked, as is witnessed by the following schedule of licenses: Meat dealers, $75 to $250; grocers, $12.50 to $200; sausage makers, $10; shoe dealers, $15 to $300; coffee dealers, $150; bakers, $25 to $75; coal dealers and peddlers, $10 to $100; furniture dealers, $15 to $200; fish and oyster shops, $25 to $100, and should they retail oyster stews, $15 additional; produce dealers, $50; crockery dealers and makers, $25 to $75; dry goods stores, $15 to $400; clothing stores, $15 to $300; laundries, $50 to $100; boarding houses, $25; coöperative home building companies, $300, and the places where you deposit what you may have saved, building associations, $100 to $500.

Some of the high-priced licenses are: $1600 for express companies; $2500 for gas companies; $4000 for brokerage houses; $3000 for street railway companies; $1250 for oil companies; $1750 for railroad companies maintaining offices in Birmingham; $10,000 for persons, firms or corporations furnishing steam heat; $900 to $2500 for telephone companies; $15,000 for water companies.

Miscellaneous license fees are: Adding machine agents, $15; advertising devices and companies, $10 to $200; abstract title companies, $75 to $150; automobile dealers, $100, and automobile licenses, $5 to $10; advertising with handbills, $10; real estate agents, $50; artificial limbs, $25; assignment of wages companies, $300; auctioneers, $25 to $75; audit companies, $50; bagmakers, $50; banks, $200 to $450; safe deposit vaults, $300; barbers, $3; bicycle dealers, $25 to $65; bill posters, $10 to $200; bird dealers, $25; blacksmiths, $5; book dealers, $25 to $50; bootblacks, $2.50; bottlers, $5 to $50; bowling alleys, $25; brewers, $200; brick makers, $35; broom makers, $10; buggy makers, $10 to $150; cabinet makers, $10 to $75; candy makers, $10 to $75; carpenter shops, $10; carpet dealers, $15 to $200; carts and drays, $10 to $25; manicures, $25; confectioneries, $10 to $50; drug stores, $25 to $200; electrical supplies, $15 to $150; electricians, $50; foremen, $25; florists, $25; foundries, $25; fruit stands, $65 to $125; fruit trees, $10; haberdashers, $35 to $150; hair dressers, $15; hotels, $65 to $275; ice factory, $300; infirmaries, $65 to $160; insurance, $10 to $150; insurance agents, $25 to $100; labor agents, $50 to $500; lawyers, doctors and dentists, $15 to $40; livery stable, $85; lunch stands, $35 to $75; machinery makers and dealers, $50 to $200; tailors, $35; newspapers, $50 to $250; piano tuners, $5; plumbers, $50 to $250; pressing club, $25; sign painters, $15; stove dealers, $10 to $75; tin shops, $25; tobacco dealers, $12.50 to $200; trading stamps, $500; umbrella mender, $5; vegetable dealers, $35; vinegar makers, $35; watch repairer, $12.50; yeast agent or dealer, $35.

Many of the license scales are based on the volume of sales daily of each business taxed, and the license ordinance requires that each day the gross amount of sales of each business must be reported to the license collector, under penalty of fine and imprisonment.

ECZEMA 30 YEARS;

SIMPLE OIL CURES

Wintergreen Compound Stopped Itch at Once—Disease Soon Disappeared.

After dosing the stomach for years and trying all kinds of alleged cures for eczema, Mr. M. T. Firmin, of Wichita, Kan., reports a perfect cure. He simply washed the skin with an oil of wintergreen compound, mixed with thymol, glycerine, etc.

Mr. M. T. Firmin, for the past 20 years in the employ of the C. S. Daniels Furniture Co., of Wichita, Kan., in the presence of Mr. Higginson of the Higginson Drug Co., made the following statement:

"Eczema first appeared on my body when I was a child 8 years of age. For over 30 years I scratched and scratched and doctored. About the only relief I got was from scratching. The itching was so intense it simply drove me wild.

"About one year ago, the disease covered my entire body from my scalp to my toes. My doctor and my friends all gave me up as incurable.

"Then I commenced using the D. D. D. Remedy for eczema. The first application stopped the horrible itching and gave me a night's sleep. It gave me strength and new hope. I continued growing better every day. My whole body being affected, I would sometimes use the contents of one whole bottle in a day.

"I kept up the treatment for months, the eczema gradually leaving my body and am now entirely cured excepting a little roughness of the skin on my left ankle."

The long experience of the best druggists with this tried and proven remedy have given us all great confidence in D. D. D. Prescription.

To Mothers

The best food for a child is important to you. Will you please read these facts.

The wisdom of the ages has decided that wheat is the perfect food. Not corn, not oats. In wheat alone are all the needed elements supplied in balanced form.

But the wheat should be whole.

White flour leaves out very important elements—all the wheat that's not white.

And flour, in the form of bread, is never sufficiently cooked. The inside of the loaf never gets half enough heat to break up the granules of starch, so the digestive juices can get to them. So, much of the starch—which is 70 per cent of the wheat—never digests. It's insoluble.

That is the reason for Mapl-Flake.

Our wheat is steam-cooked for six hours; then cured. Then every berry is flaked so thin that the full heat attacks every atom. Then they are toasted, for 30 minutes, at 400 degrees.

The result is a food that's all food. No part goes to waste. No part ferments and breeds germs in the stomach.

It requires 86 hours to prepare Mapl-Flake. Some flaked foods, for the purpose of cheapness, are prepared in one-fourth that time. But the difference appears in the nourishment.

Mapl-Flake is the perfect food—the best food a child can have. So we make the child want it, in the interest of all concerned. That's why we use maple syrup.

Your grocer knows that Mapl-Flake is, by far, the best food that he sells.

The only food served in individual packages in hotels, clubs, cafes, and on dining cars.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Prosperity Week was ushered in auspiciously on the local markets yesterday morning. Sales were good throughout accordion, both on the street and on the exchange. Arrivals of products were heavy and among them were several new varieties of the season. Alligator pears from Mexico made their first bow and sold lower than at the height of the season last year, at $2.50 per dozen. Tangerine beans from Mexico were also introduced and sold at 15 cents a pound. They are a sour bean which is used frequently for flavoring.

Egg sales were good and there was an effort on the part of the dealers who are still holding considerable storage stock to unload. On call 250 cases of storage eggs. April stock were unloaded. There were also sales of 12 cases of local eggs and the price on them was forced down to 47 on case counts. Arrivals were 93 cases.

Butter was light in demand and only 17,631 pounds were brought in. Offerings were held strictly to cooking butter.

Northern cheese advanced half a cent. Offerings were heavy on the northern as well as on several other varieties of cheese. Arrivals were 62,000 pounds.

Lompoc and Highland potatoes were the chief offerings in tubers. Arrivals were 1775 sacks and the market showed some strength on good stock.

Onions were offered in good quantities and a bid for five cars of Australian Browns, medium size, well covered and solid, was registered. The sale was afterward consummated on the street. Arrivals of onions were 23 sacks, and sales on 'change were 50 sacks of Lompoc.

Only two sacks of beans were reported in, but the market was active on the stock nevertheless. Twenty-five sacks of Lima beans were sold and pinks, small whites and Large Washingtons were offered in large quantities.

No sweet potatoes were reported in. The demand for sweets was fair and there was some falling off in prices outside the exchange.

Unusual activity was displayed in apples. Two cars, which could not be sold on account of the non-receipt of a manifest, on the exchange, were sold of board. They were offered as fancy bellebloure. Fifty more boxes of the same apples were sold. Other pitzenbergs were also well offered, particularly a late shipment of Colorado Spitzbergens. Fifty boxes were sold on 'change and the price on the Colorado apples was raised at $2.25.

The market on vegetables was unchanged as far as prices were concerned. There were several large arrivals of northern artichokes on good stock.

The fish market was glutted. All of the neighboring beaches sent in fish and they were in little demand. Several hundred pounds of fish which were left over from last week were thrown away owing to rapid decomposition. They were chiefly northern fish sent down under insufficient ice. No meat changes were reported.

Brokers Suspended for Failing to Meet Contracts for Taking Certain Stock.

As the result of a failure to make good on trades involving some 10,000 shares of California Hills, bought on buyer account last week, George W. Foreman and G. M. Briggs, members of the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange, were declared suspended yesterday before call.

On Saturday there was a cloudy atmosphere about the exchange, through the failure of Foreman to take up 15,000 shares, due for settlement prior to the call, and this affected the market so that the stock dropped to 15 bid. However, a meeting of the parties interested in the deal was called, and seemed to have resulted in a satisfactory arrangement, as the majority of trades were signed off, and the broker in trouble was given a five-day extension.

E. K. Foster and C. Wagy, who held a contract for 5000 shares, refused to sign, and this broke up the agreement, and brought the matter up for settlement before the governing board yesterday. As no satisfactory arrangement could be evolved prior to clearing time yesterday morning, the suspension of the members followed.

L. H. Campbell, a member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, is hit hardest, as he sold Foreman 10,000 Friday afternoon at 35 regular. A. M. Briggs is not in as deeply as Foreman, and there seems hope that he will be able to make settlements which will be satisfactory to the other members of the exchange, and the principals involved in the transactions.

MARKET UNSATISFACTORY.

Announcement of Suspension of Brokers on Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange.

The market on the Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange yesterday was not very satisfactory. This was due partly to the announcement of the suspension of two brokers because of failure to "make good" trades on buyer contracts on California Hills.

Trading was extremely light during the morning, and Combination Fraction was the only Goldfield leader handled. This sold to the extent of 400 shares, at 1.35@1.36. Two hundred shares were handled at 1.35 on the informal, and the stock closed at 1.34@1.35.

California Hills sold at 14 and at 11½, regular delivery, the latter sale being made to settle an uncompleted trade. The stock sold at 13@13½, to the extent of 2000 shares, on the informal, and closed at 12@15.

There was trading in Diamondfield at 15; Florence Extension at 17½; Adams at 3%; Lou Dillon at 2, and Parallel at 6. Jumbo Extension sold at 32 on the informal, and closed at that figure, without a bid. Consolidated closed at 6.70@6.77½; Florence at 4.17½ bid, and Daisy at 1.60@1.66.

GENERAL EASTERN.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSES WEAK.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS START PIT SELLING OFF.

Absence of Flour Trade Adds to General Weakness, and Though There Was No Evidence of Unloading by Leading Longs Trading Remained Apathetic During Session.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Following a slight advance at the opening, the wheat market was weak the remainder of the day, pit traders in general being disposed to sell. Offerings, however, were held in check to some extent by continued dry weather in many parts of the winter wheat belt and by a report which claimed a 20-per-cent. decrease in acreage seeded to wheat this year in Kansas, compared with the previous year.

There was no evidence of selling by the leading longs and trade during the greater part of the session was quiet. The chief reason for the selling pressure was the continued free movement of wheat to the northwestern and southwestern markets. Receipts at Winnipeg today were 1266 cars, against 661 the corresponding day last year, and those at Minneapolis and Duluth were also liberal. At Kansas City and St. Louis the arrivals were more than double those of last year. The total absence of flour trade added to the weakness of the market, and close was easy at almost the lowest figures, final quotations on December being at 1.03⅞ and on May, 1.07⅝.

Prices at the sample tables were half lower and eastern demand was very slack. The close was weak, at the lowest point, with December 56@58, lower, at 57⅝. May closed at 62⅝.

Oats displayed moderate weakness in sympathy with wheat and corn. Demand for cash oats was slack and prices at the sample tables were steady to ⅛ lower. At the close, December was ¼ lower, at 44⅝. May closed at 50⅝.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was steady; No. 2 spring wheat, 1.06@1.07; No. 3, 95@1.07; No. 2 red, 1.03@1.04⅝; No. 3 corn, 65@65½; No. 2 yellow, 67½; No. 2 white oats, 50@57; No. 3 white, 49½@51; No. 3 rye, 74; good feeding barley, 55@58; fair to choice malting, 60@64; No. 1 northwestern flaxseed, 1.42; prime timothy seed, 2.85; clover, contract grades, 9.35; short ribs, sides (loose,) 8.25@8.75; mess pork, per bbl., 14.80@14.62½; lard, per 100 lbs., 5.32½; short clear sides, (boxed,) 8.25@9.00.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Bankers and Brokers, Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The local market opened steady and unchanged, trading was light and mostly from local pit. Liverpool sent a bullish opinion on the market, claiming there was a better feeling among mills. For the moment we still believe we will have a traders' market, but prefer the long side on soft spots.

The market was moderately active today, but trading was restricted by doubt as to the action of the revision committee next Wednesday. The undertone was steady, and bears made little impression on prices by hammering. The movement shows signs of falling off, spot demand was good and the trade news continues encouraging. Shorts covered in the afternoon and offerings were limited.

Liverpool was about 2½ points better than on Saturday, which is a fair response to the closing prices here. The situation now is drifting into one wherein the relations of supply and demand will be the factor which determines the price equation, and demand will be in this instance, as it always has been in all markets, the most important factor. The size of the crop should be lost sight of.

Greene says: "Feeling here is growing more bullish. Some of the largest shorts were covered Saturday. There was heavy buying on January, and selling of July, by spot interests, and these operations may be widened out a great deal further, but on a long pull, July is the cheapest month on the board. There is undoubtedly a very long interest in the market, and we have orders to sell around 9 cents, which may keep market down. On any break I would buy a little cotton, as its the best side. However, we look for a scalping market for some time yet."

The New York Commercial says: "The important event this week will be the revision of grades, which will be made Wednesday, and which will stand till next September. There is a feeling that the high grades will be lowered some to make them more nearly correspond to the spot markets of the South, and there may be changes made in lower grades. There seems to be a general confidence in this year's revision committee, and there is no hint of any attempt to manipulate the market on any idea of what the committee will do. It is believed the world's consumption of cotton grown on this continent will take fully 12,500,000 bales, some think more. There is a conviction, too, among many, that the world will take care of a crop of 13,500,000 bales, that is, that ginners attracted by the remarkable quality and cleanness of the present crop, will, in all probability take a million bales more than they need."

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "The primary cotton goods market was reported more active than at any time in a year and a half.

Do You Ever Speculate? Are You Willing to Take a Chance?

Would you put up $25.00 on January 15, 1909, if you thought there was a possibility of making $10,000 or $15,000 in the next 12 months?

This, of course, sounds impossible, but much stranger things have happened many times within 100 miles of Los Angeles.

So Read This Advertisement Very Carefully

Any man or woman, 21 years of age and a citizen of the United States, has a right to locate and hold oil land under the Petroleum Placer Act. It is not necessary to go on the land; it can be located in your name by an agent.

Over in Nevada there is an oil belt, recently discovered, that will create a great excitement in the next six months. Land that can be had now for the cost of location may be selling for $500 per acre during the coming year.

The advertiser intends to locate several thousand acres of this land beginning January 1, 1909.

Eight people may form an association and locate five claims of one hundred and sixty acres each, making eight hundred acres for the eight people. It is much cheaper and much better to locate the land in tracts of one hundred and sixty acres than to locate individual claims. One person can only hold two or three claims of twenty acres each, and it costs as much to locate them and do the work as it would cost to locate the eight hundred acres for the eight people.

The cost to each person will be $25.00, payable on or about January 15, 1909, after the land is located, and the location certificate, showing it to be located is furnished to each person whose name is used. IF BY ANY CIRCUMSTANCE ANY PERSON SHOULD CHANGE THEIR MIND AND NOT CARE TO PAY THE $25.00 AFTER THE LOCATION NOTICE IS SENT TO THEM, THEY CAN ASSIGN ALL THEIR INTEREST TO THE ADVERTISER AND RECEIVE $5.00.

THE LOCATION OF OIL LAND DOES NOT INTERFERE IN ANY WAY WITH YOUR HOMESTEAD RIGHT OR ANY OTHER RIGHT.

Each person will be required to sign a simple contract agreeing to give one-third of all the profits coming from this land to the locators.

Experts who have been on the land claim it to be one of the strongest oil showings in the United States. A few miles away in the southeastern end of the belt oil has been found in paying quantities.

THE ADVERTISER, WITH A PARTY OF FRIENDS, WILL PUT $10,000 IN THE LOCATION OF THIS LAND.

Every one who goes into the deal will be treated alike. All the names will be located in associations of eight names. Each person will own an undivided one-eighth of eight hundred acres of land, and the rights of each will be fully protected. This is not a scheme to get money from working people or people who cannot afford to take a reasonable chance and wait a few months for results. If this land turns out as expected, it will solve the fuel problem in Nevada. This alone would make the land worth millions of dollars.

Advertiser will be at one of the leading hotels until Saturday afternoon. Can give highest references in Los Angeles, New York and Nevada. For further particulars, address Oil Man, box 167, Times Office.

The situation is healthy and we think warrants purchases on all good reactions."

H. S. & Co. say: "All signs seem to point toward higher prices."

C. B. Lee says: "It looks like the manufacturers will easily absorb all the cotton that is offered, and that the future market is a purchase on all little dips."

ADMIRED EVANS'S DISCIPLINE.

Roosevelt Could not Get a Napkin Once When He Dined on a Battleship.

As a flag officer, I have always required of the commissary officer of each ship a bill of fare, prepared a week in advance, stating just what would be served at each meal. This, forwarded through his commanding officer, came to me and after examination was passed to the paymaster of the fleet for filing. To be sure that this bill of fare was followed, and the food properly prepared and served, I frequently went on board some ship of the fleet without any previous notice and directed the captain to have a table set for me on the mess deck among the men, and there, in company with the members of my staff and the captain and commissary officer of the ship, took my dinner. The meal was served to us exactly as it was to the men and nothing was permitted on the table which they did not have, is the declaration of Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, whose navy articles in Hampton's Broadway Magazine are the sensation of the magazine world.

On one occasion I took the President to dine in this way with the crew of a battleship, and he had a most enjoyable dinner. The captain was shocked that the President had no napkin to wipe his mouth on, and proposed to send for one, but I assured him that I would not permit one on the table. This custom of mine, like some other of my performances, would have turned the captain of fifty years ago white headed. However that may be, it convinced the men, and also the commissary officer, that I intended to see that those under my command should be properly fed, and the first effect was to stop a vast amount of growling and discontent in the fleet.

ANCIENT LIFE IN MANITOBA.

Evidence of Human Existence Fifteen Hundred Years Ago Has Been Recently Discovered.

Prof. Henry Montgomery of Toronto University, who has been excavating the mounds of Manitoba says that those who lightly term Canada new country, will be interested to know that 1500 years ago there was a large population in this part of America. Prof. Montgomery has been studying the mound builders for years. His activities in Manitoba this summer have been well rewarded. He is returning with bags bulging with specimens of interest for the university museum.

He has been concentrating his attention upon Pilot mound and Sourisford, and districts rich in remains. From a large burial mound Prof. Montgomery secured copper and seashell ornaments which seem to demonstrate that mound dwellers of Manitoba had communication with those of the Gulf States.

Prof. Montgomery has what seems to be a painter's palette, made of a species of granite. It is a shallow bowl, shaped to fit the left hand. On its back is a carving of a human hand, which permitted a good grip to be taken of it. Prof. Montgomery found many skeletons at Pilot mound with the head bent to the knees. Tools, pottery, and weapons were also found.

Pilot mound itself affords a view of forty to fifty miles. Twenty-five miles to the south on other hills, which can be distinctly seen, are other remains. Prof. Montgomery thinks they chose their dwelling places in this instance with regard to the signalling distance.

AGGRESSIVE.

GIVES DARE TO INFIDELS.

To Hypocritical Members of Churches, Also.

Torrey Says 'All 'Are 'Afraid to Listen to Him.

Women Who Live Frivolously Break Divine Law.

The revival meeting audiences continue to tax to the utmost the capacity of the Torrey Tabernacle, and last night men and women were turned away. The interest seems to be on the increase.

The sermon on "The Judgment Day," last night, was a powerful arraignment of those who think that death ends all. Dr. Torrey said that Paul preached to scholars, thinkers and philosophers, but stated that he believed learning to be more universal in the present day than ever before in the history of the world.

"Some of the hardest and most intelligent thinkers," he continued, "are among the artisans. 'What do you think will be the outcome of the great combinations of capital in the trusts?' I have been asked. I answer, 'I don't know. What do you think will be the outcome of the combinations of labor in great unions to resist the encroachments of capital?' I have also been asked. I answer, 'I don't know.'

"I do know that Christ is coming back to the world and there will be a judgment day for all men; it is absolutely certain. Wicked men laugh at it, as they laughed at Noah when he predicted a flood that would sweep all the people from the earth.

"All the judgments predicted by God have come to pass to the very letter, and they will come true in spite of all the false prophets—the liberal preachers of the day. The absolute certainty of the rising of Christ from the dead points to the absolute certainty of the judgment day. Any man who flatters himself with the belief that there will be no judgment day and that he may go on in sin, is flattering himself with an absolutely baseless hope.

NO CLASS JUDGMENT.

"It is not to be a class judgment; it is to be for the rich and the poor; the educated and uneducated; of every professor of learning, and of every ignorant boor who can neither read nor write; of the king on his throne and of the most obscure nobody.

"If my preaching gets too pointed, you can get up and leave the building, but you can't escape Jesus Christ that way. Would to God every infidel was here; there won't any of them come; they don't dare. Would to God every hypocritical church member was here; but they won't come; they don't dare."

"You couldn't get half of them in here," called a voice from the audience.

Dr. Torrey—"That's true, but I wish they would come; I'd get up a series of meetings for them."

"You drunkards," resumed the evangelist, "who are spending your money, your time and your strength for that which gives no return, will have to answer for that.

"You women who are living for frivolity and fashion, and foolishness, will have to answer for that.

"You hypocritical church members who profess to believe in the Bible and yet live just like other people; you will have to answer for that.

"You men and women who think you ought to be saved on account of your high character—how would you like to have a screen here on the platform behind me, and have thrown on it all your imaginations during the past twenty-four hours?

"Tell me what a man does with Jesus Christ—God incarnate and I'll tell you what that man is. The most decisive and damning of all sins is the rejection of Jesus Christ. I would I could so picture that judgment day as to make it a vivid reality."

Among those who came forward for instruction, last night, were a young mother with a babe in arms; an old man, and two young girls.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

The talk of Dr. Torrey in the afternoon was on prayer, founded upon this text: "And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye ask anything in my name, I will do it."

The preacher called attention to the fact that many people misinterpret the meaning of this, because they overlook the most important statement made in connection with it: "He that believeth on Me."

"Some people have an idea that the promise applies to everybody. I think more mistakes are made by people who take a promise made to certain people and apply it to everybody than in any other way.

"There are a whole lot of people who believe in Jesus, but who do not believe on Him. To believe on Him is to receive Him; the promise is to these.

"There isn't a promise in the Bible that God will answer the prayer of an unbeliever. I don't mean by that, an infidel, but those who are not united to God by living faith. There are plenty of unbelievers who are not infidels. I believe God does sometimes answer the prayer of an unbeliever, but he doesn't promise to do so. I believe He answered my prayer before I was converted.

"I once read that to pray was to pray in the person of Jesus. I don't know what the writer meant. He was a smart man and I suppose he knew, but I didn't. I don't like these mysterious interpretations of the Bible, for the Bible is a very simple book.

"Oh, friends, praying in the name of Jesus Christ means more than merely tacking the name of Jesus Christ on the end of your prayer."

IN THE THEATER.

The meeting in the Los Angeles Theater yesterday noon was attended by an audience that filled the main floor. Only men were admitted. Dr. Torrey's theme was: "Why I Believe the Bible to be the Word of God." He will give two more reasons at the same place today. The meeting began at 12:05 and closed promptly at 12:50 o'clock.

This afternoon in the tabernacle the evangelist will deliver his final address on the subject of prayer, and tomorrow afternoon will speak on "The Holy Spirit."

PRINTER INJURED.

In a collision with a motorcycle at Fourth street and Towne avenue last night, Clark Parker, a printer, was thrown from his bicycle and sustained a laceration of the scalp and concussion of the brain. The name of the motorcyclist is not known. Parker was taken to the Receiving Hospital and later to his home at No. 149 West Fortieth street.

STATE'S HANDS OFF.

consolidate the same as those incorporated under the general law.

"Whether consolidation will follow the passage of this law is a question that the citizens of Los Angeles, San Pedro and Wilmington must decide for themselves in their own way. We ask only that the present ban shall be removed.

"If the Legislature should pass such a law will you agree to support the State bonds for San Diego and San Francisco?" queried Chairman Wright.

"Speaking for the Harbor Commission I can assure you that we will," replied Fleming.

EXPLAINED.

"Then how do you explain the vote of Los Angeles county against the San Francisco Sea Wall Act and the India Basin Act?"

"I can explain that," responded President Stewart of the Harbor Commission. "I was in San Francisco a few weeks before the State election on business concerning the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast. Then the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco asked me to take up with the Chamber of Commerce here the fight against these acts. They are not what the Chamber of Commerce there desires. I found that other commercial associations there were also opposed to the acts.

"Our Chamber of Commerce took no official action but literature was received here from the San Francisco commercial bodies opposing the acts. Naturally the people here concluded that as San Francisco is divided in itself on these proposals, it would be best to vote them down and wait for something on which the people about the bay are themselves agreed.

"I can assure you that if the people of San Francisco decide that they desire State credit to the extent of $10,000,000 Los Angeles county will vote practically as a unit in favor of it. The same is true affecting an extension of State credit to San Diego."

FOR CONSOLIDATION.

Frank D. McClure, City Attorney of Wilmington, said that the sentiment in that town is practically unanimous for consolidation with Los Angeles when the city charter here is amended so as to permit the city to build docks and to improve harbors. Until that time Wilmington is moving along in a course highly satisfactory to the citizens there. It is opposed to State control.

This brought assurances from Messrs. Storer and Seward of San Pedro, representing the Chamber of Commerce there, that the people of San Pedro are practically unanimous in favor of consolidation with Los Angeles.

A. D. Seward said that he believes the present petition for a division of San Pedro will carry. "Our people are determined that the union of the two cities shall take place; they seem to be willing to commit municipal suicide as far as San Pedro city is concerned in order that all may become a part of the greater city.

In concluding the discussion the members of the Legislative Committee appeared ready to recommend against State control for San Pedro harbor, and to favor the proposed amendment permitting cities holding freeholders' charters to consolidate the same as those operating under the general State law.

Among those also present was Senator Savage of San Pedro. He started a tirade against the commercial bodies who displayed the temerity to oppose a State Harbor Board when he, Savage, favors it. Savage soon became so abusive that he was warned by the committee to drop all personal references.

Savage said that the people of San Pedro are in favor of State control. This misstatement was promptly challenged by Assemblyman Leeds and by the representatives of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce. These assured the committee that the voice of Savage is the only one they have heard raised in favor of State control.

In his tirade Savage divulged a bit of interesting secret history concerning the Pardee regime. "When your committee from the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles presented to Gov. Pardee your draft of a consolidation bill to be presented at the special session of the Legislature held after the San Francisco fire," fumed Savage, "the Governor sent for me and asked how about it. Well, you know what happened, the Governor didn't include that consolidation bill in the call and there wasn't any consolidation legislation at the special session."

Gasps of surprise echoed through the conference room. There were half a dozen Pardee shouters present. Their humiliation on hearing that Pardee turned down the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, rather than offend Savage, was laughable.

George N. MacRae, commissioner of the Ship Owners' Association of San Francisco, and H. L. Stoddard, secretary of the same body, came from San Francisco to attend the meeting. When the question was raised about the opposition of Los Angeles county to the India Basin improvement bonds Comonissioner MacRae said that San Francisco owes a great deal to the intelligent action of the voters of Southern California on this act. He said that to vote the bonds would have been a detriment and not a service to San Francisco harbor.

Senator Wolfe of San Francisco is the only member of the commission who failed to attend yesterday's hearing. Those present were Senator L. E. Wright of San Diego, chairman, Senator T. J. Kennedy of San Francisco, Assemblyman Walter Leeds of Los Angeles, Assemblyman Louis Strohl of San Francisco and Assemblyman Percy Johnson of San Diego county.
